This Is The Century That Was

By FRED RUSSELL

*Sports Director, The Nashville (Tenn.) Banner
Past President [1965], Football Writers' Association of America*

This is a special year for the two games most enjoyed by and most popular with Americans—football and baseball—for it is, by coincidence, the centennial of each.

AS AN INTERCOLLEGIATE SPORT, football originated at a place called College Field in New Brunswick, N.J., home of Rutgers University. Rutgers today is the home of the National Football Foundation and Hall of Fame. Honored there are the great players, coaches and teams.

The Foundation is formed of men dedicated to preserving the ideals and standards of football and emphasizing its value as an inspirational force in guiding American youth toward useful leadership and citizenship.

General Douglas MacArthur received the Gold Medal of the Foundation in 1959 for his contribution to football. He said then, "The game has become a symbol of our country's best qualities—courage, stamina, coordinate efficiency. In all my own long public service, both in war and peace, it is in the football men that I have found my greatest reliance."

ADMIRAL JONAS INGRAM, Naval Academy player of more than 60 years ago, once wrote: "I know of no athletic competition that develops more useful traits of character. For example, the subordination of the individual to team play; development of initiative, leadership and the value of persistence and physical fitness; the self-determination that inspires the will to win against any odds."

It has been a game of presidents. Dwight Eisenhower was starting fullback at Army just before World War I. Herbert Hoover, while at Stanford, helped to organize the first game in the Far West, in 1892. Woodrow Wilson coached football. Theodore Roosevelt was vitally interested in the game and played a role in changing its dangerous drift. John Kennedy was a junior varsity player at Harvard. Richard Nixon was a substitute end at Whittier.

IN THE BEGINNING, the new sport gave students with an athletic bent a Renowned Nashville Banner Sports Director Fred Russell has written three books of sports humor.

As the father of four daughters, he dedicated one: "To my little girls, who made this book practically impossible."

Another of his tomes, a semi-autobiographical work entitled "Bury Me In An Old Press Box," became a bestseller. Russell received a law degree from Vanderbilt University in 1927 and was a practicing attorney before deciding to do what he always wanted—write sports.

Highlights of his 40-year career include the popular "Pigskin Previews" he wrote for The Saturday Evening Post from 1949 through 1962.

chance to exercise that leaning. It afforded those either unsuited for or disinclined toward athletics participation a new spectator diversion.

THE DATE WAS NOVEMBER 6, 1869, when Rutgers and Princeton met on that grassy plot in New Brunswick.

"The Targum," Rutgers newspaper, reported that it was a game of "head-long running, wild shouting and frantic kicking." Artist W. M. Boyd talked to players still alive more than 60 years later and was able to depict the scene with considerable accuracy.

What the "grim-looking players" played was soccer with variations agreed upon before the contest began. It was called "foot-ball," true. But its resemblance to the rough-and-tumble game which evolved was slight.

NO ADMISSION WAS CHARGED. This would be an utter impossibility and impracticality in the present era of big-time football with its high costs, complexities of offense and defense, intense recruiting, consciousness of national ranking, alumni and student involvement and other influences.

While this was a game of much historic significance—Rutgers won, six goals to four—it was not to be confused with the modern game.

Football was mentioned in literature and the writings of historians of ages past. Parke H. David, noted authority in the early 1900s, wrote in the National Collegiate Athletic Association Football Guide of 1927 that it was played "by the boys of Sparta 2,500 years ago."

The Romans are said to have taken a fancy to the football of ancient Greece and to have introduced the game to England, where even royal ban didn't stop the English from playing it in the Middle Ages.

IN TIME, FOOTBALL CAUGHT ON in English schools and in the United States, long before 1869, crude kicking games were popular as a campus sport.

There is no doubt that American football sprang from Rugby (in which the ball may be passed, carried and kicked) and soccer (in which only kicking is permitted). Both were developed in England. But the present-day ingredients of tackling and blocking, the two most distinctive and vital fundamentals of football as we know it, are American refinements.

In 1873, President Andrew White of Cornell refused to allow his school's football team to play against Michigan at Buffalo, saying, "I will not permit 30 men to travel 400 miles merely to agitate a bag of wind."

President White always will be remembered for that statement. He could not foresee that football would appeal to men of intellect and culture, men eager for action and contact. He could not know that men of letters would be inspired by and devoted to the game and that some would author remarkably researched tomes on the subject.

DEAN HILL, A FORMER PLAYER, in the foreword to his "Football Thru The Years" (1940) wrote with ardor: "To some people football is just a game—a thrilling game, a stirring spectacle, inspiring, even heroic—yet, just a game. To me, football is much more than just a game. To me, to all Americans who really know and appreciate the game, football is a vital force affecting the lives of hundreds of thousands of young men of America."

THE FIRST INTERCOLLEGIATE FOOTBALL GAME—Before 300 confused spectators at New Brunswick, N. J., Rutgers outshoved and outkicked Princeton, 6 to 4, on Nov. 6, 1869. (Painting by Arnold Friberg for the Chevrolet Sports Art Collection.)

"Where better can character be developed; where better can lessons of integrity, loyalty and fair play be learned than on the practice and playing fields of football?"

Where indeed?

THE FIRST AMERICAN COLLEGE TEAM to play a football game in which running with the ball was permitted was Harvard against McGill University of Montreal, Canada, in 1874. It was the first Rugby match in this country.

Yale and Harvard began their almost century-old rivalry in 1875 and the next year saw the first Intercollegiate Football Association, forerunner of the NCAA, organized. The convention adopted the running game of Rugby.

On the Yale team of 1876 was a 17-year old freshman named Walter Camp. Known as "The Father of American Football," it was he who, as a member of the Rules Committee for almost 50 years, was mainly instrumental in shaping the game of today.

At the beginning of this season, Yale had won 627 games, more than any other college, thanks to a head start, a winning tradition and continuous play (except for 1918). The Bulldogs won their first game against Columbia on November 16, 1872.

FROM THOMAS SHERMAN, first man ever to score for Yale, on through Camp, Wyllis Terry, Pudge Heffelfinger, Amos Alonzo Stagg, Larry Kelley and all the way to this year's 97th squad, 30 undefeated seasons were achieved. Sixteen were perfect, two less than Princeton which holds the record.

Between 1887-89 and between 1890-93, Yale put together 37-game winning streaks. Only twice have they been surpassed—by Coach Bud Wilkinson's Oklahoma teams between 1953-57 (they set the record of 47) and Gil Dobie's at Washington, 1908-14, which won 39 straight games.

Among other accomplishments, Camp led the fight which established the line of scrimmage, 11 players to a team and the system of downs and yards to gain. He originated the first point system and was credited with introducing signals and various scientific advancements. More than anyone, perhaps, he revolutionized football and shaped it into modern form.

STAGG, WHO DIED IN 1965 IN HIS 103rd YEAR, and Camp bridged the game's era of dangerous massed formations and carried the ball into the 20th Century with its spread plays, deceptive attacks and the forward pass.

Just before the dawn of the new century, one of football's most amazing feats took place. It has no parallel in the annals of the game. Superhumanly,

"MODERN" PERFECT-RECORD LIST LED BY ALABAMA

Alabama and Notre Dame have made the greatest strides in the last half century toward catching up with the undefeated-untied records held by Princeton and Yale as result of their "head start" over most of the collegiate field.

Of Princeton's 18 perfect-record teams, 12 were achieved before 1919, as were 14 of Yale's 16 all-winning teams.

During the last 50 years of truly nation-wide collegiate play, however, Alabama tops the list with nine unbeaten-untied teams, followed by Notre Dame with seven. Altogether, 59 "major" colleges have enjoyed one or more perfect seasons in the modern era—these ten, four or more each:

Alabama	9	Oklahoma . . .	6	California . . .	5	Cornell	4	Minnesota . .	4
Notre Dame .	7	Princeton . . .	6	Tennessee . .	5	Michigan . . .	4	Ohio State . .	4

KNUTE ROCKNE AND THE ERA OF INSPIRATION—In the 1920s, Knute Rockne of Notre Dame epitomized the emerging technique of motivating players as teams to achievements beyond their individual abilities. (Painting by Arnold Friberg.)

between November 9 and 14, 1899, the University of the South at Sewanee, Tenn., whipped five major teams—Texas, Texas A&M, Tulane, LSU and Mississippi—in six days on a 2,500-mile trip by day-coach.

Even the inventive Stagg never undertook anything like it. But the man who coached for 70 years, 57 in full charge, did unwittingly pioneer bowl games when, in 1894, he took his University of Chicago team west.

On Christmas Day in San Francisco, Chicago defeated Stanford, 24-4; losing to Stanford three days later in Los Angeles, 12-0. Then the team returned to San Francisco where the Reliance Athletic Club won, 6-0. That was Jan. 1, 1895—first New Year's Day East-West intersectional game.

SEVEN YEARS LATER, ON JANUARY 1, 1902, Michigan swamped Stanford, 49-0, in the first Tournament of Roses game in Pasadena. That was "Hurry Up" Yost's first year as coach at Michigan.

The Wolverines, featuring one of football's immortals, Willie Heston, who scored 93 touchdowns in his four-year career, had compiled an astonishing record of 55 wins and one tie going into the last game of the 1905 season against Chicago. They had amassed 2,821 points to 40. Chicago won, 2-0. It might have been the most satisfying of Stagg's 314 victories.

Some credit Stagg with originating the shift. He did not invent the T formation, football's basic offensive set, which the "Grand Old Man" said was in vogue in 1889, his final year at Yale. But as Allison Danzig writes in his monumental "The History of American Football" (1956), "To attempt to list all Stagg's inventions and originations staggers the imagination."

LARGELY AN EASTERN GAME in the last 25 years of the 19th century, football had spread throughout the United States by 1900. It drew big crowds.

By late 1905, it was clear that reforms to open up the game were necessary. Eighteen deaths that season brought a torrent of public criticism.

President Theodore Roosevelt took notice of the charges of brutality. On October 9, 1905, Roosevelt called delegates from Harvard, Yale and Princeton to the White House. He informed them he had no wish to see football abolished but that they must adopt measures to make it safer.

As a result extensive changes were adopted. The forward pass was legalized, although not until 1913 when Notre Dame stunned Army, 35-13, did it find much favor. "But," wrote Danzig, "football was now on its way from a prosaic test of brawn, of pushing, pulling and trampling, to a test of skill and intelligence, as well as of physical powers, in carrying out coordinated maneuvers cleverly designed and painstakingly perfected."

There were other changes, but the rule-makers did not go far enough. Restrictions on passing discouraged its use. Most teams employed it sparingly. Coaches continued to use mass plays predominantly.

Thirty-three deaths caused by football and many serious injuries in 1909 motivated the rules committee to make sweeping changes so the game would be less hazardous to life and limb. New rules encouraged passing and struck blows at crushing massed formations.

FINALLY, IN 1912, additional restrictions on passing were removed, a fourth down was added to move the ball 10 yards and the length of the field was shortened from 110 to 100 yards.

It remained for Notre Dame to stimulate greater use of the pass when the Fighting Irish upset Army at West Point with quarterback Charles "Gus" Dorais completing 13 of 17 passes for 243 yards. His principal batterymate was end and captain Knute Rockne.

Notre Dame was a respected name in football from that day on. And the pass became a major weapon of attack.

Then came the formations—the single and double wingback popularized by Pop Warner, the Notre Dame shift identified with Rockne and ultimately, in 1940, the T was re-introduced by Clark Shaughnessy at Stanford in be-dazzling, wide-open intricacy.

IF FOOTBALL IS TO BE DIVIDED INTO ERAS, this was the start of the modern age. Greater deception, quick openers, multiple options on the same play and emphasis on speed and more speed created more defense problems.

In this period, liberal substitution came, went and returned. Specialists were developed as well as offensive and defensive elevens of different personnel—"platoonery" is what historian Lacy Lockert aptly calls it.

Many of the legendary figures of long ago would be standouts now, although the game has changed and improved rapidly. Even in this abridged account of the first 100 years, Pudge Heffelfinger, Jim Thorpe, Truxton Hare, Eddie Mahan, Hector Cowan, Wilbur (Fats) Henry, Walter Eckersall, Germany Schulz and Heston must be mentioned.

THE "ARRIVAL" OF THE FORWARD PASS—In the 1930's, the game was profoundly changed by popularization of the forward pass, as typified by artist Arnold Friberg's conception of Alabama's Don Hutson reaching for a throw from Dixie Howell.

HEFFELFINGER AND COWAN WERE PICKED on the first All-America team chosen in 1889. Camp selected THE All-America eleven for many years until his death in 1925. It has never been positively established that he picked the first one. Some historians believe the whole idea was Caspar Whitney's and that he probably turned to Camp for advice in naming the earliest teams for a small magazine, The Week's Sport, in 1889-90.

In any event, Camp picked the most widely accepted team, for Collier's, from 1898 to 1925. After his death, sports writer Grantland Rice chose Collier's teams until 1948. Starting in the late 1940's, many additional All-America selections began to appear. Research discloses that 1,587 players were named on various teams in the first century.

Last year's average All-American player was 6 feet, 2½ inches tall and weighed 217 pounds. Fifty years ago, he was 5-11 and 183 pounds. In 1889, he stood 5-9½ and weighed 167.

THE MOST COLORFUL PERIOD IN FOOTBALL was the 1920s and the most colorful coach was Rockne, whose Notre Dame teams had a tremendous following in that decade. Charley Bachman, former Notre Dame player who later coached, is out with a new book this year and no one has put it more graphically than he in this passage:

"Knute Rockne took over at Notre Dame when the country was honoring its World War I heroes and colleges and universities were erecting football stadiums as war memorials. Football was ready to step in as America's national sport. Radio now joined the news media. Football needed a leader who could speak for it and defend it. Knute Rockne became that man.

"HIS WINNING TEAMS and their spectacular play drew attention to him and to Notre Dame. His ability to express his ideas in a humorous and forceful manner merely added to his dynamic personality, to make him the leader of

ATTENDANCE CLIMBING AT MILLION-A-YEAR RATE

Like every other aspect of the game, spectator enthusiasm has come a long way in college football's first 100 years—from the handful of students who watched the Princeton-Rutgers encounter of November 6, 1869, to the record 27,025,846 who attended the century-ending games of 612 college teams last season.

The period of greatest attendance acceleration, however, was the century's last half dozen years. In the 13 years from 1949 to 1962, stadium crowds rose by about a million and a half (from 19½ million to just over 21 million). But the six years from 1962 to 1968 saw attendance soar by 5,798,684 (from 21,227,162 to 27,025,846)—almost a million-a-year rate of increase.

Season-by-season crowd figures for the last 20 years, as compiled annually by the National Collegiate Sports Services:

Year Attendance	Year Attendance	Year Attendance	Year Attendance
1949—19,651,985	1954—17,048,603	1959—19,615,344	1964—23,354,477

O. J. RUNS FOR DAYLIGHT IN THE MODERN ERA—Now it's the day of the super athlete, as exemplified by Southern California's swift, strong O. J. Simpson in artist Arnold Friberg's painting for the Chevrolet Sports Art Collection.

college football and the idol of the youth of America. His death (on March 31, 1931) was a national loss, as President Hoover so aptly expressed it: "His death left a void in the football world. It has never been filled."

He appealed to the emotions of his players as no other coach ever has.

Grantland Rice saw Rockne's undefeated team defeat Army on October 18, 1924, at the Polo Grounds in New York and started his story:

"OUTLINED AGAINST A BLUE-GRAY OCTOBER SKY, the Four Horsemen rode again. In dramatic lore they are known as Famine, Pestilence, Destruction and Death. These are only aliases. Their real names are Stuldreher, Miller, Crowley and Layden."

It was the most famous lead to a football story ever composed. The Four Horsemen, Harry Stuldreher, Don Miller, Jim Crowley and Elmer Layden, became the most publicized, most celebrated backfield in history.

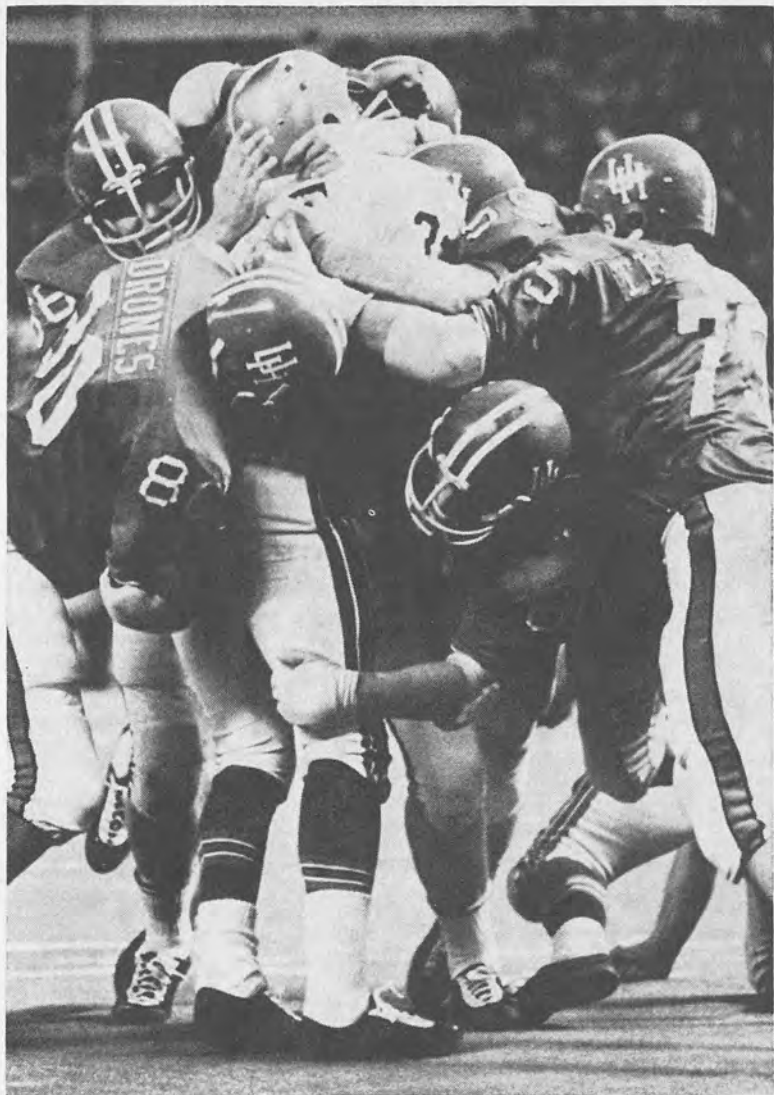

On that same date in Champaign, Ill., Red Grange of Illinois ran back Michigan's kickoff 95 yards for a touchdown. Then, in rapid-fire order, he raced 67, 56 and 44 yards to score. All of this happened in the first 12 minutes. It was an electrifying feat.

It was like some of O. J. Simpson's stirring deeds when he played for Southern California in 1967 and 1968.

Now it's 1969, a whole century after the incident at New Brunswick.

FOR THE THOUSANDS OF YOUNG MEN whamming and slamming for the sheer joy of proving themselves to themselves, maybe it's like University of Alabama Coach Paul (Bear) Bryant says:

"It all comes down to those Saturdays. The band's playing and the cold chills are running up his back, and he's a big man playing for a lot of people. If he loves the game and if he gives it everything he has in him, right then he's one of the luckiest young men anywhere in the world."

THUS THE 2nd CENTURY BEGINS

All But Defensive Coaches To Enjoy Centennial "Year Of The Touchdown"

By DAVE CAMPBELL

*Sports Editor, The Waco (Tex.) News-Tribune
President, Football Writers' Association of America*

With 48 seconds remaining in the fourth quarter of a game played last September at Abilene, Tex., Abilene Christian completed a touchdown pass and defeated Howard Payne by the utterly implausible score of 50 to 49.

"We lost it at the free throw line," muttered a disappointed Howard Payne man as he walked away.

Basketball? Nope, what it was was college football, 1968 variety, and the score was a sign of the times.

In the first intercollegiate football game ever played, on Nov. 6, 1869, Rutgers defeated Princeton, 6 to 4. As the sport completed its first 100 years last autumn, games which produced no more than 10 points were as scarce as whooping cranes.

INDIANA OPENED ITS SEASON by trimming Baylor, 40-36, and closed it by losing to Purdue, 38-35. Wake Forest decisioned North Carolina, 48-31; Air Force beat Colorado, 58-35; and Virginia defeated Tulane, 63-47. Rice tied Washington, 35-35. And Cincinnati added dimension to the situation by scoring 48 points and still losing by 12 to Ohio University.

It was a year in which points were cheaper by the dozen and at no school were they cheaper than at Houston, which warmed up with outbursts of 54, 71 and 77 points and then one unforgettable November night at the Astrodome put an even 100 points on the scoreboard against Tulsa, thereby proving the Cougars have a special fondness for nice, round figures.

Going into the fourth quarter of an important game against Southern Methodist, Arkansas was feeling no pain. It had a romp on its hands, 35-0. Then the Mustangs scored 29 points in 15 minutes, narrowly missed two other TDs and left Razorback coach Frank Broyles in a state of shock.

HIS ONLY CONSOLATION was that he had company. The 40,000 Arkansas fans who were there, plus the thousands watching on regional TV, were in a state of something or other, too.

Broyles blamed himself

Dave Campbell, sports editor of the Waco News-Tribune the past 15 years, could be nicknamed "Mr. Football" in his native Texas. In addition to his newspaper duties, Campbell is publisher-president-editor of Southwest Sports Publications, Inc., which produces Texas Football magazine and Arkansas Football magazine.

The 44-year old head of the Football Writers' Association of America was born in Waco and earned his college degree at that city's Baylor University.

He is married and is the father of two daughters, Rebekah, 12, and Julie, six; Campbell is ex-president of the Texas Sports Writers' Association.

for the near-loss. "We shouldn't have tried for the first down there at mid-field on fourth down," he said. "A 35-point lead just isn't safe anymore."

Such leads may be equally precarious this season. Going into college football's Centennial Year of 1969, the offenses are still ahead of the defenses and the moans of the defensive coaches are heard in the land.

THEIR ANGUISH may be eased only a mite this year.

You see, two-platoon football, with all its high-octane specialists and instant touchdowns, apparently is here to stay awhile.

The Football Rules Committee all but guaranteed as much last January when it met, discussed, deliberated and voted—and left the free substitution rule untouched by human hands. Indeed, it did more than that. It adopted a proposal which henceforth will require a two-thirds majority vote to change a rule or bring in a new one. Rule changes in the past have been decided by a simple majority.

WHAT IT MEANS is that the one-platoon advocates now must win 10 votes on the 15-man committee—a mountain that may not be conquered soon.

Having decided to leave the free substitution rule alone, the Rules Committee then went all the way. It decided the college game as played in 1968, the thrill-a-minute game that played before 27 million spectators for the first time in all those 100 years, really needed no changes.

Consequently, the nine changes voted were all so minor the average fan will not notice them. They included field markings, length of cleats and clarification of what constitutes roughing the kicker. The changes made were the fewest in the memory of anyone on the committee.

WHILE THE RULES COMMITTEE had no balm for the well-plundered defenses, the coaches themselves will be lending helping hands. As a result, point totals could decline just a bit despite the continued use of specialists and the presence of a bumper crop of star-spangled quarterbacks.

"Defenses will start closing the gap just a little this year," Arkansas' Broyles predicts. Why? "Because the coaches saw all those touchdowns last year and they'll use some of their better athletes as defensive backs."

Even so, Broyles, a member of the Rules Committee, believes the college fan will see the most exciting football and the most varied offenses and, in final analysis, the BEST football he's ever seen.

Some of the best will be played right there at Arkansas. However, this is one case where Arkansas' best might not be good enough, for lurking across the border is Darrell Royal's Texas team, the one that handed Arkansas its only defeat last season. There is one thing these two arch rivals, 1968 Southwest Conference co-champions and impressive bowl winners, have in common: they are both coming back with gifted, proven quarterbacks and veteran squads that are loaded, loaded, loaded.

ON THE OTHER HAND, such a happy state sounds just like defending national champion Ohio State, only more so. Then there is Penn State, unbeaten now in 19 games, the longest streak of its kind in the nation. The Nittany Lions were second in the final Associated Press poll, taken after the bowl results, and they return so many veterans and welcome so many precocious sophomores they have designs on national supremacy themselves.

Elsewhere, Oklahoma and Missouri need little to take on a gee-whiz look. Ole Miss appears about ready to remind people of those old Johnny Vaught powerhouses. Paul Dietzel has South Carolina's Gamecocks about where he has wanted them all along. Michigan State and Indiana are growling menacingly, Stanford is taking aim with the best gun in the West (quarterback Jim Plunkett), Southern California is making title noises even without Mr. Simpson, and Notre Dame is . . . well, Notre Dame is Notre Dame.

BUT IF 1969 BEARS ANY RESEMBLANCE TO 1968, the best of them all will be the Buckeyes. One would almost think Woody Hayes had been planning ahead, wanting to start football's second century with his best team yet.

Last year's Buckeyes, sophomores and all, weren't bad, disposing of a NEUTRAL HUDDLE—Officials look like they're planning a play, but actually are gathered around co-worker Lowell Wrigley who is receiving first aid for a twisted knee. Indiana players are linebacker Mike Adams (45) and tight end Al Gage (81).

Purdue threat early, wiping out challenging Michigan in late season and then coming from behind to deal USC a 27-16 pounding in the Rose Bowl. The Buckeyes were voted No. 1 team in the nation and Hayes was named the Football Writers' Association of America Coach-of-the-Year.

AFTER A SLOW START, Texas was the team coming fastest at the finish. The Longhorns never scored less than 35 points in their last seven games, nor had a close game, and the way they mauled Texas A&M on Thanksgiving and Tennessee in the Cotton Bowl convinced some that 1968's best matching would have put the Longhorns and Buckeyes in the same battle pit.

But it not only was the year of Buckeyes, Longhorns, Nittany Lions and Razorbacks, it also was the season of Simpson, the most remarkable of running backs who won all the top awards worth winning.

It also was the year the Southwest Conference soared in the bowls (scoring its first three-game sweep since 1956). It was the year the Yales tied the Harvards, 29-29, in a season-ending battle of unbeaten.

It was the year Tennessee opened college football's television schedule by tying Georgia with a two-point play after time had officially expired, and Penn State closed the season three months and 18 days later, in the Orange Bowl, by nosing out Kansas in a frantic finish and only after the Jayhawkers had muffed certain victory by using a 12-man lineup.

IT WAS A MUFF KANSAS COACH PEPPER RODGERS can laugh about, now that he's about to field another Big Eight challenger. Rodgers needed only two seasons to establish himself as a young lion among Midwest coaches.

NATIONAL CHAMPIONS, 1924-1968

Ohio State was the 1968 choice of both the writers' and coaches' polls as college football's unofficial national champion. The Buckeyes also were voted the Grantland Rice Award by the Football Writers' Association of America.

It was Ohio State's first outright crown since 1942. The Buckeyes also were co-champions in 1957 and 1954 when the press association polls did not agree on a team as the unofficial national champion.

The Associated Press poll of sports writers was originated in 1936 and the United Press International poll of coaches in 1950. Representing opinions of observers across the country, they are the popularly accepted electors to national ranking. Prior to the polls, the Rissman and Knute Rockne trophies symbolized the championships from 1924 to 1936. The titlists so designated:

NATIONAL RATINGS, 1936-1968

The most successful major teams of the past 33 years, according to the ratings produced by the press association polls, have been Notre Dame and Oklahoma. Counting 10 points for each season-end first place rating, 9 for second and so on, the Irish have accumulated 139 points, to the Sooners' next best 102.

Notre Dame . . . 139	Ohio State . . . 78	Mich. State . . . 72	Southern Cal . . . 58
Oklahoma . . . 102	Tennessee . . . 78	Texas . . . 71	Minnesota . . . 57

lor and John Ray at Kentucky just hope they do as well.

THEY ARE AMONG the many new faces moving into major head coaching jobs this year. Others include Carl DePasqua at Pitt, Rick Forzano at Navy, Jake McCandless at Princeton, Bob Deming at Buffalo, Bill Whitton at Holy Cross, Ben Wilson at Wichita State, Cal Stoll at Wake Forest, Roy Lester at Maryland, P. W. Underwood at Southern Mississippi, Bo Schembechler at Michigan, Ray Callahan at Cincinnati, Lee Corso at Louisville, Bob Weber at Arizona, Bill Mallory at Miami (O.), Joe McMullen at San Jose State and Irv Etler at Xavier.

HAT'S OFF—Enthusiastic bear hug by Wittenberg defender Bruce Borland (67) separates Eastern Michigan quarterback Arnie Fontes from his helmet. Subsequently, hats were off to Fontes' replacement, who hurled fourth-quarter TD pass for 14-7 EMU victory.

IT IS AN OLD FACE, HOWEVER, that will command the spotlight. Wayne Woodrow (Woody) Hayes has been Ohio State's coach 19 years, long enough to establish himself as dean of Big Ten coaches (and to win three national championships), and surely in all those 19 years Woody has never had an inheritance to match the one he has now.

By the numbers, Hayes has 18 of last year's regulars returning (10 on defense, eight on offense), led by Mr. Cool himself, Rex Kern, last year's sophomore quarterback who played like a senior.

If it weren't for the fact it often is easier to cross the Sahara without water than to repeat in the Big Ten, one would pick Ohio State as a mortal cinch. But then someone, probably Michigan State or Indiana or possibly Iowa, would come along and prove there is no such thing.

Duffy Daugherty's Spartans lost the close ones last year, including a five-pointer to Ohio State. If Duffy can rebuild the defensive secondary in time, the close ones in '69 will be on someone else's foot.

REMEMBER ALL THOSE SPLENDID SOPHOMORES at Indiana two seasons ago, the ones who sparked the Hoosiers to the Rose Bowl? Well, quarterback Harry Conso and the rest of the Cinderella Kids are wise seniors now, and they've been joined by some of the best sophs Indiana has ever had.

When Iowa put Larry Lawrence at quarterback last year at mid-season, the Hawkeyes began to roll. He'll be there all season this year, which is a reason why Ray Nagel thinks this could be his best Iowa team.

Minnesota has some rebuilding to do but has power to spare in its backfield. Purdue suffered a key loss—only in this case, you spell it K-e-y-e-s. But still around is Mike Phipps, a superior quarterback.

Normally the loss of nine starters on offense, including the finest aerial battery (Terry Hanratty-Jim Seymour) the school ever had, would be enough to cripple any team's best-laid plans. But in just three games last year, young Joe Theismann proved he could handle the quarterback job. As a result, things don't look so bad at Notre Dame after all.

Ohio University made 1968 a red-letter year, winning the Mid-American Conference title and giving the league its first team ever in the nation's final top 20. Since the Bobcats' great quarterback Cleve Bryant is back, with a bushel of holdover regulars, they're likely to stay up there.

Having pushed Alabama around rather convincingly in the Gator Bowl, Missouri set itself up as one of the teams to beat in the Big Eight. Oklahoma just might be the team to do it. The co-champion Sooners didn't lose much. One of the weapons they kept is Steve Owens and if there is a better tailback anywhere, Oklahomans would like to meet him.

MISSOURI HAS MOST OF ITS OFFENSE but must rebuild the defense. Colorado keeps quarterback Bob Anderson but the defense leaked for about 25 points a game last fall. Kansas will be dangerous as long as John Riggins, the Big Eight's Soph-of-the-Year in '68, remains healthy. Nebraska looks improved, despite needing a quarterback.

A quarterback is one thing North Texas State has. He is Steve Ramsey and what Steve does best is throw touchdown passes. Although Cincinnati again comes armed with end Jim O'Brien, the nation's leading major-college scorer, North Texas and defending champion Memphis State are favored in the Missouri Valley Conference.

Texas has battering rams Ted Koy and Steve Worster and its new-fangled Wishbone-T. To preside over the talent is James Street, unbeaten as a starting quarterback. Arkansas boasts whiz kids Bill Montgomery, Chuck Dicus and Bill Burnett, plus a defense that came of age late in '68.

IF SMU MANAGES ANOTHER WINNING CAMPAIGN, you'll know national passing champ Chuck Hixson played a major role. And it wouldn't pay to overlook Texas Tech, only SWC team to master Texas in 1967 and 1968.

High-powered Houston, off probation at last and blessed with brilliant receiver Elmo Wright and a bevy of fast backs and fine sophomores, will be one of the better independents in the country.

Ole Miss bided its time with 35 sophomores last year. One of them was Archie Manning, a big-play quarterback. If soph QB Pat Sullivan is all they say he is, Auburn will do some smiling this year. Georgia went all the way in the SEC with a sophomore, Mike Cavan, at quarterback last year. The Bulldogs won't abdicate easily. LSU may have found the signal-caller it needed—Mike Hillman—in its Peach Bowl victory over Florida State.

FOR THE FIRST TIME IN AGES, Alabama is being rated as something less than a top contender and that's a bad sign for rivals. Bear Bryant and quarterback Scott Hunter may yet have the last word.

North Carolina State sort of backed into the Atlantic Coast Conference title last year, rebuilding all the while. Now South Carolina, with great fullback Warren Muir, may be just the team to break N.C. State's reign.

Richmond remains the class of the Southern Conference and last year's top Dixie independents, Florida State and Virginia Tech, are hardly in danger of sinking spells.

Although he mourns about losses in the offensive line, Penn State's Joe Paterno is majoring in crocodile tears. With unbeaten quarterback Chuck Burkhardt to run the offense and All-America linebacker Denny Onkotz and destructive tackles Mike Reid and Steve Smear heading the defense, the Nittany Lions are the class of the East, and maybe more.

SYRACUSE MIGHT BE A CHALLENGER, although ever-winning Ben Schwartzwalder must retool his defense. Army has plenty of runners but few proven defenders. Boston College has the offense to be a winner again. Last year's Ivy League co-champions, Yale and Harvard, may have to yield either to Dartmouth or Princeton.

Winning has become a way of life at Wyoming and things won't change there this year. The Air Force Academy, strongest independent in the Rockies, may be the best service academy team of all.

Things won't be quite the same in Pacific Coast football—O. J. Simpson won't be there. Then again, maybe they will. Southern California returns nine defensive regulars, an excellent passer (Mike Holmgren) and a bright new junior college transfer, Clarence Davis. You can take it from O. J.—“the Trojans will have another powerful team in 1969.”

STANFORD RATHER LIKES ITS OWN CHANCES since Jim Plunkett is still there to guide the offense. California will have one of the coast's better defenses and a few big guns for the offense, and no one expects Tommy Prothro to permit such an outrage as a two-year drouth at UCLA.

Scoring points should not be UCLA's problem. Nor Oregon's. Nor many teams a man could name this year in this, another Year Of The Touchdown. That wail you hear comes from the defensive coaches.

NOW THAT'S BLOCKING!—Penn State halfback Charlie Pittman (24) scampers through gaping hole in Navy line that is being held open by efficient blocking of his unsung (because unidentifiable) teammates. Nittany Lions sank Middies, 31-6.

MONSTER MAN—Rhode Island's 225-pound tackle Tom Thurber manhandles two opponents simultaneously on critical fourth-and-one situation, fending off Brown tackle Tim Leslie and stopping fullback Steve Wormith for no gain. But Bruins won, 10-9.

The East [NCAA Districts I & II]

Area That Spawned Game In 1869 Backs Penn State As No. 1 In 1969

By ARNIE BURDICK

*Executive Sports Editor, The Syracuse (N.Y.) Herald-Journal
Past President [1966], Football Writers' Association of America*

Win or lose, this is the year when the college football world will bow down and face the East.

For that's where all of this Fall Madness began—in New Brunswick, N.J.—100 Novembers ago, with Rutgers edging Princeton, 6-4. This will be the focal point all season of a Coast-to-Coast mass Centennial celebration that should make the various sectors prouder and more mindful of their grid ancestry than ever before.

CRACKLING CEREMONIES HAVE BEEN SCHEDULED weekly on the Rutgers campus—site of The National Football Foundation and Hall of Fame—and suitable accompanying cacophony will be heard up and down the East.

No doubt, the top noisemaker again will be Joe Paterno's rollicking Penn State eleven, which has gone 19 games in a row without a loss, the longest such major streak in the nation. Can the coaches' Coach-of-the-Year crank out another unbeaten machine? He probably can, if he's able to rephrase last year's theme and substitute "Hungriness" for the first word in "Happiness is a Nittany Lion!"

"We must develop a hungry attitude," thinks Paterno. "We've had two good years back-to-back, and the boys haven't experienced anything but success. We should have a good team but will we be good enough?"

MOST OF THE OTHER Eastern skippers would like to swap their problems for Joe's. "We must rebuild our offensive line," adds Paterno, "especially at the tackles. And we must find a breakaway back to replace the departed Bobby Campbell," hero of the dramatic "12th man" Orange Bowl triumph over Kansas. The defense, headed by All-American Denny Onkotz, returns virtually intact.

If Joe gets what Joe wants, the Mount Nits

"My biggest sports thrill was watching Jimmy Brown, Ernie Davis, Floyd Little and Larry Csonka play all their college ball," says Arnie Burdick of the Syracuse Herald-Journal, himself a Syracuse University graduate.

Burdick became sports editor of the Herald-Journal in 1956, but before that worked nine years as sports information director of his alma mater and spent one year in an industrial public relations job. He also served 3½ years in the U.S. Army.

Like many sports writers, Burdick is a former athlete, having played lacrosse in college, which probably accounts for his "stick-to-it-tiveness."

could vault from last year's No. 3 national ranking to No. 1. Certainly, the Penn State express will be almost impossible to derail from its top Eastern rating and third straight Lambert Trophy.

ARMY, SYRACUSE AND BOSTON COLLEGE all have Lambert aspirations, as do such top Ivies as Harvard, Dartmouth and Princeton. But a squint at the depth of State's returning troops plus the quality of last year's freshmen, headed by end Craig Lyle and halfback Lydell Mitchell, precludes any of the pretenders becoming overconfident.

Unbeaten quarterback Chuck Burkhart, blocker Don Abbey and speed-boy Charlie Pittman, who might be the toughest open field runner nationally this fall, return to form a solid backfield.

As the Mount Nits stand secure atop the East like a Colossus of Rhodes, personified by the awesomeness of defensive tackles Mike Reid and Steve Smear, there's violent change taking place underneath.

NO LESS THAN FIVE EASTERN MAJORS will be kicking off new coaching regimes. Pittsburgh, with only three wins in three years under Dave Hart, has gone back to an alumni coach, Carl DePasqua. Navy plucked Rick Forzano, former Middle aide, as a replacement for Bill Elias.

Meanwhile, Princeton and Buffalo elevated assistants to fill the vacancies created when Dick Colman and Doc Urich left for other assignments. Colman, who had tutored the Tigers for a dozen years, has assumed the athletic director's chair at Middlebury, turning over his single-wing machine to top aide Jack McCandless. Urich, who'll handle the reins at Northern Illinois, will be succeeded at Buffalo by Bob Deming. Another of Colman's Princeton helpers, Bill Whitton, has taken command at Holy Cross in place of Tom Boisture.

IF NEW BROOMS ARE HOPING TO SWEEP CLEAN at those five institutions, the oldest one in the East is still operating at Syracuse where Ben Schwartzwalder continues to churn out winners. In fact, in this his 21st season in Orangeland, Bantam Ben will be attempting to produce his 20th straight non-losing edition. Only Penn State, shooting for No. 31 in a row dating back to 1938, tops this record in the East.

Schwartzie's Orange has a wholesome glow on offense, where all but one '68 regular returns. Defensively, the Orange, fourth in total defense last season, is hurting. Quick Ray White is all that's left of the Front Five.

DID HE MAKE IT? wonders Syracuse quarterback Paul Paolisso (24) as he watches teammate John Godbolt coming to ground right at the goal line. Godbolt managed to get enough of the chalk for six points toward the Orange 20-7 margin over UCLA.

HALLELUJAH!—Central Connecticut lineman Joe Murphy (66) exults heavenward for touchdown against Ithaca, whose Tom Tysinski (far right) looks glumly at goal line pile-up and young rooter in foreground just looks glum. Ithacans were upset, 33-6.

Devastated by graduation, the deep secondary must be bolstered.

Offensively, sophs Marty Januszkiewicz and Greg Allen look like surefire prospects to mate in the backfield with quarterback Paul Paolisso and running backs Al Newton and John Godbolt, last year's leading rushers. Three fine pass-receiving ends, John Massis, Tony Gabriel and Bill Maddox, return to help the passing, but can the offensive line jump a notch or two in order to provide more blocking and protection?

THAT'S OL' BEN'S BIGGEST PROBLEM. Side-saddle kicker George Jakowenko, who may take on punting chores, is a three-point threat from the 40.

Army, which has matched Penn State's glittering 23-7 regular-season mark the past three years under "Cinderella" Tom Cahill, feels it needs "PDQ" help. In this case it stands for punter-quarterback-defense.

Those are Cahill's three big needs as he hones his fourth machine at West Point. Tom has nine lettermen back for his offense, but that includes quarterback Roger LeDoux who directed the Cadets to three early season wins as a soph, but didn't play enough last fall to win a letter. Lynn Moore, Hank Andrzejczak and Billy Hunter all can run the ball, and Arden Jensen, with 31 of 32 extra points and 11 of 18 field goals, is a true-toed placement artist. However, the defensive platoon is sparse.

DESPITE THE RECENT LEAN YEARS, hopes continue to be high at Pitt. Followers point to the 34 returning lettermen, which include 18 of 22 regulars. There is size among those numbers.

But new coach DePasqua ducks the answer to how many games the Panthers will win, by merely indicating he'll reinstall the hard-nosed tactics that paid off during Pitt's palmiest days under Jock Sutherland. "I know just one thing," he emphasizes, "we'll know how to block and tackle." Though Pitt has a new coach, it still has the old schedule—a killer.

SLIGHT MISCALCULATION—Harvard tackle Rick Berne (71) tries to reach back but it's too late, as he already has overshot Princeton fullback Dick Bracken (49). The Crimson made enough tackles, however, for 9-7 Ivy League triumph over Tigers.

In addition to such veteran backs as Lil' Davey Havern, Denny Ferris, Joe McCain and Dave Garnett, the Panthers have plenty of other beef returning. Also, such injured soph redshirts of last fall as linebacker Ralph Cindrich, and tackles Howie Broadhead and Brad Bekamps are healthy again. They should provide a genuine lift to a defense that has been giving up points faster than most scoreboard operators could record them. Last year's foes averaged a horrendous 39.3 points a game against Pitt.

NEW NAVY SKIPPER FORZANO returns to Annapolis remembering his previous five-year hitch there when the Middies went to two bowls and banded out a 35-14-1 record. By comparison, however, during the five years that he's been away, the Sailors sagged to an 18-28-4 log.

Navy has a long climb back, but Forzano has at least one key to build around—quarterback Mike McNallen. He's the stickout of the 17 returning lettermen, 12 of whom started the Army game. McNallen, as a soph last fall, ranked 23rd among the nation's passers.

Leading rusher Dan Pike and glue-fingered flanker Karl Schwelm should mate well in the backfield with McNallen, while split end Ron Lanning, up from the Plebes, should be tough to cover.

Boston College took a giant step under Joe Yukica's new direction last fall, its first winning year since 1965, with a varied attack that exploded for 462.3 yards per game (third highest in the land).

FRANK (RED) HARRIS, who hit 57 per cent of his passes and clicked for 13 touchdowns, returns to direct a seasoned attack. It has seven starters available. Junior Fred Willis and sophs Eddie Rideout and Bill Thomas figure to supply breakaway running. Two senior tackles, Bob Bouley, whose dad Gil was an All-American Eagle in the early 1940's, and John Fitzgerald, spice up the front tier.

Over in the Ivy League, another down-to-the-wire battle for the championship looms, but no finish could be as dramatic as last year's "Meetin' of the Unbeaten" in which Harvard rallied unbelievably to tally 16 points in the last 42 seconds and deadlock Yale, 29-29.

THE ELIS, PACED BY A MODERN FRANK MERRIWELL, Brian Dowling, had rolled up 16 straight victories over two seasons before getting caught at the wire by their arch-rivals from Cambridge. The madcap finish, which turned old Harvard Stadium into sheer pandemonium, meant that the two teams wound up as Ivy co-champs, the fourth time in the last eight years that the crown in this well-balanced loop had to be shared.

Even though Yale has gone 17 games without a loss, the bloom seems to have worn off the Bulldog bush. Twenty-seven lettermen, including 14 starters numbering such notables as Dowling, Call Hill and Bruce Weinstein, have departed. Buzzy Potts and Bob Kropke must juice the offense while Andy Coe will lead the defense.

HARVARD SEEMS TO BE in much better shape for success, despite the fact coach John Yovicsin has also lost 14 starters. Yale game hero Frank Champi is back to direct an attack that's apt to feature more passing. Ray Hornblower and soph Steve Harrison should provide speedy halfbacking, while ends Pete Varney and Bruce Freeman can field the ball. John Cramer and Rick Berne pace a depleted defense.

Dartmouth and Princeton loom as the best bets to take command, with improving Pennsylvania having an outside shot.

WHOLESALE INJURIES FORCED Bob Blackman's Dartmouth eleven to stagger to its first losing season in 13 years. Losses were high but 31 lettermen return. Experience at quarterback in the persons of senior Bill Koenig and junior Jim Chasey plus halfbacks Clark Beier and Bob Mlakar should give the Indians a balanced attack.

Princeton, now under the direction of McCandless, will continue to operate from the single-wing, last major team in the country to do so. Classy tailbacks Brian McCullough and Scott MacBean return as does bulldozer Ellie Moore. Penn, which made the greatest jump, finishing third with a 7-2 mark, has 19 lettermen back, including seven starters on each platoon. Kicker Eliot Berry, who performed heroics as a soph, returns as does top-flight quarterback Bernie Zbrzezny, the passing eye-chart who completed more than 50 per cent of his passes. Tackle Mike Chwastyk rates a look from "All" pickers.

REFLECTED GLORY—Exuberance of Columbia's all-Ivy League end Bill Wazewich is transmitted to young sideliners. Lion star has just caught a touchdown pass on last play of the first half, contributing to Columbia's 34-25 victory over Cornell.

Trying to poke their noses into the first division will be the rest. At Cornell, Coach Jack (hopes to make) Musick with runner-passer Bill Arthur the key operator behind an experienced offensive line. Eight defending starters are gone. The sophs supply a big, hard-nosed runner in Ed Marinaro. A crack 1968 freshman squad should help make a contender out of Brown. Quarterback Bryan Marini to end Jim Lukens could be a passing combo that'll drive the rest of the circuit daffy.

Columbia lost its "offense" when Marty Domres hung it up. Sophs John Daurio and Jeff Doolittle hope to take over. Crack receiver Bill Wazevich is still available, as are 13 other starters.

Rutgers should be able to celebrate the Centennial with another solid John Bateman team. Three stars return: quarterback Rich Policastro, who authored 15 TD heaves, sensational runner Bruce Van Ness, and 220-pound linebacker Lee Schneider. Colgate, which rebounded to 5-5 in Neil Wheelwright's debut season, hopes to continue its improvement. Quarterback Steve Goepel is a competent passer and Dom Fischer slashed for over 700 yards, but defensive repairs are needed.

BALANCING ACT?—Dartmouth sophomore quarterback Jim Chasey is either keeping himself aloft with one hand, or feeling for a soft spot to land after being tripped up by Harvard tacklers. Indians were upended by Crimson, 22-7, in Ivy loop skirmish.

COLLARED—It may be unorthodox tackling procedure, but Pittsburgh's Jeff Barr (11) is making sure of his quarry with a virtual strangle hold on West Virginia's Oscar Patrick, who has just caught a 10-yard pass. Panthers lost, though, 38-15.

Inexperienced quarterbacking figures to plague Coach Jack Gregory at Villanova again. Leading scorer Bill Walik will return to lead the halfbacks, and there are a couple of gifted receivers in All-American prospect Tom Boyd and sophomore Mike Siani.

Bill Whitton comes to Holy Cross after 14 years at Princeton, and he'll be greeted by 31 lettermen. Hard-slammung halfback Steve Jutras and top tackle Bill Moncevicz could trigger a Crusader comeback.

Buffalo, under new coach Bob Deming, has hopes of improving on a 7-3 mark, thanks to the healthy return of the injured quarterback Mark Murtha along with 24 lettermen back from last year's squad. Tight end Paul Lang and linebacker Mike Luzny are other stickouts.

The "majors" in the East are all hoping for a big Centennial year, but those deep, capable Nittany Lions appear to be still "Hungry and Happy" enough to make it back to the winner's circle.

Delaware won its fifth Middle Atlantic Conference University Division title in the 11 years of competition last year and the Blue Hens will be favored to make it six for 12 in 1969.

Coach Tubby Raymond's Delaware team will have to contend with challenges from Bucknell, Lafayette, Temple and a much-improved Lehigh squad. Gettysburg and Hofstra probably won't figure in the championship picture in what will be building years.

Albright and Wilkes were co-champions of the MAC Northern College Division last year and both teams will be strong again this season. Wilkes has the longest winning streak in the nation with 29 consecutive victories. Delaware Valley may be a darkhorse in the Northern Division.

Lebanon Valley and Muhlenberg are expected to move up to challenge Johns Hopkins and Franklin & Marshall, the 1969 co-champions in the Southern College Division. Western Maryland could also be a factor in that battle.

Final game wins by co-champions New Hampshire and Connecticut prevented a four-team deadlock in the 1968 Yankee Conference final standings with Massachusetts and Rhode Island. It appears the co-titlists are the teams to beat again.

New Hampshire had primarily a sophomore-junior squad last season and should be in the thick of the scramble despite losing all-conference quarterback Ed Walsh and several defensive standouts.

Connecticut appears to have lost more through graduation than any other team but still has Vinny Clements, one of the league's most exciting backs.

Massachusetts lost as many loop games last year (three) as it did in coach Vic Fusia's previous seven years. Lack of a consistent running game and injuries caused the Redmen's collapse. Several lettermen and some top performers from an unbeaten frosh team will keep the Redmen in contention again.

Maine was the circuit's most improved team and with 16 starters returning, the Black Bears could be a contender for the Bean Pot. Rhode Island will have to bolster its defense to stay in the race. Vermont has several lettermen but the jump from the bottom of the standings to the top would be nothing short of a miracle for the Catamounts.

West Chester and Kutztown will challenge East Stroudsburg for the Eastern Division championship and Clarion will put pressure on California to retain its Western title in the Pennsylvania Football Conference.

East Stroudsburg again will be led by quarterback Billy Dukett, who topped the league in passing last year. Quarterback Steve Dilts and halfback Bill Rees return at West Chester. Kutztown's offensive gun is Phil Anthony, who led the loop in rushing as a sophomore.

California lost standout quarterback Jeff Petrucci and may not have enough to stave off Clarion, led by QB Bob Erdeljac.

The faces under the helmets may change but the melody stays the same in the Eastern Football Conference. In the four years since the league was formed, Southern Connecticut has won the title outright three times and shared it the other. However, Central Connecticut or Bridgeport could unseat SC this time around. Southern Connecticut lost several offensive linemen.

Central Connecticut boasts three all-EFC defensive picks plus top runners Harold Brown and Harry Fargo. Bridgeport will bank heavily on Darrick Warner, the league's leading scorer and rusher. Montclair, under new coach Clary Anderson, and Glassboro have the potential to make it a wide-open race. Trenton State has quit the conference.

The South [NCAA District 2]

Despite 1st Century's Forecasting Failure, Ole Miss Favored in SEC

By FURMAN BISHER

Sports Editor, The Atlanta (Ga.) Journal

Past President [1959], Football Writers' Association of America

When Georgia annihilated Florida, the favorite in the Southeastern Conference, 51-0; and when Southern Mississippi inflicted similar punishment upon East Carolina, favorite in the Southern Conference, 65-0; and when Florida State beat North Carolina State, favorite in the Atlantic Coast Conference, 48-7, in the course of the 1968 season, it occurred to me that in these first 100 years of football, prognostication had made less progress than any of the other associated arts.

CLAIRVOYANCE WAS SUCH AN UNREFINED PRACTICE at the time that no one bothered to pick a winner when Rutgers met Princeton in 1869. When I say that we have not made progress, that is not to say we haven't attempted innovation. We have, by illustration, even arrived at the off-season sport of trying to guess which athletes will make the best grades. It emerges in the final form as the pre-season all-Academic team.

And so the beat goes on among our dauntless set, though clearly one of the nation's unprecise sciences. Thus, the requirement for this preview of the football autumn in the vast South from a spring perspective.

True, indeed, is the fact that prognostication was not an act of total futility in the South last year. N.C. State did win the ACC title. Florida State, projected power of the independents, did emerge so, though man-handed by Virginia Tech, 40-22. However, Georgia won out in the SEC and Richmond in the Southern Conference, against the odds.

THERE IS LITTLE REASON to revise the finish as we look ahead to the 1969 season, except in the SEC. There, Ole Miss, whose army of sophomores grew into juniors in a year of trial by fire concluded by a Liberty Bowl victory over Virginia Tech, stands as the favorite. Georgia, Louisiana State, Auburn and Alabama are poised in challenge.

Furman Bisher of The Atlanta Journal rates as one of the most celebrated and prolific sports scribes in the country. His 500-plus magazine stories have appeared in several leading periodicals and he has authored four books, including one on Atlanta Braves' star Hank Aaron. Bisher, in 1959-60-61-62, was among five finalists in voting for outstanding sports writer in the U.S. Fifteen of his articles have appeared in "Best Sports Stories."

The University of North Carolina graduate is the father of three boys and is active in charitable organizations, including the Salvation Army Boys Club.

TENDER, LOVING CARE—Unidentified official protects football from rain as combatants, including North Carolina State's Andy Solonowski (64) and Pete Bailey and Virginia's Rick Kotulak (75) and Greg Shelly (74), prepare to resume action.

In eight of his 15 years at N.C. State, Earle Edwards' teams have finished no worse than second in the ACC. They were "franked" into the championship last year when South Carolina upset Clemson after the Wolfpack season was over. Rate them N.C. State, South Carolina, Duke and Clemson for the first division this year.

The Southern Conference, reduced to a fragment of its old self—an alignment that once embraced the entire South—has no challenger for Richmond, undefeated in the league and winner of the Tangerine Bowl over Ohio University last season.

FLORIDA STATE, WITH THE MOST PRODUCTIVE OFFENSE south of Cincinnati, remains implanted as king of the independents, with the most strenuous argument coming again from Virginia Tech. Miami of Florida, Georgia Tech, West Virginia, Tulane and Southern Mississippi rate in that order.

Ole Miss draws dividends this year on the playing time banked by 35 sophomores last season, among them Archie Manning, a spectacular quarterback cut of All-American cloth. Two gold-plated juniors are his choice receivers, split ends Floyd Franks and Riley Myers. A third, Putt Crull, is one of the better defensive guards around.

Not all the strength is junior. Fullback Bo Bowen is one of the most exciting runners in the SEC, and safetyman Glenn Cannon was all-conference. But the 16 returning starters mostly are young men about to burst into full flower as coach Johnny Vaught begins his 23rd season at Oxford.

A CONDITION PREVALENT IN THE SEC last year was the unestablished quarterback. This year the status quarterback is all about, Manning at Ole Miss, Tommy Pharr at Mississippi State, Scott Hunter at Alabama, Mike Hillman at LSU, and the dynamic Mike Cavan, who navigated Georgia's course to the title as a sophomore.

Georgia suffered some jolts by graduation, but the slack will not be pronounced, not with great receivers Dennis Hughes and Charles Whittemore, fullback Bruce Kemp and defensive guard Steve Greer to build around.

It is quite possible that the SEC title will be decided as early as Oct. 11, when Georgia and Ole Miss meet in Jackson.

Auburn banks heavily this year on sophomore quarterback Pat Sullivan, a Birmingham boy who already has been appointed to some early-bird All-American teams. LSU looks with confidence upon senior Mike Hilman, after his clutch performance upset Florida State in the first Peach Bowl game.

LSU AND AUBURN RATE ABOUT EVEN on the same sound basis of defense. LSU has a full quota along the line, but must fill some chinks in the running game. The return of Eddie Ray at fullback would be a big plus.

All of Auburn's defensive starters, with emphasis on All-American tackle Dave Campbell, and in Coach Ralph Jordan's eyes the "four best linebackers in the country on any one team," return to their posts. Sullivan is easily Loran Carter's replacement at quarterback, but he'll need a revitalized ground game to help.

Alabama suffers, and probably unrighteously so, for its disaster in the Gator Bowl. Missouri gutted the Crimson Tide, 35-10, and the result has led to uncommon restraint in assaying the team's immediate future.

Some stars return with Hunter, such as George Ranager, a receiver in the pattern of Ray Perkins and Dennis Homan, and two all-SEC performers, Al Samples and Sammy Gellerstedt, offensive and defensive guards. Where help is needed most, the ground game, 218-pound soph fullback Jesse Causey, a Miamian swarmed by college pursuers, comes a-runnin'.

TENNESSEE HAS TOO MANY LOSSES, including the entire starting backfield, to be a contender. Another All-American center, Chip Kell, national high school shotput record holder, is on the way. But the attack depends on a rookie quarterback, Bobby Scott, and his best catcher, Lester McClain, first Negro regular in the SEC.

Coach Bill Pace's third year at Vanderbilt developed into its first winning year (5-4-1) since 1959. Thirty-two lettermen return. Tackle Bob Asher and quarterback John Miller head up an offense that was surprising last season. The schedule is favorable to more success outside the SEC.

MISSED BY A FOOT—Georgia's Mike Cavan (on ground) nearly gets stepped on, vainly trying for foot of Clemson's Richie Luzzi (22), who went 108 yards to score, via Ivan Southerland's (89) block on Craig Elrod (37). Still, Georgia won, 31-13.

Florida is still in shock. The bottom dropped out of a glorious anticipation in an epidemic of fumbles that caused defeat by North Carolina, followed by injury to All-American fullback Larry Smith. "We start over this year," says Coach Ray Graves. "We are simply average."

COACH JOHNNY RAY SUCCEEDS Charlie Bradshaw at Kentucky with gusto and 34 lettermen. Once he works out his problem at quarterback, he'll be able to set an offensive course. His defense should create problems only for other people, for this has been his forte in 20 years of coaching, including his most recent station at Notre Dame as No. 1 assistant.

Tommy Pharr was the leading yard-gainer and all-SEC quarterback, and there is some other individual brilliance at Mississippi State, but the poor chaps haven't won a game since October, 1967. They could feed through the winter on their finish, climaxed by a tie with ancient rival Ole Miss. But no improvement in standing is in sight.

A backlog of experience, an All-American tackle, Ron Carpenter, and a competent quarterback ready to move into this offensive gap, plus a tradition for always "being there, or close," legislates to N.C. State's credit in the ACC. Darrell Moody, also a campus baseball star, takes charge of an attack that relies much on the running of Charlie Bowers.

WHILE N.C. STATE SWEATED IT OUT, Clemson played itself out of the championship the worst way—losing to its most despised rival, South Carolina, 7-3. The Tigers take a drop in rating while the Gamecocks, approaching the status that coach Paul Dietzel promised, move up. Tommy Suggs plays quarterback like a riverboat gambler, but risk is slight when he can call on fullback Warren Muir, the surest runner in the ACC until injured.

Clemson is impressive within the ACC (4-1-1) against 0-4 outside—but that inter-loop schedule takes something out of the Tigers. Frank Howard begins his 30th season as head coach with 28 lettermen, his smallest crop in a long time, uncertainty at QB and another dreadful schedule.

SOCGER-STYLE PRECISION by West Virginia's Ken Juskowich (10) sends football (top right) winging its way to Mountaineer record 49-yard field goal in losing (35-16) cause against Kentucky. Juskowich tallied 106 points in last two seasons.

IN-BASKET—Nonchalantly awaiting pass in end zone is Jim Smith of West Virginia, who tucked it away for his team's second touchdown against Virginia Tech, despite belated gesture of Ken Edwards (33). VPI had its winning moments, though, 27-12.

Coach Tom Harp speaks optimistically at Duke, most of his material based on the subject of quarterback Leo Hart. Hart gained 2,340 yards, first ACC player to reach 2,000, when he was supposed to have been second string. This should be Duke's best season in Harp's four.

WAKE FOREST'S BRIGHT HOPES were snuffed out last season, leaving Bill Tate a casualty, and bringing in Cal Stoll from Michigan State's staff as the third head coach in five years. He inherits 31 lettermen and this should be a better year, but conservatism prevails until results are up.

Virginia, after its finest record in years (7-3), has a major challenge replacing Frank Quayle, ACC's leading runner with 1,213 yards.

North Carolina will have only eight seniors among its greenest squad in years. And at Maryland, Roy Lester took over as head coach after Bob Ward became the victim of a player revolt. Lester is a former Maryland assistant who has made a great reputation in prep circles.

The sad truth about the Southern Conference, now down to seven members—with Chattanooga's application pending—is that as long as it stays within its own confines, its frailties are undetected. Only Richmond (7-3) had a winning season last year, and nobody within the conference should be able to frighten the Spiders. All-SC end Walker Gillette and all but nine members of the championship squad return. Tall Charlie Richards replaces Buster O'Brien at quarterback.

COACH MARV LEVY HAS WILLIAM & MARY READY to make a move. Fifteen starters are among 25 lettermen on a squad that's advertised as faster, quicker, better balanced and more versatile. A case in point is that neither of two seasoned quarterbacks, Wes Meeteer and Jimmy Laycock, is safe from invasion by a sophomore crop.

On the heels of Coach Clarence Stasavich's most dismal season in his 30-year career, there is hope at East Carolina. Injuries were a plague last year, but given Butch Colson, SC back-of-the-year in '67, and tailback Billy Wightman fulltime, the Pirates may return to form.

The Citadel must replace 14 starters, but with 25 lettermen, including 255-pound linebacker John Small, and quarterback Tony Passander returning, Coach Jim Jarker figures his program is keeping step. Davidson, VMI, and Furman rank somewhere to the rear, and probably in that order.

Back at Davidson is quarterback Gordon Slade, leading yard-gainer in the league, and end Mike Kelly. Furman looks forward to a return to respectability, based on defense.

Only three teams in the nation gained more yards throwing the football last year than Florida State. Half the reason was Ron Sellers, now departed. The other half was quarterback Bill Cappleman, who is still around.

Cappleman's return, the running of junior Tom Bailey and a typically resistant Bill Peterson defense make the Seminoles the favorite among the independent powers, which are increasing impressively in the South.

VIRGINIA TECH CAME ON STRONG after discovering Ken Edwards was far more valuable as a runner than a linebacker. The Gobblers finished with five victories in a row, broken only by a Liberty Bowl appointment with a resurgent and vindictive Ole Miss team. Fifteen seniors were lost, but coach Jerry Claiborne takes that in stride on inventory, including All-American linebacker Mike Widger and a strong class of sophomores rising.

Miami's season promises no improvement on the record of 5-5. The running game centers around Vince Opalsky and Bobby Best. Two outstanding catchers are Ray Bellamy and David Kalina. But who's going to throw it is the pertinent question.

Georgia Tech has lived two unsettled seasons since Bobby Dodd retired. His successor, Bud Carson, has produced spurts of brilliance, but nothing consistent. With a yawning vacancy at quarterback and slight promise of help from the widely publicized sophomore "golden boy," Charles Dudish, Tech would settle for a 5-5 with no haggling. While Dudish has been a morale problem, one rising sophomore, little Brent Cunningham, will relegate every other running back to the back of the bus.

WEST VIRGINIA COMES OFF a most gratifying year of 7-3 with more high expectations riding on the leadership of quarterback Mike Sherwood.

Tulane sings happily of a good defense, featuring nine returning starters, and a frisky senior quarterback, Wayne Francingues (pronounced "Fruh-zang") who came within 100 yards of breaking a school offense record.

Southern Mississippi fell into a morass six defeats deep last season, and tries to recover with P. W. (Undertaker) Underwood, an old campus hero, replacing retiring Thad Vann as head coach.

Louisiana Tech lost to its first two GSC foes in 1968 but beat everybody else, including four major college opponents and Akron in the Grantland Rice Bowl. NCAA college division total offense champ Terry Bradshaw is back at quarterback and Tommy Spinks (54 catches) is back at end, which means 1969 opponents of the air-minded Bulldogs are advised to run for cover.

Defending champion Southwest Louisiana should have another strong team led by high-scoring halfback Jim Barton and linebacker Glenn Lafleur but must play Tech on Tech's field this year. Northwest Louisiana will have another strong offensive team if the Demons can find a capable replacement for star quarterback Don Guidry.

Speedster Joe Profit, No. 3 season rusher in GSC history, is back at Northeast Louisiana but the defense, best in the conference in '68, could be a problem. Southeast Louisiana, a slow starter for two years, has a fine runner in Ted Glaser and a promising young defensive unit. McNeese dropped from first to last place in a year but graduation losses were light and back is standout fullback Carol Breau.

For the first time in three years, Eastern Kentucky will not be favored to win the OVC title. The Colonels have graduated 18 key players who led coach Roy Kidd's teams to two consecutive championships. The '69 attack will be built around halfback Jim Brooks and middle guard Ted Taylor.

Austin Peay will return all but two of its starters and will be a strong contender. The Govs will feature the highly regarded passing team of quarterback Dennis Dyer and Harold Roberts, the league's leading receiver.

East Tennessee will figure prominently in the race as all but four players are back. The Bucs will be led by quarterback Larry Graham, tailback Pat Hauser, and linebackers Doug Linebarger and Bubba Timms. Morehead State will be a threat with running back Lewis Rogan and flanker Maurice Hollingsworth.

Tennessee Tech will definitely be moving up. The Eagles have plenty of experience plus the conference rushing champ, Larry Schreiber.

Murray State will have to develop a passer to go with such outstanding receivers as Billy Hess, Jack Wolf and Russ Hake. Western Kentucky should have offensive balance with great runner Ike Brown, quarterback Johnny Vance, and ace receiver Jay Davis.

Middle Tennessee will be without coach Bubber Murphy for the first time in 23 years but the new coach will find enough talent remaining to give the Blue Raiders a say in the race.

It is difficult to overlook four consecutive championships and victory in 34 of 35 games, therefore, Morgan State gets the nod for this year's CIAA race, providing coach Earl Banks finds replacements for an entire starting offensive backfield and all-CIAA defensive back Ed Hayes.

If Morgan State can't mend the leaks, North Carolina A&T will be a shoo-in for the crown. The Aggies wound up with a surprising 8-1 record and coach Hornsby Howell is optimistic with the return of quarterback Stanley Jacobs, end Willie Wright and all-league defensive back Merl Code.

The outlook is loaded with question marks at Maryland State, where speed is needed on the defensive line. North Carolina College's defense looks even better than last season when it led the CIAA in practically every category. The bulwarks are Douglas Wilkerson (6-4, 240) and Russell Price (6-5, 260).

Johnson C. Smith took its lumps last season but has the makings of a championship team. The same holds true for Virginia State.

Centre's Praying Colonels, co-champions last year, are the team to beat in CAC. Most of '68 team returns, including quarterback Paul Ethridge, fullback Steve Campbell, receivers Marty Takacs and Doug Eaton, defensive standouts Mike Easley and Stan Peskoe, and linemen Tony Hohmann and John Henshaw.

Co-champion Southwestern, hit hard by graduation, and Sewanee are rebuilding. Fine pass-catcher Randy Mullins plus defensive stalwarts Dick Heien and John Churchill return at Southwestern. Commencement also hurt Sewanee, but returning is fullback Nathaniel (Bubba) Owens, team's rushing leader for two years, enough to make coach Shirley Majors smile.

Washington & Lee boasts runner Joe Dozier, fine blocker Doug Gossman, excellent linemen Tom McJunkin, Thunder Thornton and linebacking brothers Dean and Drew Kumpuris. But quarterback continues a problem.

Don't look for Washington University to repeat as conference doormat, as almost entire team returns. The Bears will pass a lot, with Ron Prentice and Jim Palermo throwing, and Kerry Drulis and Bob Olson receiving. Ed Kelly, all-CAC tackle for two years, returns, along with linebackers Jim Matthews and Greg Glass, backs Gary Meredith, Dan Riggs and Gary DeGraff.

Everyone will take aim at Randolph-Macon in the Mason-Dixon this fall, including Towson State, which moves up to a varsity schedule this year.

In finishing undefeated and winning its third loop title in four years, Randolph-Macon uncovered sophomore Howard Stevens, the league's MVP. The Yellow Jackets appear too experienced to be dethroned.

Bridgewater made excellent strides after John Spencer took over as coach in 1968. From a 2-6 record in 1967, the Eagles finished 5-3 and lost only to Randolph-Macon in the league. Johns Hopkins, 7-2 over-all last year, can't hope to replace R-M as champ because it doesn't play enough games.

Western Maryland could enjoy a fine campaign if an adequate replacement is found for back Jerry Borga. Coach Roger Parker expects an improved team at Shepherd and Hampden-Sydney, hampered by inconsistency last year, may be the surprise of the conference.

Reigning Bucks Buck Post-Bowl Hex In Quest Of '69's Centennial Crown

By JERRY LISKA

*Midwest Sports Editor, The Associated Press
Past President [1961], Football Writers' Association of America*

In this Centennial season of college football, it probably seems to rival Big Ten coaches that Wayne Woodrow (Woody) Hayes has been around all of those 100 years. But this one makes it only 19 years for the dean of Big Ten mentors and last season's Coach-Of-The-Year choice by the Football Writers' Association of America.

Between homilies ranging from the Greek Wars to his scorn of la dolce vita for America's youth, Woody Hayes led Ohio State's 1968 Buckeyes to the National, Big Ten and Rose Bowl titles. And he did it with perhaps the most skilled crop of sophomores the game ever saw.

HOUDINI IS ON THE OHIO STATE ROSTER under the name of Rex Kern, the sleight-of-hand quarterback who beguiled the TV cameramen as much as Southern California's Trojans in rallying the Buckeyes to a 27-16 Rose Bowl victory last New Year's Day.

The magical Kern, who defies a steady infliction of injuries, is back along with such other superb 1968 Buckeye sophomores as John Tatum, a gifted rover back, jet backs Leophus Hayden and Larry Zelina, and Jim Stillwagon, one of the finest middle guards in Ohio State history.

In all, Hayes has 18 Ohio State regulars—10 on defense and eight on offense—returning from the amazing "green" club which stunned mighty Purdue, 13-0, on Oct. 12 last year and then ripened for an ultimate 10-0 record.

Jerry Liska, a former Marquette University athlete, has been Midwest Sports Editor of The Associated Press since 1956. He played for Marquette in the early 1930s as a 168-pound end.

Liska's beat has included Olympic Games and the whole range of major national sports fixtures, from World Series to Rose Bowl. In 1960, he was honored with Marquette's "By-Line Award," presented annually to graduates who have achieved success in the journalistic field. A native of Chicago, Liska joined the AP at Lansing, Mich., in 1941 and three years later became a full-time sports scribe for the wire service.

MISSING WILL BE both devastating offensive tackles, Dave Foley and Rufus Mayes, but the fast, deep and slick 1969 Ohio State squad also has a half-dozen sharp sophs.

A Rose Bowl encore is prohibited by the Big Ten, but all signs point toward Hayes cooking up another national conference title bid and averting the traditional post-Rose Bowl collapse by Big Ten teams.

Since the current Rose Bowl series began 22 years ago, only three Big Ten representatives won the conference title the following season. They were Michigan in 1948; Ohio State in 1955; and Michigan State in 1966.

COACH DUFFY DAUGHERTY OF MICHIGAN STATE, whose Spartans this year loom a strong sleeper threat to Ohio State, has figured the Rose Bowl let-down deflates a Big Ten team to an average fifth place finish.

While everything should come up Buckeyes, if not Roses, for Ohio State this Centennial campaign, three other nationally ranked Midwest powers of 1968 have been stripped of really big guns.

Independent Notre Dame (7-2-1) has lost the greatest passing tandem in Irish history, Terry Hanratty-to-Jim Seymour. Purdue (8-2), the Big Ten's perennial powerhouse, is minus Mr. Everything, Leroy Keyes, and underrated fullback Perry Williams.

GONE FROM MICHIGAN (8-2), the Big Ten's 1968 runnerup to Ohio State, is the dynamic duo of halfback Ron Johnson and quarterback Dennis Brown.

Notre Dame's graduation of nine starting seniors on offense has exactly reversed the 1968 problem of Ara Parseghian, starting his sixth Irish season with a remarkable composite record of 40-7-3.

A year ago, Parseghian had to replace seven defensive starters, a shortcoming keenly felt in the early, but stinging and pivotal defeat by Purdue, 37-22, the second Saturday of the 1968 season.

But last year, Notre Dame still had standout defensive coach Johnny Ray, Parseghian's No. 1 aide who now is head coach at Kentucky.

NOTRE DAME'S LOSS OF HANRATTY was cushioned late last season when a talented sophomore, Joe Theismann, brilliantly supplanted the injured Hanratty in the final three games.

With nine defensive regulars back, it may be good field, no hit for the 1969 Irish. In its first five games, Notre Dame meets Purdue, Michigan State and Southern Cal—which should just about tell the Irish story.

The Big Ten chase after Ohio State may find Michigan, under new coach Glenn (Bo) Schembechler, and talent-shorn Purdue yielding to Michigan State, Indiana and Iowa as top challengers.

Schembechler, following the Miami of Ohio coaching trail to major powers, must take up where resigned Chalmers (Bump) Elliott left off, a 1968 windup walloping by Ohio State in a heralded showdown.

Elliott, now Michigan's associate AD, left 14 regulars to Schembechler, whose predecessors at Miami were Johnny Pont of Indiana, Parseghian and Hayes—among the elite who have emerged from that "Cradle of Coaches."

SCHEMBECHLER NEVER HAD A LOSING SEASON in six years at Miami. It will be difficult, though, to improve on Elliott's farewell 6-1 Big Ten season without Johnson and Brown, who consistently came up with the big play.

Key Wolverines will be tight end Jim Mandich, offensive tackle Dan Dierdorf, and safety Tom Curtis. Sophomore prospects include Bruce Elliott, son of former Illinois coach Pete Elliott and nephew of Bump.

Big Ten rivals will keep an eye on Michigan State, which last year wound up a deceiving seventh with a 2-5 loop record.

Daugherty's Spartans are coming back with a young, eager bunch which last year defeated Notre Dame, 21-17, and lost to Ohio State (25-20); Indiana (24-22); Minnesota (14-13); and Purdue (9-0) in contests that easily could have gone the other way.

MICHIGAN STATE'S BILL TRIPLETT was one of five sophomore quarterbacks among the Big Ten's top 10 passers last season. The others were Larry Lawrence, who could lead a continuing Iowa resurgence; Kern and Ron Maciejowski of Ohio State, and Dave Shelbourne of Northwestern.

Daugherty has 32 returning Spartan lettermen, led by linebacker Rich

FREE-FOR-ALL—This riotous scene is just an extemporaneous, on-the-field celebration by Iowa players (dark jerseys) moments after their 1968 season-opening upset of heavily favored Oregon State, 21-20. It was a high spot of Hawks' 5-5 campaign.

Saul, tight end Frank Foreman and running back Tommy Love. But Duffy must replace almost an entire defensive backfield, including Al Brenner.

Purdue still has one of the nation's better quarterbacks in Mike Phipps. But it will be the first time in four seasons the experts can't claim coach Jack Mollenkopf holds the Keyes to the Big Ten throne room.

The 63-year old Boilermaker boss also lost heavily in offensive linemen and running backs, and like Parseghian, has a revised coaching staff.

INDIANA IS ELIGIBLE TO RETURN to the Rose Bowl this season and peppery Johnny Pont insists his Hoosiers will repeat their Pasadena visit of two years ago. Pont's Cinderella Kids of 1967, including quarterback Harry Conso; halfback John Isenbarger and flanker Jade Butcher, now are seniors.

The Hoosiers last season fell off to a Big Ten tie with Iowa for fifth mainly because of injuries, and Pont has a bumper sophomore crop.

For reviving Iowa's Ray Nagel, this could be the year of Big Ten revenge. The former Utah coach took his conference lumps until last midseason, when he put real sting in the Hawkeye attack by inserting frisky soph Lawrence at quarterback to utilize a double pass-run threat.

Nagel has 34 returning lettermen and has the once doormat Hawkeyes thinking positive. The zip still should be there, hubbed around the clever Lawrence; fullback Tim Sullivan; tight end Ray Manning; tailbacks Dennis Green and Bill Powell; and offensive guard Jon Meskimen.

IOWA ALSO GETS A BIG SCHEDULE BREAK, not facing national champion Ohio State this fall, although the Buckeyes had plenty trouble subduing the free-wheeling Hawkeyes, 33-27, late in the 1968 campaign.

Minnesota came on with a typical Murray Warmath-guided strong finish in 1968, defeating Purdue, Indiana and Wisconsin in its final three games.

The Gophers return for Warmath's 16th season with their best power running in many seasons, led by 224-pound Jim Carter and 215-pound Barry Mayer, but face wholesale rebuilding of offensive and defensive lines. Among 13 returning starters is Phil Hagen, who played musical chairs at quarterback the past two seasons and finally may be No. 1.

Illinois improvement without fullback Rich Johnson and quarterback Bob Naponic seems doubtful. Coach Jim Valek, starting his third season since the Illini slush fund scandal, has nine offensive starters returning but has big defensive gaps. Juniors Bob Burns and Steve Brehmer and no fewer than five sophs figure in the quarterback scrap.

Northwestern's Alex Agase also faces a reconstruction season, losing 12 starters from a Wildcat club skinned for a 1-9 record in a suicide 1968 schedule. On successive Saturdays, Northwestern took on Southern California, Purdue, Notre Dame and Ohio State. Quarterback Shelbourne and his five top receivers of last season are back, along with four veteran linebackers and a good sophomore corps.

At Wisconsin, things couldn't get much worse, with Coach John Coatta still seeking his first victory after an 0-19-1 record for the past two seasons.

New athletic director Elroy (Crazylegs) Hirsch can't do much about this fall's Badger prospects. Six holdover starters on defense and three on offense form the nucleus of a club which may benefit from sharp QB candidate Gary Losse, flanker Mel Reddick and halfback Randy Marks.

Ohio University's Bobcats last season not only swept to the Mid-American Conference title, but became that league's first team ever to place among the nation's top 20 major schools in both wire service polls.

With 15 returnees from the 22 starters who gave coach Bill Hess a perfect 10-0 regular season record, Ohio U. may gild the lily this fall. At least the Bobcats really are putting their prestige on the line, tackling Minnesota and Orange Bowl-champion Penn State.

Cleve Bryant and Todd Snyder, who led Ohio U. to 18th in the final UPI poll and 20th in the AP poll, again provide the air power. Tailback Dave LeVeck is back along with exceptional linebacker Steve Robinson.

IF OHIO U. STUMBLES trying for its third straight Mid-American outright or shared title, Miami of Ohio may do the tripping. With Miami's "coaches supply house" sending Bo Schembechler to Michigan, Bill Mallory becomes the fourth straight Redskin coach to take the head job at his alma mater.

He inherits 29 lettermen, including 10 offensive starters. Standouts are end Gary Arthur, quarterback Kent Thompson, fullback Cleveland Dickerson, tackle Dave Hutchins and defensive end Merv Nugent.

Toledo may be one of the Mid-American loop's better defensive clubs. Coach Frank Lauterbur has a fine nucleus in tackle Jim Rance and defensive backs Curtis Johnson and Dave Penn. Sophomore Chuck Ealey could supplant veteran Steve Jones at quarterback.

Bowling Green State could make a strong run for the MAC title if a secondary jells. The Falcons return quarterback Vern Wireman, good receivers, middle guard Joe Green, and backs Fred Mathews and Roger Murray.

Western Michigan's Broncos have 29 lettermen and Coach Bill Doolittle's key holdover is quarterback Mark Bordeaux, a strong junior passer.

Marshall's Thundering Herd finally may make a little noise this fall after failing to win in a 21-game skein. Coach Perry Moss is banking heavily on talent from the 1968 frosh, unbeaten in five games.

KENT STATE WILL PEG IMPROVEMENT on the best sophomore crop in six years. Bellwether will be 232-pound defensive tackle Jim Corrigan.

Independent Xavier fields a new coach, Irv Eter, and mainly a new team. Jerry Buckmaster, a skilled quarterback, is back along with fullback Dale Mutryn, guard Jerry Pilcavage and linebacker Jerry Mouch.

At Dayton, Coach John McVay also must go back to the drawing board. Among the starters back from last year's club are offensive linemen Dennis Sidebottom, Bill Tant, Mark Ellison, Jim Stangle and Dan Andrick.

Valparaiso, Evansville and Butler are tri-favorites to capture the Indiana Collegiate Conference football crown in 1969.

Valparaiso lost only six members off its 1968 club and has back the league's No. 2 rusher in John Rusert, QB John Mayes and ace receiver Kurt Krueger.

Injuries kept Evansville from making more noise in '68. Twenty-one lettermen are around this year. Butler has 20 lettermen and strong sophomores from an undefeated frosh team. Quarterback Dick Reed returns along with No. 1 receiver Arnold Kirschner and seven of the top eight runners. The Bulldogs need strong defensive improvement, though.

Sophomores are the key at St. Joseph's, where fullback Jerry Coyle and end John Siegel join ICC rushing leader Karl Maio and all-purpose Tom Green at the head of the offense. But there is inexperience at QB.

DePauw lost 13 of its 22 first linemen. It did, however, retain quarterbacks Ron McBride and Roy Pottenger plus all-ICC offensive end Scott Ralston. DePauw's top problems are finding linemen and developing a kicker.

Ripon and Monmouth rank as the top contenders for the 1969 Midwest Conference football title. Ripon is expected to be right in the thick of the battle despite losing three-time all-conference back Al Long. Monmouth will have back Charley Corle, the league's top scorer with 19 touchdowns in '68.

Cornell and St. Olaf could be rugged contenders but both lost top all-conference men who were pivotal links in their offenses.

Coe, which finished the season strongly after a bad start, will be making its bid for the championship behind John Raaz, a senior quarterback who garnered all-conference honors last season.

Alma College will be a heavy favorite to extend its 17-game winning streak and capture its third straight MIAA football title in 1969. The Scots have several all-MIAA players returning, including two-time selections Tom Jakovac (quarterback), Chris Clark (halfback) and John Fuzak (end).

Albion, with a strong running attack led by Jim Bell, should be in a position to offer Alma a serious challenge. Both Olivet and Hope should have improved offenses, and could be tough if they bolster their defenses.

Both Kalamazoo and Adrian are still rebuilding and both need more depth before they can be considered contenders.

Picking the first-place team from 14 candidates in the 1969 Ohio Conference football race will be strictly a guess as each of the four league powerhouses has a major problem which must be solved.

Baldwin-Wallace, which annexed the conference championship last year for the first time since 1937, lost two-thirds of its starting 22 to graduation. Ohio Wesleyan must replace three first-team all-league offensive starters while Wittenberg must do the same on defense.

Of the four teams which have produced undefeated conference records in the last four years, Muskingum suffered the fewest losses although the New Concord school must develop an offense to match its fine defense.

Should the "haves" not have it in 1969, Capital or Marietta could step in to take all the marbles. Wooster, Denison and Mount Union also bear watching along with Kenyon which boasts deluxe receiver Chris Myers.

Otterbein, Oberlin, Heidelberg and Hiram will be looking for improvement. If a guess for first is desired, the pick is Muskingum.

Allegheny veterans include quarterback Mike Ganey, end Colin Smith and defensive back Jay Lewis. End John Gibson and center Joe Kraine lead Thiel's offense and linebacker Mike Donato and end Don Walters head the defense. Bethany stalwarts include Don Waugaman, Ernie Whitted and Paul Krusey.

Defensive back Ed Sandrick of John Carroll and Adelbert guard Andre DeGeorges, lead returnees at their respective schools. Halfback Rich Pocock heads a band of younger players attempting to lift Washington & Jefferson from the lower half of the standings. Close races are the rule in the four-team Interstate Conference, and this season's title chase should be no exception.

Central Michigan has the league's only experienced quarterback in Bob Miles, but the Chippewas must find replacements at tailback and the defensive line.

Illinois State must replace a top tackle and several other offensive linemen, but the Redbirds have an outstanding one-two power punch in league rushing leader Jed Waters and Bruce Cullen. The defense is intact.

Eastern Illinois is searching for a quarterback and if the Panthers can generate an offense, their tough defensive unit headed by linebackers John Allison and Steven Tatum will make them hard to beat. Western Illinois has a fine receiver in Ron Wilson and a mature line led by tackle Tom Johnson.

Wesleyan lost only five starters and Carthage four from 1968 squads. Carroll, Millikin and possibly North Park appear strong contenders, while North Central and Elmhurst seem a year or two away from the top echelon.

Carthage has three all-conference selections, Wesleyan and Augustana two each and Carroll and North Park one apiece.

Oklahoma, Missouri Look Likeliest In Valley Of Retreating Defenses

By FRANK BOGGS

*Columnist, The Oklahoma City Oklahoman
Director, Football Writers' Association of America*

It should be a banner season through the Midlands for souvenir program salesmen. In the Big Eight Conference it will be helpful to thumb through one to find out who's the quarterback. In the Missouri Valley Conference they'll come in handy for figuring out who's the coach.

As is usually the case, however, there seems to be an adequate enough supply of both that the average confused spectator will have no trouble being just as confused in 1969 as he stayed in '68. Even Dunninger likely would have changed his mind a half-dozen times before deciding Oklahoma and Kansas would share the Big Eight title last fall and that Memphis State would celebrate its first season of campaigning in the Mo Valley by knocking North Texas' Eagles off their Rust-y perch.

MAYBE THEY ALWAYS ARE, but coaches in both conferences are deeply concerned with adding more backbone to the defenses. Many of the defensive units approached world records for backing up a year ago, especially the horrid night Tulsa retreated 100 points worth while falling 95 points short of upsetting Houston.

The spectators, naturally, don't look at the situation same as coaches. They sort of enjoyed being witness to a series of offensive explosions. They credit the offense rather than discredit the defense, and perhaps that's the right way to analyze the souped-up picture.

Many, many of last year's NCAA statistical leaders will be back, which is just the first hint that more coaches who tend the defenses will wind up rubbing that black stuff on their hair instead of under the players' eyes.

CINCINNATI RETURNS Jim O'Brien, a truly fine end who scored so many touchdowns last fall (12) and so many extra points (31) and so many field goals (13) that he wound up as Veteran Oklahoma journalist Frank Boggs has been covering football since deciding that was easier than playing it — which now adds up to several years.

Before becoming sports columnist of The Daily Oklahoman in Oklahoma City, Boggs worked for the Topeka (Kan.) Daily Capital, The Dallas Times Herald and The San Diego Tribune.

He's been voted Oklahoma's sports writer-of-the-year five times, and twice has had articles published in "Best Sports Stories."

The Football Writers' Association of America director is married and has two children and a canine companion.

BY AIR, SPECIAL DELIVERY—Kansas State quarterback Bill Dickey delivers one of his Big Eight soph-record 125 completions, over screen by Ron Stevens (52), Davis Cornelius (30) and Jim Carver, holding at bay Kansas defender Vernon Vanoy.

the nation's scoring leader with 142 points.

Oklahoma returns tailback Steve Owens, who would gain at least three yards running into the Berlin Wall. He rushed for 1,536 yards for Chuck Fairbanks' Sooners and there will be great weeping and wailing around Norman if the handsome senior is not rewarded with Mr. Heisman's trophy. Owens scored 21 touchdowns last season to trail only O'Brien and Southern California's O. J. Simpson in the individual point derby.

OTHER EXCEPTIONAL RUNNERS hopeful of repeat performances, or better, are North Texas' Leo Taylor, who ran for 1,017 yards, and Wichita's Pete Robertson, who gained 891 with a team that didn't beat anybody.

North Texas' Steve Ramsey passed for 2,516 yards to rank fifth nationally in that category. And Kansas State, which made handsome strides toward respectability with last year's 4-6 finish, returns deluxe kickoff returner Mack Herron, who runs like maybe he was named after those trucks.

So, from an individual standpoint, there is no reason to think the Big Eight and Missouri Valley won't supply the statistical charts with another generous number of names.

It's from the team standpoint, that confusion can be expected.

In the Big Eight, it is easier to figure which teams won't win the crown than which one, or ones, will. Iowa State, Oklahoma State and Kansas State shouldn't, although there are kind things to say of each.

NEBRASKA SURELY WILL BE BETTER, but Coach Bob Devaney must solve a quarterback puzzle. Kansas, which has come on stronger than garlic the last two years under fiery Pepper Rodgers, lost some mighty important folks—like quarterback Bobby Douglass—and, on paper, does not appear the team you'd bet the house on to win everything.

Colorado returns quarterback Bob Anderson, who set a Big Eight offense record last season with 2,128 yards. But the Buffs gave up an awfully lot of yards and must quit that if they are to be best.

THAT LEAVES OKLAHOMA AND MISSOURI. Either could win the prize without causing any shock waves. That pair, plus Kansas, served as the league's bowl representatives when last fall's regular firing subsided.

The Sooners were nosed out by Southern Methodist in a 28-27 Astro-Bluebonnet Bowl spectacular that proved conclusively the plastic roof of Houston's Astrodome is made of good stuff. Kansas set itself up to serve as the butt of 12-man team jokes for years to come when the Jayhawks were penalized for having that many men around at the wild finish of that 15-14 loss to Penn State in the Orange Bowl. Missouri wisely didn't involve itself in anything so dramatic as all that. The Tigers went out and whacked Alabama, 35-10, in the Gator Bowl.

"We've got a rebuilding job to do," says Oklahoma's Fairbanks, but successful coaches always say that. It's part of a long play record they keep handy. "Offensively, we have to find a replacement for our quarterback, Bob Warmack. He started 32 games for us. We also lost a great one in wingback Eddie Hinton, plus other key starters."

WHICH IS ALL QUITE TRUE. But the Sooners are not destitute. Losing Warmack wouldn't gladden any coach's heart, because he accomplished about all a quarterback can. The replacement will be a sophomore, but said to be one of the more capable young fellows in the land.

He's Jack Mildren, who was looked upon in his home state of Texas as one of the greatest discoveries since oil. He is an excellent passer, a dangerous runner, a solid student and, so his teammates say, an exceptional leader. Another soph of importance is Roy Bell, a running back. Another is John Shelley, a wingback.

Add all that talent to what's left—and don't forget that what's left includes Mr. Owens—and the Sooners could well possess the best offensive punch in the conference.

Dan Devine just never, never puts forth a Missouri team that's any push-over. This could be one of the Tigers' better efforts. Quarterback Terry SITTING DUCK—North Texas State defenders Roy Humphrey (52) and James Ivy (45) dive for easy mark left by Cincinnati fumble that led to first score in 55-34 NTS romp. Others are Charles Beatty (43), Wes Ballou (71) and Cincinnati's Terry Rowe.

McMillan, wingback Jon Staggers and fullback James Harrison lack little. Oversized (6-4, 238) Harrison, an alternate at fullback last year, will get a trial run at tailback. Staggers, the top receiver during last fall's 8-3 run, will be the tailback when Missouri switches to the Power I formation which dealt Alabama such misery.

The Tigers suffered more personnel losses defensively than on offense. A major loss was safety Roger Wehrli, a consensus All-American.

Don't count out Kansas, even with Douglass having departed. ("The Jayhawks still have 12 good players," somebody said.) Among them are John Riggins, the Big Eight's sophomore back-of-the-year. He averaged 6.2 yards per carry. Mike Reeves, who subbed for Riggins, might switch to tailback because he's too capable not to have a job.

Linebacker Emery Hicks and 280-pound tackle Karl Salb, 215-pound middle guard Al Jakobic and 225-pound end Steve Carmichael will make the defense downright ornery. Bill Bell, an excellent punter and kicker of extra points and field goals, puts the kicking game in splendid shape.

Much of the burden will be carried by Jim Ettinger, the likely quarterback replacement for Douglass. The son of Red Ettinger, a standout Kansas tackle in the late forties, Jim has backed up Douglass the last two seasons. He's a competitor who thrives on being assigned duties.

For the first time, Colorado's Eddie Crowder has gathered some beefy junior college transfers in an attempt to plug a defense which yielded 386 yards and about 25 points per game last fall. The Buffs will lean heavily on FOOT RACE—It was like this all day against Indiana for Kansas' Donnie Shanklin, shown hotfooting away from Nate Cunningham (22). The Jayhawk wingback carried 13 times against the Hoosiers for 317 yards and touchdown runs of 54, 65 and 65 yards TOAST OF THE TOWN is Cincinnati end Jim O'Brien, after his 47-yard field goal as time ran out snatched 23-21 victory from Miami of Ohio in Bearcats' season-ending game. O'Brien's 11 points in the game also earned him national scoring championship.

Anderson, but he's good to lean against. Colorado returns its top eight receivers, headed by split end Monte Huber (38 for 462 yards) and slotback Mike Pruett (22 for 281) and fullback Ward Walsh (13 for 136). Steve Engel and Walsh supply the running savvy.

Nebraska finished 6-4 last time but that's no longer good by Nebraska standards. The Huskers graduated quarterback Ernie Sigler but Frank Patrick, whom Sigler had beaten out, has a year left.

A bright spot is the return of halfback Joe Orduna, a powerful runner. The chief problem is restoring order to the defensive unit, where the presence of back Dana Stephenson and linebacker Ken Geddes will make new defensive coach Monte Kiffin's task easier.

IOWA STATE HEADS INTO COACH JOHNNY MAJORS' second term with 33 returning lettermen, so the Cyclones possess deeper experience than anytime in years. They need to fill the vacancy left by quarterback John Warder and likely will find it in Obert Tisdale. Jeff Allen, at wingback last fall when he specialized in kickoff returns, will be shifted to tailback.

Kansas State has become quite spirited, under gravel-voiced Vince Gibson. The Wildcats finished 4-6 in '68, which is like some schools finishing 10-0. They return 16 starters—eight each way.

Lynn Dickey, although not starting four games, threw for 1,569 yards and eight touchdowns in becoming the most successful passing sophomore quarterback in Big Eight history. Herron is an exciting runner and Gibson is high on defensive guard John Stucky.

The only coaching change in the Big Eight is at Oklahoma State where angry alumni ousted Phil Cutchin and brought in alumnus Floyd Gass, veteran coach at little Austin College in Sherman, Texas. Gass intends to try all the offensive tricks known to man, and then some. He probably will call on senior Robert Cutburth to quarterback the various formations.

IN THE MISSOURI VALLEY, coaching changes were commonplace. Homer Rice left Cincinnati to become athletic director at North Carolina and Ray Callahan was promoted from Rice's staff. Glenn Dobbs "retired" to fulltime AD at Tulsa and brought in veteran Michigan State aide Vince Carillot. Ben Wilson is the new boss at Wichita State, which was winless last season under Eddie Kriwiell. And Louisville veteran Frank Camp will devote all his time to athletic directing with Lee Corso, 33-year old former Navy assistant, taking over the coaching.

So, the only holdovers are veteran Spook Murphy, whose Memphis Staters batted 5-0 in their first year of conference play and North Texas's Rod Rust, who has glued together 7-1-1 and 8-2 seasons so far.

North Texas, which calls itself the "Mean Green" these days, just might be again. "If we can put a defense together we should have another good team," says Rust. He knows he has a winner in Ramsey at quarterback.

The aforementioned O'Brien is Cincinnati's biggest Bearcat. The Ohioans led the nation in passing last year and six of the offensive starters are back. Jim Ousley is a likely replacement for quarterback Greg Cook.

Fifteen of 22 starters return to Memphis State so the Tigers are long on experience for their crown defense. The toughest chore will be plugging holes on defense. The backfield of Ray Jamieson, Jay McCoy, Preston Riley and quarterbacks Rick Thurow and Danny Pierce all return.

Tulsa wouldn't be Tulsa without a passing attack. Carillot says he likes that way of life and will use a multiple offense. Tailback Les Rogers and tackle Bernie Botheroyd are standouts on offense with linebacker Luke Blair and cornerback Doug Wyatt defenders of note.

Wichita State figures things can't get worse than last season. Twenty-seven lettermen return, 17 of whom were sophs during the 0-10 drudgery. Noseguard Lynn Duncan is being counted on to head up a defensive unit the Shockers must improve before threatening.

Oscar Brohm will be counted on to quarterback Louisville's passing attack. He played little last year but fortunately will have the Cardinals' top receiver returning in Larry Hart, who caught 25 for 375 yards. In all, 29 lettermen are available to Corso.

There may be more balance in the MIAA in 1969 with improved teams at Northeast Missouri State College and Central Missouri to contend with defending conference champion Southeast Missouri.

Experienced quarterbacks return at every school, including Greg Schroeder, Southeast, and Steve Eckinger, Central, who tied for all-conference team honors. Schroeder threw for 1372 yards and eight touchdowns, while Eckinger had 1310 yards and 12 TDs.

Southwest Missouri lost its entire backfield, including all-conference fullback Mike Howell. Southwest, however, will return Bill Helfrecht, a promising prospect at either fullback or tailback.

Northwest Missouri and the University of Missouri at Rolla, probably the most improved team in '68, will be spoilers.

North Dakota State, 1968's No. 1 College Division football team, is looking for its sixth straight North Central Conference title but the sledding may be a little tougher in college football's 100th year.

South Dakota, ranked eighth in the nation last year, may be the reason. It lost only to North Dakota State in 10 games and still looks hungry.

North Dakota State will be loaded on offense with nine starters returning, including the entire backfield headed by first team Little All-America Paul Hatchett. The defense may be hurting with eight starters gone.

South Dakota returns a potent offense and one of the finest offensive tackles in the nation in 6-6, 255-pound John Kohler, another Little All-America. All but one offensive back returns with quarterback Jim Foster and halfback Bob Koch the prime threats. USD's biggest losses also were on defense.

Northern Iowa lost a top offensive back but has standout runners in fullback Dennis Kettner and Jim Wagner. Heaviest losses were in the offensive line. Nine starters are back on defense.

North Dakota has three outstanding quarterbacks in the fold and picks up badly needed running power from Terry Skogmo. The defense was hurt by graduation but still has all-league Pete Gilbert. Three prime receivers headed by Pat Kenney help make the pass-minded Sioux a darkhorse.

New South Dakota State coach Dave Kragthorpe only has one offensive back and needs to replace both guards. He lost little on defense.

Morningside also is looking for a quarterback and may have one in Mike Junk. Strong is the offensive line with four starters back.

Augustana lost only seven men but they included quality performers. Best returnees are Lee Brandt, Gerald Tietje, Mike Daly and Roger Olson.

The Southwest [NCAA District 6]

No Centennial Cease Fire Foreseen In Long-Time Texas-Arkansas Feud

By BLACKIE SHERROD

*Sports Columnist, The Dallas Times-Herald
Past President [1963], Football Writers' Association of America*

For a brief two years there, the mold was broken. The Southwest Conference bolted from its established pattern and eyebrows were sprained everywhere the twang is spoken. It had become custom each December for conference fathers to yawn and hand the trophy to Texas or Arkansas. Any other who dared show up at the throne room was arrested for impersonation.

Darrell Royal at Texas and Frank Broyles at Arkansas had developed their feud into a monopoly rivaling Mafia. It began a decade ago when the two friendly foes were junior executives in the conference. For seven years either the Longhorns or the Razorbacks won or shared the title. Three times, it was a dead heat between them. Their annual match was a bloodletting of the first degree and was considered the Southwest redletter day even though it always came early in the season.

THEN ALONG CAME SOUTHERN METHODIST three years ago, with a little miracle worker named Jerry Levias, and squeezed into the championship picture. The next year, the Texas Aggies shoved to the front. Southwest-ers couldn't have been more shocked if the Sioux beat John Wayne.

Last season, however, the conference reverted to its accustomed form. Texas and Arkansas again tied for the Southwest marbles, with identical 6-1 records, a couple laps ahead of anybody else. And few citizens see any reason to change the forecast for the 1969 season.

Southern Methodist, with its surprise soph passer Chuck Hixson, finished third last year and most will accord the same spot to the Mustangs this year. Texas Tech finished fourth and don't change it, baby. Everything in the Southwest, at least pre-seasonally, looks like a repeat act.

ODDS AGAINST THIS happening are approximately the same as Jackie Gleason climbing the Matterhorn with Phil Harris slung un-

Quality sports writing has been a long-time habit of Blackie Sherrod, the much-honored columnist of The Dallas Times Herald.

Sherrod has won virtually every available writing honor, including the 1962 National Headliner award for America's consistently outstanding sports column.

His articles have been reproduced in 11 of the last 12 "Best Sports Stories" anthologies. He also was a co-author with Texas coach Darrell Royal of a best-selling football book.

Sherrod is a popular banquet speaker and has his own TV-radio football programs. His alma mater is Howard Payne College in Texas.

der his jowls, but the cold clinical figures can predict it no other way. If you fed all the rosters and records into a computer, you get back a card: Are you kidding? Texas and Arkansas look like biggest cinch since Batman.

YOU MAY LIKEWISE EXPECT the Southwest to furnish at least three bowl teams, just as last year. The conference beamed proudly under a clean sweep, with Texas mauling Tennessee, 36-13, in the Cotton Bowl; Arkansas beating Georgia, 16-2, in the Sugar Bowl; and SMU shading Oklahoma, 28-27, in the Astro-Bluebonnet thriller.

Past history wouldn't ordinarily occupy this much space in a future roundup, except the names and faces are mostly the same. Texas and Arkansas lost a few guys, sure, but you have to look hard to notice. Chris Gilbert, the skittering Texas halfback who broke all league rushing records, would be a crippling loss in most circumstances. But Royal's problem is selecting which of several highly promising runners to replace Gilbert.

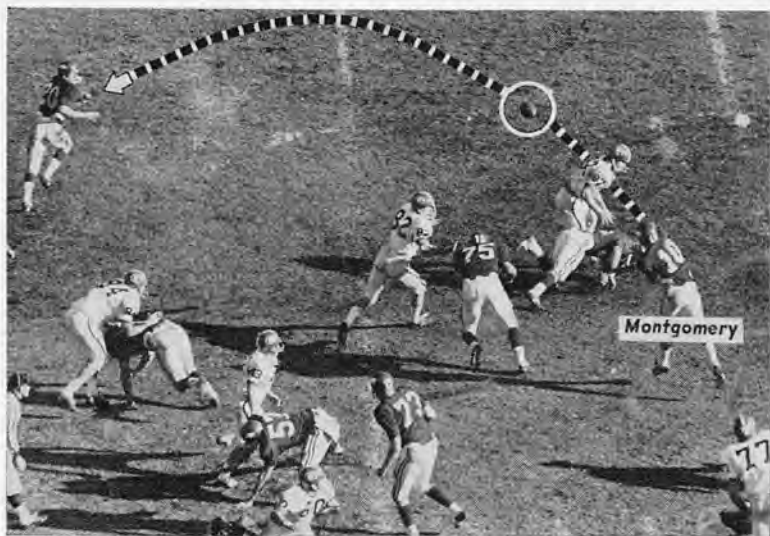

THE TELEVISION FOLK took one inspection of the Southwest race and got to work with their levers and wrenches. ABC persuaded Texas and Arkansas, usually meeting in mid-October, to shift their date to Dec. 6 for benefit of a national audience. The network pointed out in its usual rosy glassed approach, that the game might not only settle the Southwest title, but it could well pit two unbeaten teams on the last day of the season. If so, the national championship could be at stake, and, prithee, ain't that a dainty dish to set before a prospective sponsor?

As far as remaining unbeaten, neither team has a backbreaking non-conference schedule, although Texas has a far tougher one than Arkansas. The Longhorns meet Oklahoma, of course, in the annual Dallas war, and California and Navy. Arkansas plays Oklahoma State, Tulsa and Wichita State.

TEXAS LOST SEVEN STARTERS from that punishing crew of last year. Gilbert heads the list of absentees, of course, and you do not replace him any more than you do Sophia Loren. You simply look for help in another direction. Say, Wisconsin. That's the home state of Jim Bertelsen, a fleet 200-pounder who shattered all the freshmen rushing records. The soph is not of the Gilbert style; he's more power than evasion. But as such, he could make the forceful Texas running attack from the Wishbone T even more physically brutal. Steve Worster and Ted Koy, both big burly rascals, are the returning runners. And they both block like guards. Should Bertelsen prove too raw, there are lettermen Billy Dale, Johnny Robinson and Bobby Callison to compete for the job.

SHOOTING THE GAP created in Baylor line by his teammates' blocking is Texas fullback Steve Worster. Bears' David Jones (89) at least got to see Worster go by, which is more than buried defender at left could say. It was 47-26 Steer stampede.

AERIAL PARABOLA—The dotted line didn't do it, but Arkansas' Bill Montgomery did—put the ball into arms of Chuck Dicus, that is, despite efforts of Georgia's Lee Daniel (82) and Billy Payne (87). Razorbacks upset Bulldogs in Sugar Bowl, 16-2.

James Street, who replaced Bill Bradley as quarterback the third weekend last year, has never lost a game as a starter. He's a quick scamp who loves that off-tackle option so popular in the Texas offense.

Royal must find secondary replacements for Bradley and Ronnie Ehrig. But up front, the Longhorn defenders have plenty muscle in Leo Brooks and Bill Atessis, a couple of tall 245-pounders, and some seasoned linebackers.

ARKANSAS RETURNS 37 LETTERMEN, most in Broyles' dozen years there. The Razorbacks switched last year to a pro-type offense and the lads who made it go—quarterback Bill Montgomery, flanker Chuck Dicus and halfback Bill Burnett—are still very much in evidence. The Porkers are not strictly pass-happy, as is SMU most of the time, but Montgomery hits on nearly 60 per cent of his shots and Dicus can turn double flipflops and catch them with his ears. And if you're running a future book, all three of these youngsters are just juniors.

The entire Arkansas defensive line, including linebackers, returns and this was the leading defense against rushing last season. Like Texas, the Porkers must find a couple of deep defenders and an over-all improvement in pass defense. They ranked last in that department.

Of SMU's four-pronged offense last season, two prongs are back. Hixson, the nation's leading passer as a soph, has his old harness, as does Ken Fleming, the tight end who ranked just behind Levias among conference receivers. Hayden Fry will try to work Gordon Gilder, a deceptive soph runner, in the offense, along with Gary Hammond, a quarterback who might be forced into other pursuits by Hixson's active arm. Once again, the SMU line will be one of the best pass protecting outfits in the country.

TEXAS TECH SHOULD HAVE ONE OF THE TOP BACKFIELDS, with quarterbacks Joe Matulich, Tom Sawyer and Lane Wade. Sawyer may see some halfback duty, along with regular Jimmy Bennett, shifty Danny Hardaway and break-away runner Larry Hargrave. Big, strong Tony Butler is the fullback.

Texas A&M, riddled by injuries in its repeat attempt last year, was further punctured by graduation. Gene Stallings' foremost fret is finding a quarterback to replace Edd Hargett. He may switch Barney Harris, a split end who played quarterback in high school. Tailback Larry Stegent returns, but the gaps left may make this a year of experimentation.

Long in search of quarterbacking, TCU coach Fred Taylor may turn to soph Steve Judy, a doublethreatener. Quick-starting Norm Bulaich, 220-pounder, is the Frog workhorse. Receiver Linzy Cole is trouble, if someone can get the ball to him. Guard James Ray should be one of the best.

Quarterback Robby Shelton is gone from the Rice ranks, but two hotshot sophs, Phillip Wood and Stahle Vincent, are just starting. Tony Conley was a respected rusher for the winless Owls last year and Larry Davis is a top end. But Rice must get help from an above-average frosh crop.

BILL BEALL, THE CONFERENCE'S ONLY NEW COACH, spent all spring and summer re-evaluating the Baylor talent. Defensively, he can call on 10 starters if he chooses, among them a large determined linebacker, Brian Blessing. Perhaps the conference's leading All-America candidate, or should be, is 6-5, 235-pound offensive tackle Richard Stevens. Steve Stuart returns at quarterback, a position he won during the course of the season, along with outstanding rusher Gene Rogers.

The area's leading independent, Houston, was the country's best offensive team last year and could challenge for the title again despite loss of fullback Paul Gipson and halfback Carlos Bell, a spring scholastic casualty. Quarterback Ken Bailey heads the attack that features end Elmo Wright, who broke school receiving records as a soph.

West Texas State, minus halfback Mercury Morris, will start a reconstruction project, hoping for help from 13 junior college transfers. New Mexico State once again will have an explosive offense, built around Ron Poe James and Lynn Martin. Quarterback is a question.

For the first time since its birth in 1964, the Southland Conference football run will be without a distinct championship favorite this season.

A three-team chase looms and Arkansas State is the kingpin until relegated otherwise. Quarterback James Hamilton, ably supported by all-conference tackle Jackie Smith, center Dan Buckley and tackle Clovis Swinney, the league's defensive player of the year, are quality holdovers.

Jim Lindsey, whizbang Abilene Christian quarterback, has established the Wildcats as definite threats. He was the 1968 college division passing leader. Also back is one of his favorite receivers, Pat Holder (61 catches for 616 yards) and premier linebacker Chip Bennett.

University of Texas at Arlington won't despair despite some key losses. The Rebels have potent attacking weapons. Trinity and Lamar Tech are of questionable strength. Trinity, long noted for defensive efficiency, appears to have something cooking offense-wise with passing standout Lionel Garza. Lamar Tech, winless in '68, continues rebuilding.

Grambling, finishing in a 1968 tie along with Alcorn and Texas Southern, was in the Southwestern Athletic Conference throne room for the fourth straight year and is the team to beat in '69. Others feel Alcorn may take it all, so the opening contest between the two teams (at Alcorn) may well determine the championship.

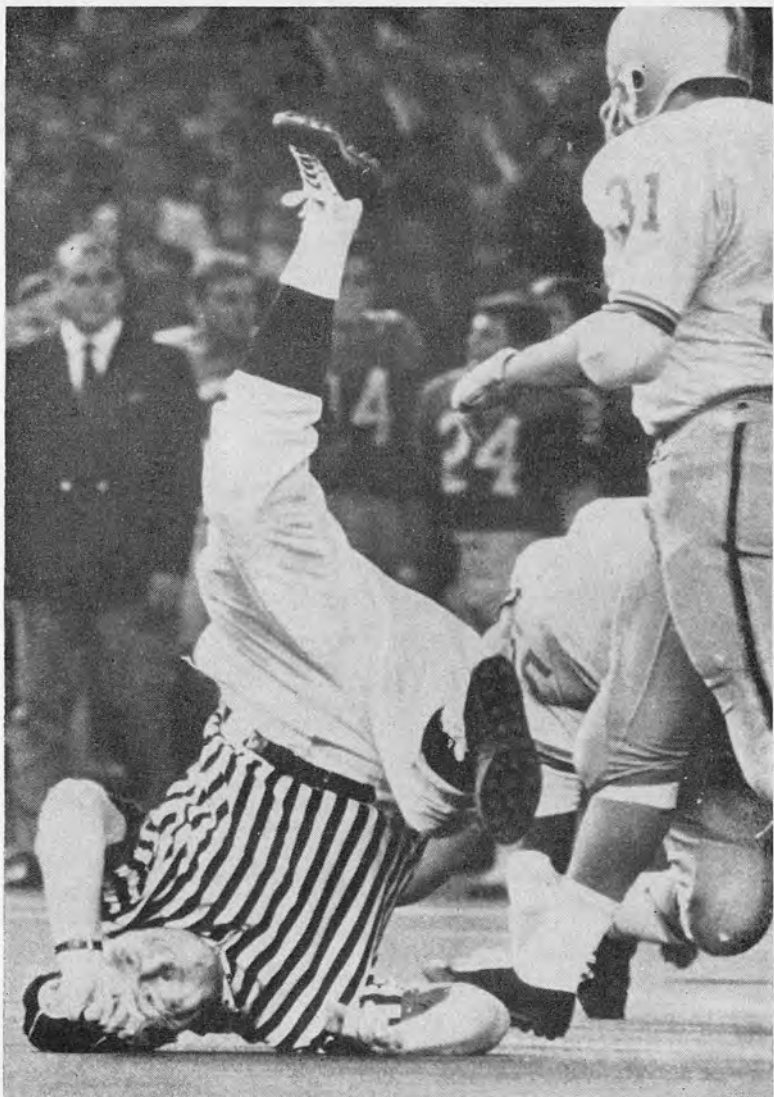

Much unrest among coaches hamper forecasts. Bob Smith has resigned at Southern, and more switches are possible. Alcorn returns as many quality players as anyone in the league. Marvin Weeks gets the nod as the best quarterback, and the team with the best QB usually wins.

Texas Southern, with David Mays and Ken Burroughs, represents the top air threat. Mays, a sensation as a frosh, had a so-so year in 1968, but finished second in scoring and his kicking kept opponents in a hole.

Arkansas AM&N must shake the injury jinx, which loomed large in '68. Prairie View, Jackson, Southern and Wiley all had losing seasons, but played the top four within a touchdown. It's close from top to bottom in '69.

High Country Foes Begin To Wonder If Cowboys Aren't Glued To Saddle

By JOHN MOONEY

Sports Editor, The Salt Lake City Tribune

First Vice-President, Football Writers' Association of America

After steam rolling opponents en route to two championships, Wyoming backed into the Western Athletic Conference throne room in 1968, and this year, the only question is "how" the Pokes will manage to win.

The Cowboys had their 16-game WAC winning streak snapped by Arizona, but managed to win with a 6-1 record as Arizona State (5-1) whipped Arizona (5-1) in the windup.

Wyoming, under coach Lloyd Eaton, returns 30 lettermen, tops for the WAC. Wyoming also counts on 10 candidates from an unbeaten frosh team, four squadmen, seven redshirts and a transfer.

HEADING THE DEFENSIVE UNIT is Larry Nels at tackle, while the offense revolves around tailback Joe Williams.

And, for the first time since 1965, Eaton will have a returning quarterback in Ed Synakowski. Split end Gene Huey leaves a gap, but Larry Suganuma will help to fill that one.

The other seven coaches in the league can expect a typical WAC hassle, with all but New Mexico and Colorado State bidding for second.

Despite Wyoming's winning a third straight championship, the conference was well-balanced last year, with every team but the aforementioned New Mexico and Colorado State capable of scaring the favorites.

The pattern started early in October when Arizona State jumped out to a 10-0 lead over Wyoming, only to lose, 17-13. That was the defeat that took the Sun Devils out of the championship.

WYOMING HAD A bigger scare a week later and trailed fired-up BYU, 17-7, into the fourth quarter at Provo. Bob Jacobs kicked a 31-yard field goal with six seconds left for a 20-17 Wyoming victory.

Then it was BYU's turn to see a big lead evaporate.

A three-sport athlete in high school, John Mooney was unable to impress coaches at the University of Iowa so turned to journalism and politics, becoming the only man in UI history to run for re-election as senior class president. He also became editor of the school's newspaper.

From Iowa, he went to the Chicago Tribune sports staff for "a cup of coffee" and thence to the Salt Lake Telegram (1939). He left in '48 to become sports editor of The Salt Lake Tribune.

Mooney is very active in the FWAA, where he is highly respected for his wit and talent as a public speaker.

OOPS! MY SLIP SHOWS, realizes Utah quarterback Ray Groth (12), as football eludes his grasp right before the eager eyes of Brigham Young's Brent Olson (left) and Jeff Slipp (75). Ultimate embarrassment was the Cougars', however, by 30-21.

The Cougars led Texas-El Paso, 25-3, into the fourth quarter. But Brooks Dawson completed 18 passes in the final 10:37 for three touchdowns and to set up the fourth for a 31-25 Miner triumph.

Utah, which was rebuilding under coach Bill Meek, led Arizona's Wildcats, 15-0, going into the final quarter in a snowstorm. But Arizona's passing clicked for two touchdowns and Steve Hurley kicked a 27-yard field goal with three seconds left, for a 16-15 Wildcat victory.

In the showdown of the unbeaten teams in the conference, Arizona's vaunted defense stopped Wyoming, 14-7, but then the Wildcats fell victim to Arizona State's blinding speed, 30-7, in the finale.

With the WAC race likely to go in any direction below the title rung, the independent teams of Utah State and Air Force Academy complicate the task of picking the top teams in the area.

AIR FORCE, WITH 30 LETTERMEN BACK from a 7-3 season, ranks as the outstanding independent team in the mountains.

Offensively, the Falcons, who set 24 team and individual records last year, will be led by quarterback Gary Baxter, halfbacks Curtis Martin, Ernest Jennings and end Charlie Longnecker. Defensively, the Air Force is touting All-American tackle candidate Ed Epping.

Utah State University moves into tougher competition, with Army, Air Force and Memphis State, along with Brigham Young, Utah and Colorado State of the WAC. The Aggies lost their offensive backfield, including quarterback John Pappas, flanker Mike O'Shea and scatback Altie Taylor.

Six defensive starters, headed by Phil Olsen, 6-5 and 255-pound brother of former All-America Merlin, give the Aggies their traditional tenacity.

ARIZONA STATE, THE PRESEASON FAVORITE a year ago, and the strongest team in the league at the end of the season, returns an outstanding backfield of Art Malone, fifth among the nation's rushers, quarterback Joe Spagnola,

J. D. Hill at wingback and Jim Shaughnessy or Hugh McKinnis at fullback. The Sun Devils' offense, which averaged 41.4 points a game, second best in the nation, has the horses to run if coach Frank Kush can develop line-men. Only offensive guard Gary Venturo and middle guard Ted Olivo return from the two line units.

The conference race is made more confusing by the schedule, inasmuch as Texas-El Paso, Wyoming, Arizona State and Brigham Young play seven opponents each, while Utah, Arizona and New Mexico play only six and Colorado State but four conference rivals.

Arizona, the surprise team in the WAC last year, has a new coach in Bob Weber, who moved up from line coach after Darrell Mudra resigned.

THE WILDCATS LOST 12 OF 22 STARTERS, but have Ron Gardin, a top receiver (48 for 892 yards and four touchdowns), 220 yards on 21 punt returns and 133 yards for six kickoff returns.

Texas-El Paso, a disappointment last year, faces a rebuilding of its Flying Circus, with no experienced quarterbacks and receivers back.

Coach Bobby Dobbs figures nine sophomores starting for the Miners, but a strong point will be center Dennis Bramlett, along with tackles Greg Rzycki and Dave Gerlach.

Injuries killed BYU last year as coach Tommie Hudspeth saw the Cats falter to a 2-8 season. BYU boasts 28 lettermen, but the frosh were 0-4.

BYU has two quarterbacks in Marc Lyons and Rick Jones, strong runners in Chris Reading, Ron Wakley and Kip Jackson and a top linebacker in Tim Roberts. But the Cougars must rebuild both lines.

UTAH BEAT NEW MEXICO AND BYU LAST YEAR, and should be stronger. Utah loses Louis (Speedie) Thomas, a top receiver, and fullback Steve Molnar, with defensive ends Norm McBride and Gary Kerl.

The Redskins have quarterback Ray Groth, No. 2 in WAC in total offense, along with backs Cal Poulson and Dave Smith and linebacker Larry Stone.

Bill Meek also will have a total of 22 lettermen, six squadmen, 13 red-shirts (and this is the key item) plus seven transfers and some of the best freshmen-graduates in years.

Mike Lude of Colorado State, who also was ruined by injuries a year ago, will throw more while hoping to maintain a solid ground game. Lude opened spring practice with 109 players on his roster.

Only 18 are lettermen, with Earlie Thomas at cornerback and three starting offensive backs in McClinton Brown, Bill Schmitz and Charles Piggee.

FENCED-IN FULLBACK is Wyoming's Dave Hampton, halted at scrimmage line by Arizona's Jim White (23), Otis Comeau (31) and surrounded by Wildcats' Bill McKinley (85), Tom Nelson (77), Larry Rogge (55) and Rich Moriarty. Cats won it, 14-7.

WHOA—Bewildered Dave Smith (41) of Utah applies the brakes as Arizona State fullback Art Malone zips past him on a 97-yard touchdown romp in Sun Devils' 59-21 scalping of the Redskins. Malone, a junior, was the nation's No. 5 major-college rusher.

To improve on the 2-8 season, Lude must get come-through performances from 29 junior college transfers, 18 squadmen and 46 freshmen.

New Mexico, with coach Rudy Feldman starting his second season, still is rebuilding and threatening to set a losing string.

The Lobos have 15 lettermen with tailback Dave Bookert tops after setting three New Mexico rushing records. Feldman lost quarterbacks Rick Beiler and Terry Stone, along with the three top receivers.

Sam Scarber, who plays fullback and linebacker, and Greg Sargovetz, a solid interior defensive lineman, are key returnees.

The Lobos and Colorado State Rams loom as the only certainties in the second division, the rest could be a rip-snorter, especially if luck should begin running against Wyoming.

Idaho will capture the Big Sky championship. At least that's the consensus of nearly all who follow football in the northern Rockies.

Y C McNease, the Vandals' coach, has more returnees than any other conference team, and perhaps of greater importance, among them are quarterback Steve Olson and flanker Jerry Hendren. Last season Olson threw for 2,591 yards and 19 TD passes. Hendren caught 86 for 1,457 yards.

Montana State's hopes ride on coach Tom Parac's ability to replace Dennis Erickson at quarterback. Paul Schafer is back, along with fullback Hans Pidino and some veteran linemen. Defensively, the Bobcats return key men up front, but need replacements at linebacker and in the secondary.

Weber State has the league's strongest defense and returns Carter Campbell, Pete Nepote and Russ Melby. Quarterback is the problem.

Idaho State coach Ed Cavanaugh lifted the Bengals from 1-9 to 4-5 his first year on the job. Improvement should continue, as both QB Larry Kerychuk and Ed Bell, a talented receiver, return.

Montana's strength lies in the offensive backfield, where Roy Robinson, a 9.4 sprinter, heads an outstanding group of runners.

The newly aligned 14-member Rocky Mountain Athletic Conference will open its first league football competition in 1969.

In the Plains Division, Colorado State College, the University of Nebraska at Omaha, and Emporia State appear to be the leading pennant contenders, although Pittsburg State, inexperienced last year, is expected to give them a rough time. The question mark hovers over Fort Hays, under a new coach, and Southern Colorado, both of which lost key players.

Adams State shows up strongly for top honors in the Mountain Division, although Colorado Mines and Western Colorado will be strong challengers.

A championship playoff between divisional winners will not be held until 1970, because of earlier schedule commitments by some teams.

Troy's New Orange Juice-Free Diet Doesn't Prohibit Rose Bowl Return

By JACK MURPHY

Sports Editor, The San Diego Union

Past President [1964], Football Writers' Association of America

When Maurice Chevalier observed his 74th birthday he was asked how he felt about his age.

"It's not so bad," came the reply, "when you consider the alternative."

John McKay has approximately the same reaction when he considers how football will be played by the University of Southern California now that Orenthal James Simpson has completed his collegiate eligibility.

"Of course, we'll miss him," says McKay, a blithe spirit, "but we had winning teams before Simpson came along and I expect we'll have some success without him."

Simpson agrees. "The Trojans will have another powerful team in 1969," he says, "their program is so solid they'll always have strong teams."

ANY DISCUSSION OF PACIFIC COAST FOOTBALL begins with McKay and his Trojans. Heisman Trophy winners come and go at USC, but prosperity is a fixed condition with McKay. In the last seven years, this remarkable man has won Pacific-8 Conference championships and led his athletes down the Pasadena Freeway to the Rose Bowl four times.

Now he has an opportunity to become the first coach to place a team in the Rose Bowl four consecutive years and, typically, his mood is sanguine.

"Our chances are pretty good," he says cheerfully. "We'll be stronger defensively (nine regulars return from the defensive unit) and we'll be able to do some interesting things offensively. Now that Simpson is gone, we'll go back to the kind of football we played in 1962 when we won a national championship. In some ways, it will be more fun."

BUT THE TROJANS got a lot of pleasure from Simpson's two big years. They won most of the time and, drew vast crowds and Simpson carried the ball so often McKay was accused

The San Diego Union's Jack Murphy is a former war correspondent with the Marines on Okinawa who says of that adventure, "I developed a hangnail but was denied the Purple Heart."

Now in his 18th year as sports editor-columnist of The Union, Murphy is a winner of the coveted National Headliners award. His column is distributed nationally by Copley News Service.

The former FWAA president was raised in Tulsa and attended the University of Tulsa and Southwestern Louisiana Institute. Murphy is married, the father of two children and enjoys hunting and fishing.

of overworking his demigod.

"Why shouldn't he run with the ball 40 times per game?" McKay responded, "he doesn't belong to a union."

But fame is a transitory thing for a college football player, as Simpson wryly acknowledges. O.J. likes to tell of the evening when his wife, Marguerite, began ticking off the deeds of her lord and master.

"Let's see now," she said, "you have won the Heisman Trophy, you broke all the records at USC, you are the player of the year, you are handsome and popular, and everybody says you are going to be rich." Marguerite gazed worshipfully at her hero. "One more thing, honey," she said sweetly, "would you get up now and carry out the garbage?"

Clearly, football at USC will be different with Simpson gone. His number has been retired and there won't be another like him soon.

"WE'LL DO MORE ROLLOUT AND DROPBACK PASSING," says McKay, "and a lot of our people will carry the ball. Actually, this won't be as revolutionary as most people think. There was an impression that we rarely put the ball in the air. That's a misconception. Remember, we had 80 or 90 plays per game and we did quite a bit of passing."

When a coach talks about going to a passing game it means he has a strong arm somewhere in his repertoire. McKay does. The arm belongs to senior Mike Holmgren, probable successor to graduated Steve Sogge.

"Holmgren is one of the best passers I've ever seen," says McKay. "He can't run like Sogge but he sure can throw."

McKay's record suggests he can recognize ability. And he becomes eloquent when describing the advantages of an education at USC to a blue chip prospect. Witness the presence of a young man named Clarence Davis, who comes from Los Angeles City College, where he surpassed all of Simpson's records as a junior college athlete.

O.J. TURNS ON THE JUICE—Southern California's O. J. Simpson leans into the task of escaping the clutches of Notre Dame's Bob Kuechenberg (75) and Pat Mudron, as long-time foes battle to 21-21 tie in Trojan star's college career-ending game.

WHAT TAKES FUNNY BOUNCES?—Four Ducks and a Trojan try to outdo the football's "funny bounce" reputation. Identifiable Oregonians are Kent Grote (43), Bill Brauner (15) and Keith Sherman (41). Southern California licked the Webfeet, 20-13.

But a Simpson he ain't. Not, at least, in McKay's judgment.

"He's good," says McKay, "but he doesn't have Simpson's ability. O.J., remember, was a super runner."

But Troy will be formidable even without Simpson as its gun. Four defensive specialists have all-star credentials: end Jimmy Gunn, tackles Tony Terry and Al Cowlings, and defensive back Sandy Durko.

And Davis, the record-breaker, is just one of several young men who can advance a football with uncommon vigor. For example, there's sophomore quarterback Jimmy Jones who came all the way from Harrisburg, Pa., to enlist in the cause.

And there's Ron Pharris, a 9.5 sprinter from Anaheim, and Mike Berry, a promising junior, and two good fullbacks, Humphrey Covington and Charlie Evans, the latter a transfer from Utah.

IF THE TROJANS ARE TO DO THEIR THING in the Rose Bowl for the fourth straight year, they'll have to handle a rugged schedule (Notre Dame, Georgia Tech, Nebraska) and spirited opposition within the conference, especially from Stanford and UCLA.

Contrary to popular notion, not all the Stanfords wear sandals and beards. And UCLA is coached by a man, tough, enterprising Tommy Prothro, who is unaccustomed to hard times.

Maybe that wasn't a depression UCLA experienced last season, but it certainly was one of the Bruins' smallest booms. Prothro is a talented fellow who seems to regard winning as a divine right, but this team mustered only two victories in the conference.

No doubt the condition is temporary. The 1968 Bruins had a cruel run of injuries to key people and Prothro is entitled to believe both his luck and his record will improve in '69. And he is not without weapons.

THIS SQUAD IS BLESSED WITH 34 returning lettermen and he has two of the superior running backs in the West in Greg Jones and Mickey Cureton. The defense is anchored by linebacker Mike Ballou—known, naturally, as Cat

UNHAND THE PANTS, is plea of Oregon State's Bill (Earthquake) Enyart, who'd be off to the races if he could shake the grip Oregon's Bill Brauner (15) has got on his britches. Beavers shook loose often enough to pull away from Webfeet, 41-19.

Ballou—and tackle Floyd Reese. Both are potential All-Americans.

Yet Prothro's problems are numerous and he terms this a "building" year. He has a quarterback, Jim Nader, who passed for 1,000 yards last season but Prothro's shift-T formation is difficult to master and Nader hasn't yet been described as a "new" Gary Beban.

ANOTHER TEAM WITH INTERESTING POSSIBILITIES is located at Palo Alto, where, among other things, John Ralston schemes and dreams of big things. Ralston's coaching record at Stanford is 30-28-2 but, by one yardstick, he is a pure genius. He has made a career of winning the "big game" between Stanford and California, losing but once in six years. Ironically, California is his alma mater.

The Stanfords are touting three of their athlete-scholars for national recognition: quarterback Jim Plunkett, center John Sande and Don Parish. And at least three others—split end Jack Lasater, tight end Bob Moore and defensive back Dick Oliver—are exceptional talents.

Ralston equates his quarterback, Mr. Plunkett, with greatness. "He has the size, poise and passing ability to be the greatest quarterback in Stanford history." Which is some praise. Frankie Albert once played quarterback at Stanford. So did John Brodie and Bobby Garrett.

Plunkett is one of those tall guys (6-3) with a gun. Last year he broke the school and conference records by passing for 2,156 yards.

THERE'S ALSO A PRETTY GOOD FOOTBALL TEAM at Berkeley this year. Not all those California students are demonstrating and thumbing their noses at the establishment. Some of them play football under Ray Wilsey and they execute so well the Golden Bears had a 7-3-1 record last season.

Everybody respected Mr. Wilsey's defense, which will be constructed this year around end Irby Augustine and safety Ken Wiedemann.

Most of Wilsey's problems in 1968 were related to offense and the situation isn't substantially changed. The Golden Bears will go about as far as quarterback Randy Humphries can take them.

But Wilsey sees more pluses than minuses. Humphries will be operating behind an experienced line (the unit of '68 is intact) and he should have a balanced attack with running backs Gary Fowler and Bob Darby.

California is on the rise at a time when Oregon State, runnerup for the Rose Bowl invitation three straight years, is entering a period of decline. Or, at least, a period of adjustment.

THE "GREAT PUMPKIN," DEE ANDROS, has been remarkably successful in his four years at Corvallis and he won't tolerate mediocrity very long. But Andros, in effect, is starting all over again. Three fourths of his backfield has gone and that leaves only Billy Main.

Main is quality, a bonafide All-America candidate. Last year he utilized his burning speed to lead the nation in kickoff return average and rank third among Pacific-8 ball carriers. But he'll need a lot of help.

Possibly the resourceful Mr. Andros can find it among the 17 redshirts on call. Certainly he'll have a solid defensive team. A big plus is defensive tackle Jess Lewis, who chose to go to Mexico City with the U.S. Olympic wrestling team last autumn and thereby forfeited a year of football. He was on the NEA All-America team two years ago.

It will be a building year for Andros and this is no less true of his friend and colleague, Jim Owens, at the University of Washington. Owens is coming off a losing season (3-5-2) for the first time since he established residence in Seattle in 1957.

OWENS SHOULD HAVE A WINNER if he can find the right quarterback. Possibly the one he seeks is sophomore Steve Hanzlik, a tall (6-3) youngster who two years ago was acclaimed a latter-day Norm Van Brocklin while playing high school football in Portland. He also has Gene Willis, who became a starter late last season.

There'll also be an improved team at Oregon in '69 as Jerry Frei starts his third year as head coach and begins to get the benefits of some industrious recruiting. Frei will have 28 lettermen, including the best group of backs since Mel Renfro, Bob Berry and Lu Bain in 1961-64.

Junior Tom Blanchard, recovered from a knee operation, will be the quarterback and all he can do is pass, punt and run. Frei has a gaggle of fine running backs, including Stan Hearn, Rocky Pamplin, Greg Marshall and a pair of sophomore swifties, Dave Jones and Bob Moore.

Oregon will have size, speed and a favorable schedule. It doesn't play USC or California in '69 and gets Washington, UCLA and Oregon State on its home turf. Watch the Ducks late in the year; they play five of their last six games at Eugene.

Washington State begins its second term under Jim Sweeney and the Cougars will have the residual benefits of a strong finish in '68.

The strength of this team, obviously, is defense and it has some top people in ends Hugh Klopfenstein and Dave Crema and linebacker Terry Durst. The offense will be directed by veteran Rich Olson and a pair of likely sophomores, Jack Wigmore and Chuck Hawthorne.

The Far West independent that will bear close attention is San Diego State, a team that has lost only one of its last 37 games. Football has flourished in San Diego ever since Don Coryell arrived on Montezuma Mesa, and the Aztecs regularly play before crowds of over 40,000.

Coryell rebuilds his team each year with junior college transfers, and his genius is in finding and developing talent. Now he has an exceptional battery in quarterback Dennis Shaw (who passed for 19 touchdowns last season) and flanker Tom Reynolds, a JC transfer.

The look of the California Collegiate Athletic Association has changed perceptibly the past year. Four of its oldest members are gone—Long Beach State, Los Angeles State, Fresno State and San Diego State. The remaining schools include San Fernando Valley, Cal Poly (SLO) and Cal Poly (P). Fullerton is the newest member but will not begin a football program until 1971.

The four departing members have joined the new Pacific Coast Athletic Conference. So, as it stands, the CCAA is about to rebuild with new members. Among those talked about are UC Riverside, UC Irvine and UC San Diego.

Amid the turmoil, Valley State and Cal Poly (SLO) emerge as favorites in the conference. Cal Poly (P) has to rebuild and isn't considered a threat.

Since Joe Harper came to Cal Poly (SLO), the Mustangs have risen on the football barometer. Leaders back from last year's 7-3 team are guard Brent Crabb, defensive tackle Dennis Patracek and linebacker Lee Treadwell, along with quarterbacks Gary Abate and Don Milan.

The Broncos of Cal Poly (P) are in dire straights. Coming off their most dismal record ever (0-10), the future looks anything but bright. Twelve lettermen return, including the league's top rusher, Steve Alzugaray, but the team will have to rely on transfers to become formidable.

Valley State will open the season with a new coach, former UCLA star Leon McLaughlin. The Matadors' entire defensive line and linebacking corps returns, along with quarterbacks Steve Hartman and Mike O'Neil.

The Far Western Conference is becoming one of the best small-college leagues in the nation as it sent two teams to post-season bowl games in 1968. Champion Humboldt State won the Camellia Bowl while runnerup Sacramento State gave a good account of itself before losing in the Pasadena Bowl.

Humboldt State, loser of only one game last year, figures to be the 1969 title favorite. The Lumberjacks will be led by John Burman, who paced the FWC in rushing and scoring, and Jeff Getty, who led in interceptions.

UC Davis will be in the conference race, losing only six starters from a team that was plagued with injuries in 1968. Chico State, which finished at 5-5 for its best record since 1961, should be a contender behind an improving defensive unit that features all-coast linebacker Ron Martinez.

Sacramento State lost nine starters off its offensive team and must find junior college talent to be in the running. San Francisco State can't be taken too lightly with 28 lettermen back. The Oliver brothers, Bernie and Bill, provide the offensive punch for Cal State Hayward. However, the Pioneers must replace seven defensive starters to be title threats.

Can Whittier College win its third straight SCIAC football championship?

The road may be tough for coach John Godfrey's Poets, faced with heavy graduation losses, but Godfrey always seems to find the necessary talent. Leading Whittier's bid will be halfback Lionel Pointer, tackle Gregg Sherrill and defensive ace Manuel Juarez.

Redlands seems the best bet to end Whittier's string. Coach Frank Serrao's Bulldogs have an outstanding halfback, Charlie Garrett, plus fullback Rick Dischinger. Occidental has to recover from many offensive losses while Pomona's fine defensive unit must be rebuilt. However, both teams should be in the thick of the race.

Claremont-Mudd will continue rebuilding behind junior ace Steve Endemano while Cal Tech, happy with its big 34-31 triumph over UC San Diego last season, is on the road up in football fortunes.

That Bowl Again Determines Titlist; Kansas Singing The 12th-Man Blues

By TED SMITS

General Sports Editor, The Associated Press

Again on New Year's day of 1969, as so often has been the case in the past, the focus of national collegiate football attention was on the big and prestigious Rose Bowl in Pasadena, Calif. In collision there were undefeated Ohio State, No. 1 in the land and champion of the Big Ten, and Southern California, No. 2 and possessor of modern football's most famous halfback, O. J. Simpson. Although Southern California was unbeaten it had been tied in its last game by Notre Dame.

The crowd of 102,063 that included the sports-loving president-elect, Richard Nixon, thought it was going to be a Trojan romp when Ron Ayala booted a 21-yard field goal in the second period, and Simpson broke loose for 80 yards, second longest touchdown run in 55 Rose Bowl games. But Ohio State cut it down to 10-10 at the half and then erected a second half defense that contained Simpson and forced the Trojans into errors. In the end it was Ohio State, 27-16, and the post-bowl championship poll gave the Buckeyes the undisputed national championship, with Penn State second.

IN OTHER BIG BOWL GAMES, the ubiquitous Southeastern Conference had a rougher time than usual, winning three and losing three in six appearances. It won the Liberty Bowl where Mississippi beat Virginia Tech, 34-17; in the Sun, where Auburn knocked off Arizona, 34-10; and in the Peach, where Louisiana State dropped Florida State, 31-27. But Missouri beat Alabama in the Gator, 35-10; Texas downed Tennessee in the Cotton, 36-13; and Arkansas crushed Georgia in the Sugar Bowl, 16-2.

In another top bowl game, the Orange, the presence of a 12th man on the field cost Kansas the victory, and Penn State won, 15-14, thereby starting one of the game's better rhubarbs. The Bluebonnet was a thriller with Southern Methodist nosing out Oklahoma, 28-27, in a wild last period.

THE OHIO STATE TEAM that dominated the second half of the Rose Bowl was one to delight any coach's heart. It was loaded with sophomores.

O. J. Simpson did all that could be asked of one man. He gained 171 yards on 28 carries and caught eight passes for 85 more yards. He wept when it was over but he was man enough to congratulate the winners. One reason for his grief was his fourth quarter fumble on the 16 that was quickly converted into Ohio State's final touchdown when Rex Kern, Ohio State's 19-year-old quarterback voted the game's MVP, passed to Ray Gillian.

But Simpson's 80-yard run will live long in memory.

"That run was the most beautiful thing I've ever seen," said Paul Schmidlin, Ohio State defensive tackle. "I had a clear view of O. J. because I was pursuing him."

RARELY DO FOOTBALL GAMES COME to a more exciting climax than did the one in the Orange Bowl. Unbeaten Penn State was trailing Kansas, 14-7, with 76 seconds left. Then the Penn State quarterback, Chuck Burkhardt, threw a 47-yard pass to Bob Campbell giving the Lions the ball on the Kansas three. Two line plunges failed but on a fake handoff, Burkhardt crossed over and the score was 14-13.

Joe Paterno, the Penn State coach, was not about to settle for a tie. Burkhardt tried to pass to Campbell for two points and victory but Kansas defenders were all over him. There was pandemonium in the crowd of 77,719. The players drifted off the field but were suddenly called back by an official who had spotted 12 Kansas players in action.

When a measure of calm was restored, Penn State tried again and this time Campbell, aided by the penalty of half the distance to the goal line, went over tackle for the yard and one half and the two points that gave Penn State the game, 15-14.

IT DEVELOPED THAT KANSAS had sent two tackles into the game to replace safety Tommy Anderson and linebacker Rick Abernethy, and that while Anderson came out, Abernethy did not. In fact, he may even have been in for three plays before he was spotted.

gia, before 82,113 in the Sugar Bowl was sweet music to the Arkansas coach, Frank Broyles. Twice before his teams had been beaten by SEC opponents in the Sugar Bowl. This time, despite the fact Arkansas had yielded 187 points during the season, and despite Georgia's proud offensive record of 391.7 yards per game, Broyles worked magic.

ARKANSAS WAS CONVERTED into a powerful defensive team that limited Georgia to 75 yards rushing and 117 passing. Arkansas did not do much better with 40 rushing, 185 passing. But Chuck Dicus, a 171-pound sophomore, caught 12 for 196 yards and one touchdown (the lower team passing total is accounted for by losses). Bob White hit three field goals of 34, 24, and 31 yards and that was it.

Texas and Tennessee each went into the chilly Cotton Bowl before 72,000 fans with 8-1-1 records, but it was Texas, 28-0, at the half and the Vols could only manage 13 points in the final two quarters while Texas casually picked up another touchdown, this on a 79-yard pass-run, junior James Street to Cotton Speyrer. In the first quarter the same combination produced a 78-yard pass-run touchdown. Street, a modish 170-pound junior, proved himself master of Darrell Royal's Wishbone-T formation, in which the fullback is a step closer to the quarterback than the two halves.

MISSOURI ACCOMPLISHED A VARIETY OF THINGS in the Gator Bowl, as 68,011 watched. It upset proud Alabama, 35-10, and did this without completing a single forward pass. Missouri, however, made 404 yards rushing. It was the worst defeat Alabama ever suffered in 22 bowl appearances and coach Paul "Bear" Bryant admitted, "I've never been embarrassed like that at Alabama." Terry McMillan, the tall Missouri quarterback, was the key player, scoring three touchdowns and calling an almost perfect game.

In the Liberty Bowl, Mississippi spotted Virginia Tech 17 points, and then rolled to a 34-17 victory on the passing of Archie Manning and the running of Steve Hindman, whose 79-yard dash on the opening play of the second half put the Rebels ahead to stay.

The score in the Sun Bowl almost matched that in the Liberty Bowl but the result was not surprising. As anticipated, Auburn rolled over Arizona, 34-10. It was a reserve quarterback, Tommy Traylor, who broke the game open. He came in with the score tied, 10-10, in the third quarter and only remained for five plays on four of which he carried the ball. Traylor's nine-yard touchdown run climaxed that sequence.

THE PEACH BOWL, WHICH DREW 35,545 in Atlanta, turned into an old-fashioned, cliff-hanging thriller. Louisiana State finally beat Florida State, 31-27. With his team down two touchdowns, junior quarterback Mike Hillman rallied LSU to a 24-13 lead in the third quarter. Then when FSU went ahead, 27-24, Hillman again was the man in charge, moving the Tigers 61 yards in nine plays for the decisive touchdown.

But the closest of the larger bowl games was the Astrodome thriller in Houston before 53,543. There Southern Methodist defeated Oklahoma, 28-27, with the two teams scoring five touchdowns in the final period.

SMU went into that quarter trailing 14-6. It was the seventh time in eight victories of the season that SMU had come from behind. Chuck Hixson, the nation's leading passer, completed 10 of 16 passes in the final period, including two for touchdowns to Jerry Levias and Ken Fleming. But most important of all, he connected with Pinky Clements for a two-point conversion. In the end that was what counted most.

N.D. State, Delaware, Humboldt And Louisiana Tech '68 Regional Champs

By LOU SPRY

Research Director, National Collegiate Athletic Association

North Dakota State, ranked No. 1 1968 College Division team, at regular-season's end, solidified that position with a Pecan Bowl victory over Arkansas State last December, while Delaware, Humboldt State and Louisiana Tech also were victorious in college division regional bowls sponsored by the National Collegiate Athletic Association.

Lou Spry

THE N.D. STATE BISON rapped Arkansas State, 23-14, at Arlington, Tex., to cop the Midwest championship for the second time in four years and solidify their top rating, which they had earned on the strength of a 9-0 regular-season record.

Perhaps unfairly, the North Central Conference champions used a "hatchet man" to defeat the Indians. Paul Hatchett that is.

The burly halfback rambled for 106 yards in 25 carries despite losing 27 yards trying to run out the clock on the last play of the game. Hatchett scored the Bison's second touchdown on an 18-yard run.

North Dakota State took a 23-0 lead into the fourth quarter against the Southland Conference kings, but Indian quarterback James Hamilton scored a pair of touchdowns to narrow the margin.

LOW TEMPERATURES AND A HEAVY RAIN failed to affect the Boardwalk Bowl played in Atlantic City's Convention Hall. Ten thousand fans turned out to watch Delaware score in the last minute of play to defeat Indiana (Pa.) for the Atlantic Coast championship, 31-24. Tom DiMuzio's nine-yard strike to Ron Withelder overcame a 24-23 deficit caused by Indiana Bob Tate's 33-yard field goal less than a minute before.

The Boardwalk quarterbacks reacted favorably to the indoor conditions. The winners' DiMuzio had his best day of the season, completing 15 of 22 for three touchdowns and 264 yards while Indiana's Wally Blucas threw a 62-yard TD pass and scored twice himself.

Seven records fell by the wayside in the Camellia Bowl at Sacramento, Calif., as Humboldt State upset Fresno State, 29-14, for the Pacific Coast title. Humboldt's Dave Banducci kicked a record three field goals, one for 45 yards, as the Lumberjacks racked up 16 points in the second quarter to take the lead permanently.

KEY TO THE HUMBOLDT VICTORY was Fresno's inability to hang on to the football. The Bulldogs lost four fumbles and had seven passes intercepted, both figures being the most ever in NCAA championship competition.

Ironically, Fresno, took the lead at 7-0 by punching five yards after blocking a first period punt. Jeff Getty of Humboldt led the defense with a record three pass interceptions.

Quarterback Terry Bradshaw passed Louisiana Tech to a 33-13 win over Akron for the Mideast laurels in the Grantland Rice Bowl at Murfreesboro, Tenn. Twelve of Bradshaw's 16 completions (33 attempts, 261 yards) were grabbed by Tommy Spinks for a College Division championships record. One of the dozen was for 36 yards and a touchdown.

Tech opened a 21-0 gap in the first quarter, but Akron had narrowed the difference to 21-13 heading into the last stanza during which the winners tacked on two more TDs. Bradshaw accounted for all but one of Tech's six-pointers, passing for two and running for another pair.

IN THIS, THE FIFTH YEAR of the NCAA's College Division regional championship series, seven of the eight competing teams were newcomers to the event. North Dakota State, the lone repeater in 1968, was making its third appearance in four years, to establish itself as the most frequent bidder for Regional Bowl honors in the series' five-year history.

The Bison also share with two other teams—East Carolina (now a University Division participant) and San Diego State—the distinction of the most championships won, two each.

East Carolina's consecutive Atlantic Coast crowns were won in 1964 and 1965, and San Diego State also achieved back-to-back Pacific Coast titles, in 1966 and 1967. N.D. State, however, first won the Midwest championship in 1965. The Bison were back for a second try in 1967, losing to UTexas at Arlington, 13-0; before making it to the king row again in 1968.

THREE OF THE CHAMPIONSHIPS will remain at their present sites in 1969, but the College Football Committee will recommend to the NCAA Executive Committee that the Mideast championship (Grantland Rice Bowl) be moved to Baton Rouge, La.

So the Boardwalk Bowl will be renewed indoors at the Atlantic City, N. J., Convention Hall; with the Pecan Bowl again at Arlington, Tex.; and the Camellia Bowl at Sacramento, Calif.

All four 1969 College Division regional championships will be played December 13 and again, as last year, all four will be seen on regional television networks of the American Broadcasting Company.

MAJOR-COLLEGE STATISTICS

Runner Owens And Thrower Hixson Are Most Prolific Returnees Of All Time

By JIM VAN VALKENBURG

Assistant Director, National Collegiate Sports Services

Approximately 115 college football teams, which play most of their games against each other, are classified as "major-college" or University Division teams. They represent the field of so-called "big-time" college football as judged by class of competition rather than seasonal strength. The football teams of all other four-year, accredited NCAA-member colleges comprise the College Division field. An official list is issued annually each September.

Never has major-college football boasted a pair of returnees so prolific as passer Chuck Hixson of Southern Methodist and rusher Steve Owens of Oklahoma. In 1968, the rubber-armed Hixson completed more passes (265) for more yards (3103) than any non-senior in major-college history. And Owens, who runs like a berserk bumblebee, gained more yards rushing (1536) than any non-senior ever.

Jim Van Valkenburg

No rusher in any class ever worked harder than Owens' 357 carries and only one major collegian (Tulsa's Bill Anderson in 1965) ever threw or completed more passes than sophomore Hixson in 1968.

HIXSON'S GOAL IS A SECOND STRAIGHT passing title—a feat achieved by two major collegians, both Texans (Davey O'Brien of Texas Christian in 1937-38 and Don Trull of Baylor in 1962-63)—against a tough group of challengers.

Of 1968's top 25 passers, 14 return and 10 are juniors—part of a gifted group of new quarterbacks in '68. However, the four returnees closest to Hixson are seniors—Davidson's Gordon Slade (third), North Texas State's Steve Ramsey (fifth), Mississippi State's Tommy Pharr (sixth) and Florida State's Bill Cappleman (ninth). Ramsey's 45 career touchdown passes are sixth on the all-time ladder, just six short of the record.

In total offense, Hixson (runnerup with 2995 rushing-passing yards) is the top returnee. Next are Ramsey (fourth), Cappleman (fifth), junior Leo Hart of Duke (sixth), and senior Cleve Bryant of Ohio U. (ninth).

IT'S AN AWESOME FIELD, but Hixson is hard to discourage. For instance, the 6-foot-2, 188-pounder from San Antonio, Texas, solved a sore arm early last fall "by throwing harder." And he often led SMU from behind in an 8-3 season (topped by a Bluebonnet Bowl upset over Oklahoma).

The tireless Owens admits his first love is running with the football. "I was never really exhausted—not to the point where I didn't want to carry the ball again," said the 6-foot-2, 205-pounder from Miami, Oklahoma. Owens finished fourth last season, but his total was the sixth highest in history. Of the record 16 rushers who reached 1000 yards, only four are back. Closest to Owens are Arizona State's Art Malone (fifth at 1431) and New Mexico State sophomore Ron Poe James (eighth at 1291).

Thanks to his big '68 season, senior Owens needs only 1045 yards to break the all-time, major-college career rushing record.

Jim O'Brien, Cincinnati's end-placekicker, is returning to defend his scoring title. Only two major-college scoring champions had fewer touchdowns than his 12, but his 70 points on kicking gave him 142 points—the fifth highest major-college season total in history.

O'Brien is a Cincinnati lad who received a medical discharge because of ulcers at Air Force Academy, returned to Cincinnati on a basketball scholarship, then decided to go out for football on his own. Based on the 1968 finish, his closest foes are Owens (third at 126), and three who tied for eighth—Malone, Ohio State's Jim Otis and Arkansas' Bill Burnett.

NORTHWESTERN'S MIKE ADAMLE (KICKOFF RETURNS) and Arizona State's Paul Ray Powell (kick-scoring) are the other defending champions. That makes four—lowest since 1966. But four runnersup are back. Only receiving and rushing offer much room (each returns just four of the top 16).

No champion faces a bigger task than Powell. Incredibly, the first 11—and 15 of the top 17 kick-scorers are back, led by runnerup O'Brien. A closing four-game, 44-point surge gave Powell 77 points—second-highest kick-scoring total in major-college history. Until then, he was known as the team interception leader and a .308-hitting baseball outfielder.

Adamle, who set a record of 732 kickoff-return yards, contends with all five players who finished third through seventh last season.

THE TOP RETURNEES IN PASS RECEIVING are North Texas State's Barry Moore (fifth), Mississippi State's Sammy Milner (eighth) and Davidson's Mike Kelly (ninth). Runnerup Benny Rhoads of Cincinnati and fourth-place Zenon Andrusyshyn of UCLA, the 1967 champion, head the list in punting. Other top returnees are Arizona State's Lenny Randle in punt returns (third) and Memphis State's Jerry Todd in interception returns (second).

'68 Season Individual Leaders

Cincinnati's late-blooming Greg Cook captured the major-college total-offense title, overtaking Southern Methodist's Chuck Hixson by gaining an awesome 904 yards his last two games. Cook's 3210 rushing-passing yards were second highest ever by a major collegian, as were the 265 completions by passing champion Hixson and Cook's 3272 yards passing. (All three records were set by Tulsa's Bill Anderson in 1965.)

Both the 6-foot-4 Cook, a commercial art major, and Hixson were little known before the season. Each strong-armed the most prolific field ever. Neither of the 1967 champions would have even made the top 10 in 1968.

Two veterans finished high on the career lists: Texas A&M's Edd Hargett fifth in total offense (5411 rushing-passing yards) and Columbia's Marty Domres sixth (5345); in completions Hargett third (400) and Domres fifth (368). In passing yardage Hargett was third (5379) and Cook fifth (4906). Domres' 1133 rushing-passing plays was an all-time career mark.

Cook also led in rushing and passing for 182 points, but Hixson was the hardest worker, handling 564 total plays—eight of them extra-point passes.

Florida State's Ron Sellers won the pass-receiving championship with a dramatic finish—28 catches in his last two games, jumping from ninth place and overtaking nine-week leader Jerry Levias of Southern Methodist. The 86 catches by the 6-foot-4 Sellers was fourth highest ever by a major collegian and his 1496 yards receiving the third highest season total.

On the all-time career list, Sellers reached second with 212 catches (first at 261 is Tulsa's Howard Twilley, 1963-65), and no major collegian ever gained as many career receiving yards as Sellers' 3598. Levias reached seventh on the career ladder with 155 catches.

Heisman Trophy winner O. J. Simpson of Southern California needed an all-time season record (1709 yards) for the 1968 rushing title in a year that produced four of the six highest individual major-college rushing season totals in history. Simpson didn't stop with his second straight rushing crown—he also won the all-purpose running title (1966 yards) by adding 126 yards pass receiving and 131 returning kickoffs. A Simpson sweep was stopped by Cincinnati end Jim O'Brien, whose late surge took the scoring crown, 142 points to O. J.'s 132.

Rushing runnerup Mercury Morris of West Texas State (1571) also topped the previous season record that had stood 20 years (1570 by Fred Wendt of U. Texas El Paso—then Texas Mines—in 1948). Houston's Paul Gipson (1550) and Oklahoma's Steve Owens (1536) reached fifth and sixth all-time (with Wendt third and San Francisco's Ollie Matson fourth on his 1566 in 1951).

Morris became the all-time, major-college career leader with 3388 yards in three seasons. Chris Gilbert of Texas, the only major collegian with three 1000-yard seasons, climbed to third on the career ladder (3231, right behind Arizona's Art Luppino, 3381 in four seasons). Simpson had a college career of just 19 regular-season games, but reached eighth (3124).

Major collegians collectively in 1968 attempted more field goals (1289) than in any previous season and made a record 566—more than five times as many as in 1958, the last year before the goal posts were widened. It was the sixth consecutive year of increased field goals.

Arizona State's Paul Ray Powell won the kick-scoring championship (77). Bob Jacobs of Wyoming led in field goals (14). Houston's Terry Leiweke set a major-college season record by kicking 52 points after touchdowns, and Toledo junior Ken Crots ran his career record to 64 straight PATs.

Two All-America defensive backs—Missouri's Roger Wehrli and Washington's Al Worley—were among 1968's other individual champions. Wehrli won the punt-return crown with 478 yards on 41 returns. Worley's 14 interceptions were an all-time major-college season mark. He's the third pass-stealing champion from his school and the ninth from the Pacific Coast. Mike Adamle of Northwestern led in kickoff-return yardage at 732—a major-college mark. He was the first kickoff-return champion from the Big Ten since Nile Kinnick of Iowa in 1939—the year he won the Heisman Trophy.

Utah State's Altie Taylor averaged 29.3 yards per kickoff return in his career—a major-college record. Another career mark went to Kentucky's Dicky Lyons—2253 yards in combined punt and kickoff return yardage.

'68 Season Team Leaders

Houston won a rushing-passing-total offense triple crown in 1968, leading the biggest one-season swing to offense in major-college history. Helped by a new rule stopping the clock after every first down, scoring jumped almost one touchdown a game over 1967—to an all-time high of 42.4 points per game (both teams combined), compared with 36.8 in 1967 (previous high: 38.8 in 1951). Three other all-time marks were set:

—Total-offense yardage of 657.0 rushing-passing yards per game (both teams combined), far above the old mark of 592.1 in 1951.

—Passing yardage of 315.4 per game, far above the old mark (279.6 in '67).

—Total-offense plays of 150.1 per game (9.7 above the record set in '67).

Even so, Houston's all-time, major-college record of 562.0 rushing-passing yards per game was a remarkable 75 yards above the old mark—also exceeded by Notre Dame in '68. And it was Houston's third straight total-offense crown—another record. Incredibly, the Cougars' 427.9 winning mark of 1967 would have ranked 15th in 1968.

Houston won a second straight rushing crown with a 361.7-yard average—highest since 1956 and third highest ever—and the 331.5 by runnerup Texas was ninth highest ever. Late-season, back-to-back explosions of 77 and 100 points (highest by a major since 1949) gave Houston the scoring title at 42.5 points per game, second highest in the last 20 years.

Defense certainly wasn't the name of the game in 1968. Three champions—Wyoming in total defense, Kent State in pass defense and Georgia in scoring defense—gave up the most ever by a champion in their category.

Even rushing-defense champion Arizona State wasn't immune in a season of offensive orgies. The Sun Devils gave up more than two-thirds of their net rushing allowance in their two losses. Every defense was hit sooner or later, as reflected by the season-long scramble for titles.

It was Wyoming's fifth defensive title in various categories since 1960. Georgia's scoring-defense title was the South's seventh since 1959.

Challengers Find No Room At the Top; Six Champions, 25 Of Top 35 Are Back

By STEVE BODA, JR.

National Collegiate Sports Services

No room at the top—that's the bad news for players hoping to win titles in college-division football, or even crash the top five. The champion is back in six of seven individual categories. That's unprecedented. If that isn't enough, those seven categories are blessed (or haunted, depending on your point of view) by 25 returnees of 1968's top 35. All along kings' row, credentials are imposing.

Steve Boda, Jr.

ON TOP ARE TWO SENIOR CHAMPIONS—Louisiana Tech's Terry Bradshaw in total offense and U.Texas Arlington's Skipper Butler in kick-scoring. Each boasts the highest season total of any returnee in his category in college-division history, and each enjoyed the second-highest season total ever.

Two other titlists—Randolph-Macon sophomore Howard Stevens in rushing and Abilene Christian junior Jim Lindsey in passing—each had the second-highest non-senior season total ever in his category.

Stevens, a 5-foot-7, 165-pound mini-brute, also won the scoring crown in 1968—the first freshman to do so since Grambling's Tank Younger in 1945.

THE OTHER RETURNING CHAMPION is Maryland State sophomore Warner Robertson in punting. Only pass receiving is without a titlist, but don't be misled.

Senior Bruce Cerone of Emporia State, the 1968 runnerup, had more yards pass receiving (1479) than any player in college-division history, and his 91 catches are the most ever by a college-division returnee. Closest to him are Idaho's Jerry Hendren (third) and Kenyon's Chris Myers (fourth). Cerone's 36 career touchdown passes (with his leading 15 in '68) ties the all-time collegiate mark by Jackson State's Willie Richardson, 1959-62. And Cerone needs 43 catches for a college-division career record.

Bradshaw (2987 rushing-passing yards) gained 1089 his last three games (ending with 479 against major-college New Mexico State) and won over Lindsey in the total-offense race. Next is Idaho's Steve Olson (fifth).

BUTLER (70 POINTS) KICKED 15 FIELD GOALS, an all-time college-division record. His 33 career field goals are a college-division record and he needs four for a collegiate mark. With 159 career kick-scoring points, he needs eight more for a college-division record and 24 for a collegiate mark. His top challenger is runnerup Dave Banducci of Humboldt State.

Lindsey became the passing champion with 76 completions his last three games for a total of 204. Lindsey is 5 feet 11, 175 pounds and his teammates call him Seagull because of his build and his Gulf Coast home. The only college-division returnee ever with more completions was George Bork of Northern Illinois in 1962. Olson was third, Bradshaw fourth in 1968.

Two straight rushing titles is a feat accomplished by just one player in college-division history (Dale Mills of Northeast Missouri State in 1958-59). Champion Stevens (1468 yards) must fend off the same four players who were second through fifth in '68, led by Moorhead State's Mike Quirk.

Stevens (142 points) faces an identical task in scoring. All four who were second through fifth are back, topped by Doane junior, Mike Sallier, who is even smaller than Stevens at 5 feet 6 and 150 pounds.

Robertson won in punting (44.2-yard average) with final-game punts of 84 and 74 yards. Nearest him is Sacramento State's Doyle Brunson (fourth).

'68 Season Individual Leaders

Louisiana Tech's Bradshaw won the total-offense title by 247 yards over Abilene Christian's Lindsey with his big finish, becoming the South's first college-division total-offense champion. Lindsey's finish was strong, too—644 yards in his last two games. Both jumped past seniors John Erdhaus of Los Angeles State and Jeff Petrucci of California State (Pa.).

Lindsey settled for the passing crown with his prolific finish, winning by eight completions over C. W. Post's Tim Carr. Olson led for six weeks in a row going into his last game, but major-college Houston held him to 14 completions. Erdhaus led in touchdown passes (28). Carr was on top in interception avoidance (just eight of 345 attempts for .023) and John Bernardoni of Trinity (Conn.) in completion percentage (.617), among players with more than 200 attempted passes.

Drake end Dick Hewins became 1968's only senior individual champion with 95 pass receptions—an all-time, college-division season record (previous mark: 92 by Drake's Manley Sarnowsky in 1966). Just one catch away from the old mark was Emporia State's Cerone, but a closing 320-yard game gave him the reception yardage record—also surpassed by third-place Jerry Hendren of Idaho and sixth-place Paul Zaeske of North Park (Ill.). A college-division career record of 206 catches was set by UW Milwaukee's Terry Fredenberg, a 6-foot-3 senior who caught 49 of them in 1968.

Randolph-Macon's Stevens gained 404 yards and scored five touchdowns in his last two games in winning both the rushing and scoring championships. His closing bursts meant that three college-division crowns in 1968 were won by freshmen—compared with three in the previous 22 seasons combined.

Stevens' rushing crown was the South's second in a row, but he was only the South's third scoring champion since 1949. Moorhead State's Quirk led in rushing six straight weeks before the big finish by Stevens.

Wartburg's Gary Nelson was third, Doane's Sallier fourth and Tennessee Tech's Gary Schreiber fifth as a record 21 college-division players rushed for more than 1000 yards. The 336 carries by Albright's Dennis Zimmerman set a college-division mark (52 above the previous record).

U. Texas Arlington's Butler used his field goal record to win the kicking-scoring crown by eight points over Humboldt State's Banducci.

North Dakota State senior Ken Blazei set a collegiate record by kicking 50 consecutive successful extra-points during the season.

The winning 44.2-yard punting average by Maryland State's Robertson was a college-division mark for 60 punts or more.

'68 Season Team Leaders

Bradshaw strong-armed Louisiana Tech to team titles in both total offense (459.1 rushing-passing yards per game) and passing (316.4). The Bulldogs became the South's first college-division passing champions ever and the first total-offense titlist from the South since 1961.

Delaware's rushing championship (315.8 yards per game) was the East's first since 1950, but the Blue Hens had the fourth lowest winning average in college-division history. Missouri Valley teams had won six of the last seven rushing titles.

The new rule stopping the clock after every first down led to more plays and higher scoring. Doane's winning 52.9 scoring average was the third highest ever compiled by college-division team.

Maryland State won the punting title with a 43.8-yard average.

Alcorn A&M (Miss.) continued the South's domination in total defense and rushing defense by sweeping both championships in 1968. That gave the South an incredible five straight crowns in each category. In the last 10 seasons, the South owns eight total-defense and seven rushing-defense titles. Alcorn's winning marks were 103.4 rushing-passing yards allowed per game and a stingy 8.8 rushing yards allowed per game—an average exceeded by only two college-division teams in history.

Bridgeport (Conn.) won the pass-defense title by allowing 47.6 yards per game—fourth highest ever by a winner. Central Connecticut gave up just 4.4 points per game in taking the scoring-defense title. Another Eastern team, Kings Point (N.Y.), was a triple runnerup—total defense, rushing defense and scoring defense.

Alcorn A&M's sweep gave the South five team statistical crowns for the 1968 season. The East was next with three.

1969 University Division Schedules

Listed alphabetically in this section are the 1969 schedules and 1968 records of all teams classified "major-college" in 1968.

Schedules and records of College Division teams are listed in a separate section, beginning on page 130.

Below each school name and location appears the name of its 1969 head coach, together with his complete coaching record for all seasons as the head coach at any four-year collegiate institution.

Home games are indicated by a diamond (♦) and night games by an asterisk (*). Neutral sites are indicated by footnote symbols († ‡ #) on each schedule.

Opposite each opponent on a team's 1969 schedule is the all-time series record—the number of games won, lost and tied against that opponent in previous meetings between the two teams.

Last A-A Team Of First Century Made Memorable By Long-Distance Runners

Compiled by National Collegiate Sports Services

The last of college football's first 100 years will be remembered historically as The Year Of The Long-Distance Runner, so it was only natural for the 1968 consensus All-America to be dominated by prolific ball-carriers.

Leading the pack were Heisman Trophy winner O. J. Simpson of Southern California—the rushing champion two straight years—and Purdue's Leroy Keyes, a 1003-yard rusher but so versatile he earned one first-team vote for the defensive backfield. Both were unanimous choices a second straight season—the first pair of backs so honored since Army's Glenn Davis and Doc Blanchard in 1945-46.

THE THIRD CONSENSUS ALL-AMERICA RUNNER in '68 was slithery Chris Gilbert of Texas. Terry Hanratty was the consensus quarterback—the 11th in Notre Dame's history. The first: Harry Stuhldreher (Four Horsemen) in 1924.

Led by Simpson's all-time, major-college rushing record of 1709 yards, the three '68 runners combined for 3844 rushing yards in regular-season play—more than any consensus rushing trio in history.

As further proof '68 was The Year Of The Long-Distance Runner, only one trio of All-America runners ever combined for more rushing yards. Amazingly, that was the backup trio of '68—Houston's Paul Gipson, Michigan's Ron Johnson and Oregon State's Bill Enyart—who combined for 4245.

Defensive end Ted Hendricks of Miami (Fla.) was the only other consensus All-America gaining unanimous recognition a second straight year.

FOUR OTHERS WERE UNANIMOUS SELECTIONS on the 80th annual team—end Ted Kwalick of Penn State, tackle Dave Foley of Ohio State, guard Charles Rosenfelder of Tennessee and center John Didion of Oregon State.

Eight missed by just one vote. They were Hanratty and teammate George Kunz, defensive linemen John Zook of Kansas, Bill Stanfill of Georgia and Ed White of California; and defensive backs Jake Scott of Georgia, Roger Wehrli of Missouri and Al Worley of Washington.

The 1968 team was one of the heaviest ever, topped by 274-pound tackle Joe Greene of North Texas State. The six defensive linemen averaged 240.

Three juniors made the consensus team—linebackers Steve Kiner of Tennessee and Dennis Onkotz of Penn State, and Georgia's Scott.

Of the 46 players (from 34 schools) receiving at least one first-team vote, Notre Dame and Tennessee led with three representatives each.

FOUR SCHOOLS MADE THE ALL-AMERICA ROSTER for the first time. Gaining this distinction were John Shinnars of Xavier (O.), Bob Babich of Miami (O.), Ron Pritchard of Arizona State and Greene of North Texas.

They boosted the roster to 1098 players from 112 schools who have been first-team selections on one or more nationally recognized All-America teams since 1936. Leading Notre Dame increased its roster to 67 and Army boosted its runnerup total to 40. Ohio State and Michigan State moved up to a third-place tie with Oklahoma, each with 34.

Geographically, the All-America selectors in 1968 came up with their most democratic distribution of consensus honors of any year since the two-platoon alignment began.

EACH OF THE SIX SECTIONS was represented by at least two of the 23 players (Arkansas' Jim Barnes and Colorado's Mike Montler tied for an offensive guard position.)

The South (which dominated the previous year's team with nine representatives) and the Midwest (which hogged the 1965 and 1966 selections with eight spots each year) placed just five apiece this time. The Missouri Valley and Far West were awarded four berths each, the Southwest three and the East two.

Penn State's pair of A-A representatives marks the first time since 1963 that the East has contributed more than a single player to the consensus honor team.

THOSE OLD RIVALS, Southern California and Notre Dame, have been the most consistent All-America producers in recent years. The Trojans have landed someone on the A-A Roster the last seven years in a row. Notre Dame has been so represented six straight years (as have Nebraska and Tennessee), but only the Irish can boast of at least one consensus performer in each of the last five seasons.

Football—Yesterday, Today and Tomorrow

Football as we know it today would be unrecognizable to the sideliners who watched Princeton and Rutgers in the first intercollegiate game 100 years ago. Every aspect of the game has changed.

The field, the ball, the equipment of the players and even the number of downs are different. Platoons and specialists have become a part of the game's evolution in the years since the massive, brutal "flying wedge" was ruled out lest President Theodore Roosevelt decree the game a public health hazard.

Through a third of football's first century the forward pass, now a vital and dramatic element of offense, was no more than a notion in the minds of inventive individualists. But then, Princeton and Rutgers weren't able to use running plays, either. Even running with the ball was illegal at the outset.

For five years after the Princeton-Rutgers inaugural of 1869, efforts to formulate uniform rules governing football resulted in failure. Then, in 1874, the first steps toward uniformity were achieved.

Little by little, with American ideas and ingenuity embellishing rules that had originated with soccer, rugby and the forgotten "Boston game," the code that now governs college football emerged. It is the composite product of men of vision and dedication who, for most of the last 100 years, have striven to improve football's every phase.

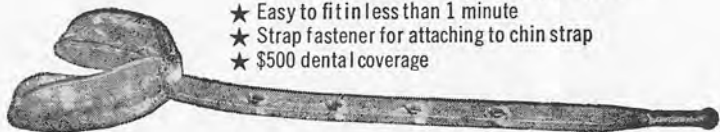

Today it is the game that typifies the spirit of combat, the fundamentals of sportsmanship and the lusty ideals of young American manhood. It is the acknowledged leader of all of America's collegiate sports.

Yet the quest for perfection continues. Even as today's rules are administered during the game's Centennial celebration, farsighted men are weighing other measures to improve the game. The evolution of football is not necessarily complete.

This first printing of the National Collegiate Athletic Association's Official Read-Easy Football Rules is a streamlined "translation" into player-spectator language of the NCAA Official Football Rules.

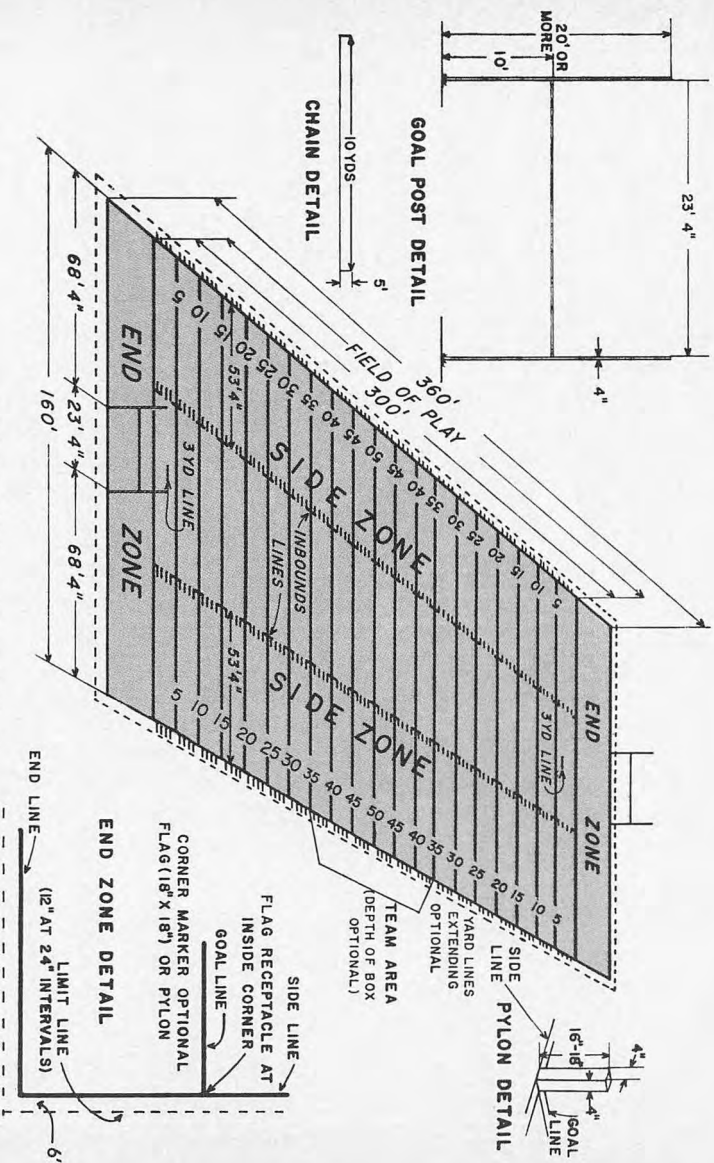

The latter, being meticulously compiled essentially for those who administer and officiate the game, of necessity is painstakingly detailed. And its purpose does not encompass defining the quasi-technical terms that have come into general usage among the millions who play, report or just enjoy the sport.

Insofar as is known, this is the first time such a "peoples' version" of the complete playing rules for any major sport has been published. It is based strictly on the 1969 Official Football Rules, but should anything in the Read-Easy Rules inadvertently be in conflict with the Official Rules, the latter takes precedence.

Of course, if you want to get down to the nitty gritty, you can obtain the NCAA Official Football Rules Book (75c) and its supplemental NCAA Official Football Rules Interpretations ($1) by request-with-remittance to the NCAA, 349 East Thomas Road, Phoenix, Ariz. 85012. Then all you'll need are a whistle and a striped shirt.

DIAGRAM OF FIELD

Rule One

GAME, FIELD, PLAYERS AND EQUIPMENT

SECTION 1—This is Football. Two teams of not more than eleven players each compete on a rectangular field with an inflated ball. A goal line at one end of the field is assigned to each team to defend. The object is to reach the opponents' goal, advancing the ball by running with it, passing it to a teammate or kicking it, and each team is given opportunities to do so. The rules provide points for scoring and, not surprisingly, the winner is the one with the larger score at the end of the game. There are no protests in college football.

SECTION 2—Supervision. Play is supervised by either four or five officials: a Referee, an Umpire, a Linesman and a Field Judge, plus an optional Back Judge. Only each team's designated Field Captain may speak for his team with the officials.

SECTION 3—Field Dimensions. The playing field measures 300 feet between the goal lines and 160 feet in width. All boundary markers are outside the playing field, since measurements of the area are taken from the inside of the boundary markers. Thus, a player who steps on the sideline is out of bounds, and the ball has only to be in possession on or above opponents' goal line to score.

A 10-yard area known as the end zone extends beyond each goal line. This area culminates with the end line, where the goal posts are located. The goal posts are 23 feet, 4 inches apart and are joined by a crossbar 10 feet above the ground.

SECTION 4—Field Markings. A football field's markings have caused it to be labelled by some a "gridiron." The most distinctive markings are stripes from sideline to sideline at 5-yard intervals. They are known as yard lines. Also, from end zone to end zone, 53 feet, 4 inches in from each sideline, short stripes (hash marks) termed "in-bounds lines" are placed one yard apart. They divide the field width into three equal zones, the two outside areas being termed "side zones." All plays must begin with the ball within the center one-third of the field width (which includes the hash marks).

SECTION 5—Yardage and Down Indicators. Field equipment includes a yardage chain 10 yards in length, affixed to the bottoms of two 5-foot rods, for indicating the point a team must reach in a series of downs. A down indicator also is provided, for displaying the next down number.

SECTION 6—The Ball. The shape and dimensions of a football are unique. It is described technically as a "prolate spheroid," a descriptive phrase that invites the question: "What's that?" Fortunately, just about everybody knows the shape of a football.

Oddly enough, a football just misses being a foot long. It measures from 11 inches to 11¼ inches in length and also falls just short of a pound in weight (14 to 15 ounces). And despite what you may have heard, a football is not made of pigskin, but pebble-grained leather (or, occasionally, rubber).

SECTION 7—Jersey Colors and Numbering. Opposing players are required to wear contrasting uniforms and, strangely, it is an inhospitable collegiate rule that the visitors must make any necessary change. Numbers are required both front and back.

Groups of numbers are recommended by offensive positions, as shown in the following diagram of a typical formation:

On a scrimmage play, at least five offensive players with numbers 50 through 79 must line up on the line of scrimmage.

SECTION 8—Protective Equipment. Each player must wear a head guard, commonly referred to as a helmet, and also knee pads. Other protective equipment is recommended, but not mandatory.

Rule Two

DEFINITIONS

SECTION 1—The Language of Football. Suppose a stranger to football visualized a Free Ball as one obtained without cost, or a Fair Catch as less than a great catch. He might even assume that Clipping has to do with the lawn hedge, or that Down is a command to an overly-friendly dog.

Perish the thought!

Football has a language of its own, and defining its terminology has been a challenging responsibility for generations of the Officials Rules Committee. A plunge into the myriad terminology of the game can be both interesting and enlightening.

SECTION 2—The Ball, Live, Dead, Free. In the course of a game, for example, the Ball itself may be referred to as a live ball, a dead ball, a free ball, a loose ball, an out-of-bounds ball, or maybe just a blankety-blank ball. In any case, it always is the game ball and, in play, it is "live" until it goes out of bounds, hits the ground on an incomplete pass, crosses the goal line on a kick, is declared dead by the Referee, etc., as detailed in Rule 4. It is a "live" ball also when it is fumbled across the goal line without being in possession of either team. When the ball is not "live" it is, obviously, considered dead.

A Free Ball is a live ball that is not in possession of either team. A ball is "in possession" when it is controlled by a player or while a forward pass (or backward pass on the center snap) is in flight and while a punt or field goal is being attempted.

SECTION 3—Other Official Terms. Those definitions merely start us on a long list. Some others:

BLOCKING—Legally hindering the progress of an opponent by contacting him with any part of the blocker's body.

CLIPPING—Running or diving into the back of an opponent, or throwing the body across the back of the leg or legs of an opponent other than the ball carrier.

CRAWLING—An attempt to advance the ball by a player after any part of his person except a hand or foot has touched the ground.

DOWN—A single play by the team in possession of the ball. It starts with a snap from center or a free kick and ends when the ball next becomes dead.

DROP KICK—A technique now rarely employed, in which a player drops the ball and kicks it as it touches the ground or as it rises from the ground.

FAIR CATCH—The opportunity for a player of the receiving team to catch a kicked ball that has crossed the scrimmage line, without being tackled or blocked by an opponent, after he first signals his intention by raising one hand clearly above his head.

FORWARD PASS—A live ball thrown toward the opponents' goal.

FOUL AND VIOLATION—A foul is a Rules infraction subject to a penalty. A violation incurs no yardage penalty.

FREE KICK—A kick made with each team restricted from advancing beyond a fixed restraining line until the ball is kicked.

FUMBLE—Inadvertent loss of the ball by a player who had it in his possession.

HUDDLE—Two or more offensive players grouped together after the ball is ready for play, usually for receiving instructions from the quarterback concerning the ensuing play.

KICKOFF—A free kick with which each half is opened, and which is employed also following each Try-for-point or Field Goal. A kickoff must be either a Placekick or a Dropkick.

LATERAL PASS—A live ball thrown toward or parallel with the passer's own goal line.

LINEMAN—A player who is on the line of scrimmage when the ball is snapped. Conversely, a Back is a player legally behind the line at the snap.

NEUTRAL ZONE—The space between the scrimmage lines of the offense and defense, approximating 11 inches (the length of the football).

PLACE KICK—The technique most often employed to kickoff and on field goal and try-for-point attempts. The ball, which may be held in position by any player of the kicking team, is kicked from a fixed position either on the ground or on a tee.

PUNT—A ball that is dropped from the hands of a player and kicked by him before it touches the ground.

SCRIMMAGE—A play which begins with a snap from the center.

SCRIMMAGE LINE—The yard line (marked or unmarked) that passes through point of the ball nearest a team's own goal line.

SHIFT—Change of positions simultaneously by two or more offensive players after play is ready to start and before the snap.

SNAP—A quick, continuous motion by which the ball is handed or snapped back with the ball leaving the hands of the snapper on the motion. The snap normally is made by the Center.

TACKLING—Grasping or encircling an opponent with hands or arms.

YARD LINE—Any line (marked or unmarked) in the field of play parallel to the end lines. "Own" yard line means between a team's own goal line and the 50-yard line (midfield).

SECTION 4—Unofficial Terms. Additional football terms in modern use which are not found in the Rules Book but have become common to the unofficial terminology of the game include:

ACTION PASS—Forward pass thrown from an offensive formation simulating a running play.

AUDIBLE—A vocal signal by the quarterback changing the play called in the huddle.

BALL CONTROL—An offensive technique of retaining possession of the ball by making a sustained series of first downs, rather than attempting long-gain plays.

BLITZ—Commitment by defensive backs and/or linebackers to rush the passer.

BOMB—A long pass attempt for a touchdown.

BUTTONHOOK—A pass pattern in which the receiver goes downfield and U-turns back sharply to receive the ball.

CHECK OFF—Same as Audible.

DIVE-TACKLE PLAY—A quick-handoff running play over tackle.

DRAW PLAY—Quarterback drops back as if to pass but instead hands ball to running back, after quarterback's teammates have assumed pass-blocking positions.

FLAG—Officials' penalty marker or field corner flag; also a pass pattern to the corner flag (opposite of post pass).

FLANKER—A back stationed wide right or left.

FRONT FOUR—Four-man defensive line—the tackles and ends.

HANDOFF—Quarterback hands ball to a back for a running play.

LINEBACKER—A defensive player operating immediately behind his line where he can either aid linemen in stopping a running play or cover an opponents' receiver if a pass develops.

LONG COUNT—Quarterback calls numerous numbers to slow action as much as is legally possible. Also called Slow Count.

LOOK-IN PASS—Receiver runs straight pattern and looks for the ball immediately over his inside shoulder.

MAN-TO-MAN DEFENSE—Plan of pass defense wherein defensive backs cover receivers wherever they go, rather than field areas.

MONSTER—A roving linebacker who may position himself on either side of his team's defensive formation.

ONSIDE KICK—A kickoff that travels 10 yards or more is anybody's ball. The so-called "onside kick" is an effort by the kicking team to kick the ball barely beyond 10 yards and recover it before the receiving team can do so.

POST—A pass pattern in which receiver goes downfield to predetermined depth then cuts at an angle toward the goalposts.

PREVENT DEFENSE—A strategem replacing linebackers with additional backfield pass defenders, sacrificing strength against short gainers in order to prevent a long pass completion. Most often employed by a team protecting a lead late in either half.

PULLING GUARD—Guard who pulls out behind scrimmage line for a trap block or to lead sweep blocking for ball carrier.

REVERSE PLAY—A running play with backfield action suggesting one direction while ball carrier goes in opposite direction.

ROLL-OUT PASS—Quarterback runs laterally with blockers before throwing, instead of dropping straight back to pass.

SCREEN PASS—Pass to a receiver behind a wall of blockers, who have permitted defenders to penetrate.

SLOT BACK—Back stationed in slot between interior linemen and end. Must be one yard behind the line of scrimmage.

SPLIT END—A lineman who, like the flanker back, is set wide for pass-receiving purposes. Also called a Wide End.

STRONG SIDE—Overbalance of offensive or defensive linemen to either side of the Center.

STUNTING—Defensive players changing positions as the ball is snapped, to confuse offensive strategy.

SWEEP—End run with wave of blockers leading the ball carrier.

TIGHT END—Offensive end who lines up in close formation (as opposed to Split End's wide set) where he can either block for a ball carrier or be employed as a pass receiver.

TRAP BLOCK—A ploy permitting a defender to penetrate quickly, only to be blocked from the side by pulling guard or tackle.

VICTORY DEFENSE—Same as Prevent Defense.

ZONE DEFENSE—Plan of pass defense wherein areas are covered rather than individual receivers. Opposite of Man-To-Man.

Rule Three

PERIODS, TIME FACTORS AND SUBSTITUTIONS

SECTION 1—Start of Game and Second Half. Some old fashioned boy who has been listening to his grandpa may go out on a football field some day and start a game with a Dropkick. What then? Why, that's okay. It's just about been forgotten, that's all. There must be a kickoff at the start of each half and the Dropkick is just as legal as the Placekick in getting the action started.

There is one important preliminary, however. About three minutes before the scheduled starting time the Referee calls the two Field Captains together and flips a coin, after designating which captain shall call heads or tails. The winner of the coin toss has the choice of kicking off or receiving or he may choose the goal his team will defend. He has only one of these options and his choice, once made, may not be changed. The loser of the toss has the choice of the same options at the start of the second half.

SECTION 2—Start of Second and Fourth Quarters. During the brief intermission between the first and second periods and between the third and fourth periods the teams change goals. The ball is relocated in the opposite half of the field at the spot corresponding exactly to where it was before the change of goals. Possession of the ball, the down and distance to be gained remain unchanged.

SECTION 3—Playing Time and Intermissions. The total actual playing time in a collegiate game is 60 minutes, divided into four periods of 15 minutes each and with one-minute intermissions between the first and second quarters and the third and fourth quarters. (High Schools and Prep Schools play 12-minute quarters.) The halftime intermission is 15 minutes, but it may be lengthened or shortened by mutual agreement. The playing time of a game also may be shortened by agreement of the two Field Captains, or by the Referee, if in his opinion darkness may interfere.

SECTION 4—Extension of Periods. No period ends when the ball is in play, even though time expires during the play. If the time runs out during a play on which a touchdown is scored, the Try-for-point is completed. The period also is extended to permit completion of a play free of penalty, if a defensive team fouls on a play during which time expires. No such extension of the period applies when the team in possession fouls or when both teams foul on the play.

SECTION 5—The Game Clock. This item can be more vital to the outcome of a football game than a timer is to a soft-boiled egg. It may be a stopwatch operated by the Field Judge or Back Judge, or it may be an electrically powered field clock operated by an assistant.

The clock first starts when a Kickoff is legally caught or touched. Thus, if a Kickoff goes out of bounds the clock is not started, since the ball was not legally touched or caught.

On scrimmage downs, the clock is started when the ball is snapped or on prior signal by the Referee.

The clock is stopped (a) when the Referee declares time out; (b) when a Touchdown, Field Goal, Safety or Touchback is made; (c) when a Penalty is called; (d) when a Forward Pass falls incomplete; (e) when a Fair Catch is made or when the ball is illegally touched; (f) when a live ball goes out of bounds; (g) when a first down is declared for either team; and (h) when a period ends.

The clock does not run during a Try-for Point.

SECTION 6—Time Outs. Each team is permitted four free time outs in each half, except that a team may not request two of its time outs consecutively. Free time outs may not exceed one and one-half minutes.

During a free time out, one player at a time may go to the sidelines to confer with the coaches.

The Referee has the authority to call time out for a contingency such as the repair of damaged equipment which might become dangerous, or quieting the crowd when a team can not hear its signals. He also orders time out during measurement for a first down.

The clock is stopped for each time out.

After its fourth time out in each half, a team may be allowed a subsequent time out only for the replacement of an injured player and such an excess time out is no longer than the Referee deems necessary for the purpose.

SECTION 7—Delays. If a team is not ready for play at the scheduled time for the beginning of each half, it is penalized 15 yards. Failure to promptly remove an injured player is interpreted as delaying the game and is subject to a 5-yard penalty.

But the most common form of delay is action or inaction representing "stalling" tactics by a team attempting to consume time, usually near the end of either half of the game. A 5-yard penalty is invoked whenever the offensive team fails to put the ball in play within 25 seconds after it has been declared ready for play by the Referee. Also, when the Referee believes a team is trying to consume (or conserve) time by unfair tactics, he may order the clock started (or stopped).

SECTION 8—Substitutions. The controversial "free substitution" rule in college football is not quite literally that, because no more than two substitutes may enter the game except at specified times. However, present rules are so generous in this respect as to approximate "free" substitution.

The occasions on which any number of substitutes may enter the game include: (a) between periods; (b) after a score or try-for-point; (c) when the ball changes hands after a series of downs or (d) when, following a kick, the kicking team is awarded a first down.

Substitutions may not be made while the ball is in play and a substitute who enters the game may not be withdrawn until one down has intervened, a foul occurs or the period ends.

Even more liberalized or restrictive substitution rules may be adopted in Prep School and High School games.

Rule Four

BALL IN PLAY, DEAD BALL, OUT OF BOUNDS

SECTION 1—Ball “Alive” When in Play. The proverbial cat with nine lives was a piker compared to the ball used in a football game. It may be “live” one minute and “dead” the next and then, without fanfare, it becomes live again, dead again time and time again in the course of a game. And if the sweet young thing with the pom-pom asks if a live ball might race away under its own power, you’ll just have to set her straight. Football, remember, has its own language.

After a dead ball has been declared ready for play by the Referee, it becomes a live ball when it is snapped or free kicked. A ball loses its “life” and becomes “dead” in many ways, including when an official blows his whistle accidentally.

SECTION 2—When Ball is Declared Dead. Generally speaking, the ball is “blown dead” by an official, signifying the end of a play:

- a. When it goes out of bounds or touches the goal line of the ball carrier’s opponents, or when a ball carrier is so held that his forward progress is stopped;
- b. When any part of the ball carrier’s body, other than his hand or foot, touches the ground (except it remains alive when held for a placekick, even though the ball holder’s knee is on the ground);
- c. When a touchdown, field goal, safety, touchback or try-for point has been made, or when a fair catch has been made;
- d. When the defensive team gains possession of the ball on a try-for point, or when the try fails to score;
- e. When the kicking team recovers a kick that has crossed the neutral zone;

- f. When a kick comes to rest on the ground and no player attempts to recover it;
- g. When a forward pass strikes the ground, or is caught simultaneously by opposing players;
- h. When a backward pass or fumble is recovered by an opponent after the ball has hit the ground.

SECTION 3—The 25-Seconds Rule. The ball, once dead, may not be put back in play until the Referee declares it ready for play. It then must be put in play within 25 seconds.

SECTION 4—Out of Bounds. A play is out of bounds when a player—or the ball in his possession—touches a boundary line or anything on or beyond it except an official or another player. A free ball (except a scoring kick) or a forward pass is out of bounds when it touches the ground or anything else on or outside a boundary line.

The point where the ball crossed the sideline determines where it went out of bounds. If a player with the ball in his possession is tackled with part of his person out of bounds but the ball remains within the playing field, the ball is ruled out of bounds at the farthest point of its advance.

Rule Five

SERIES OF DOWNS, LINE TO GAIN

Considering its importance, the word “down” in football is surprisingly subliminal. Thus, it is as important to recognize it when unmentioned—say in “third and three,” meaning third down and three yards to go—as to understand the word in the first place.

SECTION 1—When Series is Awarded. A down always is one of a set of four, called a “series of downs,” because when a team comes into possession of the football (usually by receiving a kick, intercepting a pass or recovering a fumble), it promptly inherits four chances (downs) to renew the mortgage by gaining ten yards or more.

This, of course, is the significance of the familiar “first and ten,” which is simply football shorthand for first down and ten yards to go. The 10-yard distance to be gained is measured from the ball’s most forward point and that target (officially termed but seldom called “the line to gain”) is kept in view along the sideline by a yardage chain.

Associated with the chain is a down indicator. It is an ancient and revered device now primarily for the information of nearby officials and players, since scoreboards generally serve this purpose better for everyone else in the stadium.

SECTION 2—When Series is Renewed. Whenever the team with the ball legally advances to or beyond its “line to gain,” whether in one play or four, it is awarded a new series of four downs, with a new 10-yards-away “line to gain.” This is what is universally (although unofficially) called “making a first down,” as distinguished from the first down inherited when the football changes hands.

SECTION 3—When Series is Broken. If, however, a team uses its entire series of four downs and fails to gain ten yards, it forfeits the ball to the other team at the point where the fourth-down play ends. The most practiced strategem for solving this problem is a fourth-down kick, in order to relinquish the ball as far as possible downfield.

SECTION 4—First and Goal. One of the most conspicuous omissions of the word “down” is in the situation usually called “first and goal.” It means a team has made (or inherited) a brand new series of downs less than 10 yards from its opponents’ goal line, hence first down and goal (instead of 10 yards) to go.

SECTION 5—Penalty Interruption of Series. The Official Rules cover in detail various tricky situations a Referee must unravel when a penalty intrudes on a series of downs. Unless you plan to don a striped shirt, all you will be interested in knowing are these basic facts:

- a. A penalty moving the ball to or beyond the “line to gain” earns a first down the same as a run or pass play.
- b. Most yardage penalties simply cancel the play during which foul occurred and that down is repeated from the new spot (unless a first down was earned by the penalty yardage).
- c. It’s also a “do over” when both teams commit fouls during a single play (called offsetting fouls), except there is an option when the ball changes possession in such a situation (Rule 10, Section 2).
- d. However, if a penalty is declined by the team against which the foul was committed, it is the penalty that is canceled and the play and down count as if the foul had never occurred.

Rule Six

KICKS

EDITOR'S NOTE—From the sketchy history of the origin of football, we know only that the kick was the very foundation of the early-day game. Without it, the ball could not have been moved, since there were no provisions for carrying the ball.

Research by Herbert O. (Fritz) Crisler of the University of Michigan, permanent member of the Football Rules Committee, has brought to light the first running play of record. It was illegal, and more than fifty years passed before the American version of that run was introduced into football.

The incident took place in 1823 at Rugby School in England under "Association" football rules and William Webb Ellis, the original forgotten man of football, made the run. Near the close of the engagement, "he caught the ball and instead of kicking it back as required by the rules, ran through the astonished opposition across the goal line."

Today, on an ivy-covered wall at Rugby, a tablet marks his place in football history:

THIS STONE COMMEMORATES THE EXPLOIT OF WILLIAM WEBB ELLIS WHO WITH FINE DISREGARD FOR THE RULES OF FOOTBALL FIRST TOOK THE BALL IN HIS ARMS AND RAN WITH IT THUS ORIGINATING THE DISTINCTIVE FEATURE OF THE RUGBY GAME . . . A.D. 1823.

Thus, apparently, were sown the seeds of our running game which now, with the pass, shares emphasis with the kick. But the booted ball, the subject matter of Rule 6, never has ceased to be a basic part of football.

SECTION 1—Free Kicks [Kickoffs]. The most familiar Free Kick—requiring both teams to remain behind their respective restraining lines until the ball is kicked—is the kickoff (see Definitions, Rule 2, Section 3). For the kicking team, the restraining line is its own 40-yard line (unless relocated by penalty) and the receiving team's restraining line is ten yards beyond (usually the 50-yard line).

Much rarer is the Free Kick after a safety is scored, when the restraining line for the kicking team is its 20-yard line, with the receiving team's restraining line at the 30-yard line.

The ball is placed on the kicking team's restraining line and all of its players except the kicker and the holder of the ball on a place-kick must stay behind the ball until it is kicked. This exception legalizes the "soccer-type" kickoff.

The receiving team not only must keep all its players behind its restraining line, but also must have at least five of them within five yards of that line. This might be termed the "anti-flying-wedge" rule, because it is what prevents the receiving team from forming a solid mass of blockers around its receiver.

SECTION 2—Free Kick Recovery. No player of the kicking team may touch a free kick before it either reaches the opponents' restraining line (i.e., travels at least ten yards) or is touched by a player of the receiving team. Thus, when a trailing team attempts an "onside" kickoff (usually in a game's waning moments), the trick is to kick the ball a minimum distance over ten yards and try to recover it before the opposition does. If the ball is touched before it has traveled ten yards, the kicking team is "offside" and the opponents are awarded possession at that spot.

A player of the receiving team may run with a free kick (unless a fair catch was signalled), but a player of the kicking team cannot advance a recovered free kick.

If a ball rolls dead on a free kick, i.e., no one attempts to take possession, it belongs to the receiving team. But if a kickoff into the end zone is not downed by the receiving team, the kicking team scores a touchdown simply by recovering the ball. This error of omission by a receiving team turns up more often than you might think.

SECTION 3—Kickoff Out of Bounds. When a kickoff (or any free kick) goes out of bounds untouched, the receiving team may either (a) take possession where it went out of bounds or (b) require the kicking team to accept a 5-yard penalty and kick again (this time from its own 35-yard line, if kickoff was from the 40).

SECTION 4—Scrimmage Kicks [Punts, etc.]. Scrimmage kicks—whether punts, placekicks or dropkicks—have no restraining line for either team except the line of scrimmage. Either a punt or a placekicked field goal attempt is the common fourth down strategy of an offensive team that has failed to make the necessary ten yards in three of its series of four downs.

If a scrimmage kick (except the try-for-point) fails to cross the scrimmage line, whether blocked by an opponent or for other reason, any player may recover and advance the ball. But once the ball has crossed the scrimmage line, no player of the kicking team may recover the ball before it touches an opponent. If the kicking team touches the ball first, possession is awarded to the receiving team at the spot, and the ball becomes dead.

As with free kicks, the receiving team may advance a recovered scrimmage kick (unless a fair catch was signalled), but not so the kicking team. A scrimmage kick that goes out of bounds belongs to the receiving team at that point.

SECTION 5—Opportunity to Catch a Kick. A player of the receiving team who is in position to catch a kick may not be interfered with by the kicking team while the ball is in flight. This protection terminates, however, the moment he or a teammate touches the ball.

SECTION 6—Fair Catch. A fair catch signal—arm extended clearly over head—gives a player the right to make an unmolested attempt to catch the ball without fear of being blocked or tackled after the catch. As his part of the bargain, the kick catcher's fair-catch signal "promises" he will not attempt to run with the ball.

When a fair catch is made, the ball is dead at the spot of the catch and the receiver incurs a 5-yard penalty if he takes more than two steps after the catch. If a player of the kicking team tackles or blocks an opponent who has made a fair catch, he incurs a 15-yard penalty.

A player who signals for a fair catch is not obligated to attempt the catch, but if he does not, he must not block an opponent on the play (enforced by a 15-yard penalty).

Rule Seven

SNAPPING AND PASSING THE BALL

SECTION 1—The Scrimmage. Football's "main course" is the scrimmage. It finds the teams facing each other across a neutral zone approximately 11 inches wide, with offensive strategy striving to mask—and the defense trying to anticipate—the run, pass or kick that may develop with the snap of the ball.

The play must start with the ball between the in-bounds lines, i.e., within the center one-third of the field width. So when a play terminates in a side zone, the Referee moves the ball to the hash marks (in-bounds lines) for the ensuing scrimmage play.

The Snapper (usually the center) may not move the ball after assuming his position for the snap. Nor may any of his teammates make a false start, i.e., any movement feigning the beginning of the play; and no player of the defensive team may touch the ball or an opponent, until the ball is snapped.

The ancient sideline "hideout" by a potential pass receiver is curbed by a modern ruling that no simulated player substitution shall be used to confuse opponents; also by a requirement that each entering substitute must have been within 15 yards of the ball before the snap.

SECTION 2—Scrimmage Formation. When the ball is snapped, the offensive team must have at least seven men on the scrimmage line, five of whom must wear numbers from 50 through 79 (identifying them as ineligible to receive a forward pass).

Offensive players not on the scrimmage line must be at least one yard behind it, except for one man (usually the quarterback) in position to receive the ball from center. It is permissible, however, for the center to snap the ball to another back.

One offensive player may be in motion immediately before the snap, but the "man in motion" must run laterally or toward his own goal, not toward his opponents.

SECTION 3—Shift Plays. If the snap is preceded by a huddle or a shift (simultaneous movement of two or more players), all offensive players must come to an absolute stop and remain stationary for one full second before the ball is snapped.

An offensive player who is behind the scrimmage line may hand the ball forward to a teammate who also is behind the line.

SECTION 4—Backward Pass and Fumble. A ball carrier may hand or pass the ball backward at any time and a backward pass or fumble may be caught or recovered by any player. If caught in flight, the ball continues in play, but if recovered after the ball hits the ground, only the offensive team may advance it.

A backward pass or fumble that goes out of bounds belongs to the team last in possession at the out-of-bounds spot.

SECTION 5—The Forward Pass. The offensive team may make one forward pass during each scrimmage down, but it must be thrown before the passer advances beyond the neutral zone. The defensive team may not throw a forward pass, nor may the offensive team intentionally ground a pass in an effort to avoid the risk of interception or to conserve time.

SECTION 6—Eligibility to Catch Pass. All defensive players are eligible to catch (intercept) a forward pass, but only six offensive players (including the passer) may do so. They are those wearing numbers other than 50 through 79, normally the two ends and four backs. However, when a defensive player touches a forward pass, all players become eligible.

Ineligible pass receivers (including numbers 50 through 79) may not advance beyond the neutral zone until the pass is thrown.

SECTION 7—Completed Pass. A forward pass is completed when the ball is caught by an eligible offensive player, and the ball continues in play. It also is completed when caught simultaneously by opposing players but, although the passing team is awarded the ball, it may not advance it.

SECTION 8—Incompleted Pass. A forward pass is incomplete when it strikes the ground or goes out of bounds. It also is incomplete if a receiver jumps to catch the pass and comes down with a foot on or outside a boundary line (side line or end line). On an incomplete pass, possession remains with the passing team at the previous scrimmage spot.

SECTION 9—Pass Interference. Contact by an opponent which interferes with an eligible receiver (defensive players included) beyond the neutral zone, is pass interference. However, players are not guilty of interference when making a simultaneous and bona fide effort to reach the ball.

Pass interference by a defensive player gives the offensive team the ball and a first down at the spot of the foul (on the 1-yard line, if foul is in end zone). Offensive interference costs a down and 15 yards, if foul occurs in the field of play. If it occurs in the defensive team's end zone, it may be ruled a touch-back, thus loss of possession by the passing team.

Rule Eight

SCORING

SECTION 1—Value of Scores. For what is indubitably the most complex game combining brawn and brain ever devised, football's scoring values are remarkably simple. They are:

Touchdown	6 Points
Field Goal	3 Points
Safety (points awarded to opponents)	2 Points
Successful Try-for-Point(s) { by run or pass	2 Points
by kick	1 Point

That's all, except that a forfeited game (the rarest of occurrences in the case of football) is scored as 1-0 against the forfeiting team. A 1-0 score is possible in no other football situation.

SECTION 2—Touchdown. A touchdown, carrying a value of six points, is scored when a player is in legal possession of the ball when it—NOT the player—is on, above or beyond the opponents' goal line. If the ball carrier is thrown or falls on his opponents' 1-yard line and slides across the goal line, it is NOT a touchdown unless the ball's forward point was on or above the goal line at the moment his body hit the ground.

SECTION 3—Try-for-Point(s) After Touchdown. The Try-for-Point(s), also known as the conversion, is a “bonus” opportunity granted a team that has just scored a touchdown to add to its total by one or two points, while time is out. The attempt is a scrimmage play from the opponents’ 3-yard line. A placekick or dropkick clearing the crossbar between the opponents’ goal posts earns one extra point. Two points are added by a legally completed forward pass or a running play that advances to or beyond the opponents' goal line.

Following the Try-for-Point(s), play is resumed by a kickoff, with the option of kicking or receiving being exercised by the Field Captain of the team against which the touchdown was scored.

SECTION 4—Field Goal. The three points awarded for a successful field goal are earned by a placekick or a dropkick that clears the crossbar between the opponents' goal posts before it strikes the ground or a player of the kicking team. It is a scrimmage play and a field goal may not be scored on a kickoff.

A ball that clears the crossbar between the uprights, but is blown back over the crossbar, does not score a field goal.

As following a Try-for-Point(s), the Field Captain of the team scored against designates which team is to kickoff following a scoring field goal.

SECTION 5—Safety and Touchback. When the ball becomes dead in an end zone, whether out of bounds or in the possession of a defending player, it is ruled either a touchback (which scores no points) or a safety (two points). The determining factor is the impetus that sent the ball into the end zone.

If a team attacking a goal is responsible, it is a touchback and the defending team takes over the ball on its 20-yard line.

But if the ball becomes dead in an end zone as result of a kick, pass, snap, fumble or run (accidental or intentional) with the ball in possession of the team defending that goal, it is a safety, which scores two points for its opponents.

Following a safety, the defending team (having just yielded two points), must put the ball into play from its own 20-yard line by a free kick, which may be a punt, dropkick or placekick.

Rule Nine

CONDUCT OF PLAYERS AND OTHERS

SECTION 1—Controlled Violence. The rugged game of football, involving the crashing together of 200-pound bodies often traveling at considerable speed, obviously is no sport for those who bruise easily. However, the nature of the game's physical violence is more strictly controlled by the Official Rules than most spectators realize. Unnecessary roughness, unfair tactics and unsportsmanlike conduct are severely penalized and specified protections are provided for situations in which players are unable to protect themselves adequately. All persons affiliated with the teams are subject to the rules, even when not actually involved in the contest.

SECTION 2—Personal Fouls. A loss of 15 yards, plus disqualification of the offender in flagrant situations, is the penalty for these acts of unnecessary roughness identified as personal fouls:

- a. Kicking, kneeling or striking an opponent with a fist, extended forearm, elbow or locked hands.
- b. Striking an opponent's head, neck or face with the heel, back or side of the open hand.
- c. Tripping or clipping an opponent (except that clipping is not a foul within a specified, immediate area of the scrimmage line).
- d. Piling on, falling on or throwing the body on an opponent after the ball becomes dead.
- e. Tackling a ball carrier when he is clearly out of bounds or throwing a ball carrier to the ground after the ball becomes dead.
- f. Running into an opponent obviously out of the play.
- g. Hurdling.
- h. Grasping the face mask of an opponent.
- i. Using the helmet or head to maliciously butt an opponent.

SECTION 3—Roughing Kicker or Placekick Holder. The same stiff penalty protects the punter and kick holder from rough treatment as they concentrate on their demanding assignments. However, contact with the kicker is forgiven when a punt or place kick is blocked, since this is attacking the ball rather than the man.

SECTION 4—Interference Fouls. Other applications of the 15-yards, possible-disqualification penalty are for fouls that interfere with orderly game progress and administration:

- a. Interference with the ball or a player by a substitute or any personnel on the field illegally. (When a reasonably assured touchdown play is thus interfered with, the touchdown is awarded.)
- b. Use of abusive or insulting language to officials or players.
- c. Use of words or signals by the defense to disconcert opponents preparing to put the ball in play.
- d. Concealing the ball beneath clothing or substituting anything for the ball.
- e. Failure of a player to return the ball to an official immediately after a score (new for 1969, so there will be fewer footballs thrown or kicked into the stands after touchdowns).

SECTION 5—Blocking Yes, Holding No. One of the more frequently assessed penalties is the loss of 15 yards for "holding." This is because of the fine line between illegal holding and legal blocking. The latter is using the body to remove an opponent from the path of the play. It becomes holding when an offensive blocker uses a hand or forearm, unless the hand is kept in contact with the blocker's body and below the opponent's shoulder. It also is holding when an offensive player uses his arms to hook, lock, clamp, encircle or lift an opponent. The same restrictions apply to a defensive player only when he is not attempting to get to the ball or ball carrier. Blocking must be an individual effort, i.e., teammates may not grasp one another for interlocked blocking.

SECTION 6—Batting and Kicking. Unlike baseball, batting generally is frowned on in football. In this game, it means striking the ball with the hand or forearm, which is legal only while a forward pass or scrimmage kick is in flight. And even though the game is football, it is illegal to deliberately kick a free ball, forward pass or a ball being held for a placekick by an opponent.

Rule Ten

PENALTY ENFORCEMENT

SECTION 1—Referee is Enforcement Officer. While all football officials are responsible for enforcing the rules, the Referee's role is the dominant one. Figuratively, he is the presiding judge and chief law enforcement officer. He has general supervision of the game and his decisions on matters not specifically assigned to other officials are final.

He enforces penalties but, except in routine situations, only after he has explained the penalty options or alternatives to the Field Captain of the offended team. A penalty is only completed when it has been accepted, declined or canceled because of offsetting fouls.

SECTION 2—Field Captain Accepts or Declines. The role of the Field Captain is unique in football, the one game in which the automatic assessment of a penalty against the opponents would be to the disadvantage of the offended team that has achieved its objective despite the foul.

A striking example is when a team has completed a touchdown play on which the defenders fouled. In such a situation, the Field Captain's choice is simplicity itself. He declines the penalty, since its assessment would erase the successful play. A more difficult decision would be whether to accept a 5-yard penalty against the opposition (without expending a down) or to decline and retain a 7-yard gain on the play (at cost of a down).

Any penalty may be accepted or declined by the offended team's Field Captain, but a disqualified player must leave the game in any case. If opponents are charged with two or more fouls on the same play, the Referee explains the alternative penalties to the Field Captain, who may then elect only one of them.

Usually no option exists when fouls are committed by both teams on the same play. Such offsetting fouls cancel each other and the down is replayed automatically. However, if the ball changes possession during such a play, the team last gaining possession may decline the offsetting fouls and retain possession, after the penalty for its own transgression is assessed.

SECTION 3—Enforcement Procedures. A Referee's lot is not an easy one, as attested by the complex enforcement procedures spelled out by this section of the Official Football Rules. For the rest of us, fortunately, awareness of these basic principles should be sufficient:

- a. No distance penalty may be more than half the distance to the goal, thus assuring that a score cannot be achieved by a penalty. For example, what would normally be a 15-yard penalty is assessed as only five yards when the enforcement spot is the offending team's 10-yard line, or only a half yard if enforced from the 1-yard line.
- b. If the defensive team fouls during a successful try-for-point(s), the offensive team's Field Captain may either (1) accept the point(s) scored, with the distance of penalty assessed against opponents immediately prior to the ensuing kickoff; or (2) choose to replay the try-for-point(s). The latter option might be exercised if the scoring team should decide to try for two points (from the 1½-yard line) instead of the one point it had made (from the 3-yard line).

SECTION 4—Summary of Penalties. The Official Football Rules book lists a total of 83 penalties (with some cross indexing), among which the most often encountered probably are:

LOSS OF 5 YARDS—Offside, illegal procedure, illegal motion, illegal shift, substitution infraction, delay of game and (incurring also loss of a down) intentionally grounded or illegal forward pass.

LOSS OF 15 YARDS—Personal foul, clipping, roughing the kicker or holder, unsportsmanlike conduct (chiefly non-contact fouls), illegal use of hands and arms, ineligible receiver downfield and (incurring also loss of a down) forward pass illegally touched and offensive forward pass interference (the penalty for defensive forward pass interference awards the ball to the offended team at the spot of the foul).
